ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The compilation of a national directory of programs serving battered women and their children is an extremely difficult undertaking due to the new programs that open each year, to the number of programs that close due to a lack of adequate funding, and to others that change their location or phone number. We have done our best to compile the most up-to-date information available. The data contained in this directory is based upon information received by the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence (NCADV) through September 30, 1986.

We wish to thank all the domestic violence State Coalitions, NCADV Steering Committee Representatives, state criminal justice agencies, and others who helped us to identify and contact domestic violence programs and services across the United States for inclusion in this directory. We conducted three mailings to over 900 identified domestic violence shelters, safe homes, and other services in our attempt to reach every known program. We thank the over 1,200 programs who actually responded to our survey so that they might be included in this directory.

Lois Haight Herrington, Assistant Attorney General, Office for Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice, deserves special recognition for her generous support of the NCADV Domestic Violence Prevention Project that made this directory possible. We also thank William Modzeleski and John Veen of the Office for Victims of Crime for their on-going guidance and encouragement throughout the Project year.

We also express our appreciation to Bob Clasen of Computer Solutions who provided a great deal of computer technical assistance in helping us design the directory format and in solving technical problems.

We extend a special thanks to the NCADV Domestic Violence Prevention Project staff who worked so diligently on the National Directory project: Cynthia Diehm, Project Director, who oversaw the development of the directory; Laurie McLaughlin, Project Assistant, who tabulated the surveys and did the layout and paste-up work; Peggy Sissel, former Public Education Coordinator, who contacted numerous programs to encourage them to submit information; and Vickie Pender, Project Secretary, and Jadie Moore, Summer Intern/Volunteer, who provided clerical support.

Finally, special credit must go to Janice Moore, Information and Referral Coordinator, whose tireless efforts in identifying resources, designing, and producing the National Directory will assist advocates and service providers in locating needed resources for victims and survivors of domestic violence across the country.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USING THE DIRECTORY

In designing this directory, we have attempted to organize it an easy to use format. Programs are arranged alphabetically by city within each State or territory (Washington, D.C., Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands are also included).

The information listed for each program was extracted from the directory survey forms submitted by each program; therefore, the information shown for each program is as current as the information provided to NCADV. This National Directory is designed for referral purposes only, and NCADV cannot be responsible for claims of services made by the programs listed nor for the quality of services provided.

Programs which were unable to respond to our requests for information do not appear in this directory. If you cannot find a program or service for a particular city, we suggest contacting the State Coalition office listed in the back of this directory. The State Coalition office can help you locate the domestic violence program closest to that city.

An "Update/Change of Information" tear-out form is also included in the rear of this directory for programs to send updates of address or telephone changes, changes in services provided, information on new domestic violence programs, or corrections to the information contained in this directory.

A flaw in the format of our survey form resulted in the lack of complete information on safe home programs. Although we have basic contact information on these programs, under many program descriptions you will not find information on their safe home capacity, handicapped accessibility, maximum stay, fees, languages spoken, or number of staff and volunteers. Some programs completed this information anyway, and we thank them for ignoring our error. Our sincere apologies to those for whom this information is missing.

The directory's "Profile of Services" includes 15 major categories. If a program directly provides a particular service, it is indicated by an "X" in the corresponding column. If the program provides only referrals for that service, it is indicated by an "R" for referrals. Standard abbreviations used are explained at the bottom of each directory page.

An explanation of the terms used in our "Profile of Services" follows:

SHELTER - Refers to a residential facility for battered women and their children.

SAFE HOMES - Refers to a program's use of private individuals' homes, motels, or other housing resources in sheltering battered women and their children, usually for short-term stays of 1-7 days.

24-HOUR HOTLINE - Telephone crisis services or contact number for emergency shelter available 24 hours a day (some programs work in conjunction with other programs or use telephone referral or answering services). Some programs have toll-free "800" numbers, which are usually accessible only to those calling from within the state where the program is located.

COUNSELING/ADVOCACY - Refers to counseling and/or advocacy services provided to battered women either on a resident or non-resident basis. Many programs also offer support groups.

CHILDREN'S COUNSELING/PROGRAMS - Refers to one or more of the various types of services provided for the children of battered women -- ranging from counseling, to advocacy, to recreational activities, to a structured children's program.

MAXIMUM LENGTH OF STAY - The maximum amount of time a family may be sheltered at a facility. Maximum length of stay varied for many programs, with many indicating that there was flexibility in the length of stay and that extensions could be granted based on an assessment of an individual's need.

FEES FOR SERVICES - Fees charged for shelter services varied greatly, from 50¢ per day to $35 per day. Some programs had barter systems and others obtained fees through public assistance agencies. The large majority of programs indicated that their fees were negotiable or were on a sliding scale based upon a woman's ability to pay. Almost all programs indicated that women and children are not turned away for lack of ability to pay established or suggested fees.

SHELTER CAPACITY - Refers to the maximum number of women and children for which a program can provide safe housing (at any given time) through the use of a shelter facility or safe homes.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH - Refers to community outreach or community education for the general public or to specific groups such as the police, hospitals, schools, etc., or to special groups of women, such as rural, differently abled, etc.

JOB COUNSELING/TRAINING - Refers to job readiness or job skills training.

LEGAL SERVICES/ADVOCACY - Refers to legal assistance provided to battered women, such as assistance in obtaining restraining orders, court accompaniment, legal clinics, advocacy, etc.

COUNSELING FOR BATTERERS - Refers to counseling programs or services available to batterers.

NO. PAID STAFF and NO. OF VOLUNTEER STAFF (unpaid staff) - Figures reflect the total number of full and part time staff. Because of space restrictions and computer format, in cases where the number of staff was indicated by a fractional number of "1/4" or less, that number was rounded down to the next smaller number. In instances where the only staff position was 1/4 time, it is shown as "1" paid staff person. Figures of "1/2" or more were rounded up to the next highest number.

WHEELCHAIR ACCESSIBLE - In cases where the accessibility by wheelchairs was limited, an additional explanation, as provided by the program, has been noted in the "Other" column. For instance, some programs indicated that only some portions of their buildings were wheelchair accessible.

OTHER SERVICES - Other major services or activities, as indicated on the program's survey form, are noted in this column. Accessibility of services to the hearing impaired are also described in this column, or are indicated by the abbreviations "TTY", "TDY", or "TDD". Languages spoken, other than English, are also listed in this column.

As you will note in the Table of Contents, this National Directory also contains a list of State Domestic Violence Coalitions, National Information and Resource Centers related to domestic violence, and a (partial) list of batterer's programs.

We hope you find this National Directory useful in your efforts to network with other domestic violence programs. We welcome any suggestions on how we might improve our next National Directory to better meet your needs.

Additional copies of this directory are available at $2.50 each to cover postage and handling. To order additional copies, please write to:
