A Message from the Governor

It's a pleasure for me to present "South Carolina Criminal Justice Data, 1987-1988". This booklet will provide citizens and law enforcement professionals with a basic understanding of the extent of crime in our state and how our criminal justice system responds to it.

Crime and the misery it causes to its victims constitute the greatest social menace facing South Carolina today. The information in this booklet is vital to our understanding of the headway we are making in the war on crime. Through our analysis of the motivation for crime and the efforts of law enforcement, the courts and our corrections system, we will be able to more effectively deploy the resources and manpower of our state.

Our law enforcement professionals represent the frontline of defense in this war against crime. I hope this booklet will provide new insights and an indication of support for those who have dedicated their lives to our safety and the enforcement of the law.

Sincerely,

INTRODUCTION

This booklet is designed to provide basic, non-technical data about crime in South Carolina as it impacts upon the various segments of the criminal justice system: law enforcement, the courts, corrections, probation and parole.

Furthermore, this publication provides simple, "bottom-line" statistical information about crime rates, arrests, convictions, prison inmates, probationers and parolees. It addresses issues frequently raised about crime and challenges many misconceptions about the state's criminal justice system.

The information in this booklet is based on data for calendar and fiscal years 1987 and 1988, unless specifically noted otherwise. Copies of this report or information regarding this publication can be obtained by writing or calling:

SECTION I OFFENSES

CRIME INDEX: The Crime Index is used as a basic measure of crime. The crimes were selected for use as an index on the basis of their serious nature, their frequency of occurrence, and the reliability of reporting from citizens to law enforcement agencies. The offenses of murder, rape, robbery, and aggravated assault are categorized as violent crimes; offenses of breaking or entering, larceny, and motor vehicle theft are categorized as nonviolent crimes. The Crime Index is the total of these offenses that come to the attention of law enforcement agencies.

CRIME RATE: The Crime Rate indicates the number of Index Crimes per unit of population, generally per 10,000.

Formula for calculating crime and arrest rates:

$$\frac{\text{Crime (arrest) rate for jurisdiction or group}}{\text{Total population of jurisdiction or group}} = \frac{\text{Number of crimes (arrests)}}{\text{Total population of jurisdiction or group}} \times 10,000$$

Formula for calculating percent change:

$$\frac{\text{Percent change over previous year}}{\text{previous year}} = \frac{X2 - X1}{X1}$$

Where: X1 = Number, rate of crimes, arrests in previous year.
X2 = Number, rate of crimes, arrests in present year.

South Carolina's Index Crime Rate increased 1.35% in 1987.

INDEX CRIMES INCLUDE: Murder, Rape, Robbery, Aggravated Assault, Breaking or Entering, Larceny, and Motor Vehicle Theft.

The Violent Crime Rate in 1987 increased just over 1%.

VIOLENT CRIME: Crimes of violence include murder, rape, robbery and aggravated assault. Violent crimes involve the element of personal confrontation between the victim and the offender and, because of their nature, are generally considered to be more serious than nonviolent crimes.

NONVIOLENT CRIME: For Uniform Crime Reporting purposes, nonviolent crimes include the offenses of breaking or entering, larceny, and motor vehicle theft. While these offenses generally do not involve personal danger to the victim, the value of property lost in these crimes is many times greater than in violent crimes.

The Crime Rate for Murder increased over 8% in 1987, after a four-year downward trend.

MURDER: Murder, as defined in the Uniform Crime Reporting Program, is the willful (nonnegligent) killing of one human being by another. This classification of this offense, as for all other Crime Index offenses, is based solely on police investigation as opposed to the determination of a court, medical examiner, coroner, jury, or other judicial body. Not included in the count for this offense classification are deaths caused by negligence, suicide, or accident; justifiable homicides; and attempts to murder or assaults to murder, which are scored as aggravated assaults.

The Crime Rate for Aggravated Assault increased less than 1% in 1987.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT: Aggravated assault is an unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault is usually accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm. Attempts are included since it is not necessary that an injury result when a gun, knife, or other weapon is used which could and probably would result in serious personal injury if the crime were successfully completed.

The Crime Rate for Larceny increased 1.10% in 1987.

LARCENY: Larceny is the unlawful taking, carrying, leading, or riding away of property from the possession or constructive possession of another. It includes crimes such as shoplifting, pocket-picking, purse-snatching, thefts from motor vehicles, thefts of motor vehicle parts and accessories, bicycle thefts, etc., in which no use of force, violence, or fraud occurs. In the Uniform Crime Reporting Program, this crime category does not include embezzlement, "con" games, forgery, and worthless checks. Motor vehicle theft is also excluded from this category inasmuch as it is a separate Crime Index offense.

SECTION II ARRESTS

In addition to being a gauge of law enforcement's response to crime, arrest counts provide definitive data concerning the age, sex, and race of perpetrators. Arrest practices, policies, and enforcement emphases vary from place to place and even within a community from time to time as, for example, during a local police campaign against residential burglary. While the practices for certain unlawful conduct such as drunkenness, disorderly conduct, vagrancy, and related violations may differ among agencies, those for robbery, burglary, and other serious crime arrests are more likely to be uniform and consistent throughout all jurisdictions. Uniform Crime Reporting procedures require that an arrest be counted on each separate occasion a person is taken into custody, notified, or cited. Annual arrest figures do not measure the number of individuals arrested, since one person may be arrested several times during the year for the same or different offenses (Crime in the US, 1987).

A larger proportion of serious crimes are cleared than those less serious. In 1987, 88.1% of Murders and 16.5% of Breaking or Entering crimes resulted in clearance.

CLEARANCE: A crime is cleared when a law enforcement agency has identified the offender, and there is enough evidence to charge him, whether or not he is actually taken into custody. The arrest of one person can clear several crimes or several persons may be arrested in clearing one crime. Law enforcement agencies may clear a crime by exceptional means when some element beyond law enforcement control precludes the placing of formal charges against the offender.

SECTION III JUDICIAL

The judicial system of South Carolina is composed of the courts, the prosecution, and the defense components. The courts include the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, Circuit Courts, Family Courts, Magisterial Courts, Municipal Courts, Probate Courts, and Master-In-Equity Courts. The prosecutorial system is made up of the circuit solicitors and the Office of the Attorney General. The defense component includes public defender corporations, court appointed counsel, retained counsel, and the Office of Appellate Defense (SC Judicial Department, Annual Report for 1987).

SOUTH CAROLINA JUDICIAL SYSTEM

Of the total number of indictments disposed of in Circuit Court during 1987, 66% resulted in Convictions.

CIRCUIT COURT: The Circuit Court is the state's court of general jurisdiction. It is divided into a civil court, the Court of Common Pleas, and a criminal court, the Court of General Sessions. In addition to its general trial jurisdiction, the Circuit Court has limited appellate jurisdiction over appeals from the Probate Court, Magistrate's Court, and Municipal Court. The State is divided into sixteen judicial circuits. Each circuit has at least one resident circuit judge who maintains an office in the judge's home county within the circuit. There are thirty-one circuit judges and they serve the sixteen circuits on a rotating basis, with court terms and assignments determined by the Chief Justice, based upon recommendations of the Office of Court Administration.

MAGISTRATE COURT: There are approximately 317 magistrates in South Carolina, ranging from 2 to 19 per county. They are appointed by the Governor upon the advice and consent of the Senate, with terms of either two or four years. Magistrates have criminal trial jurisdiction over all offenses which are subject to the penalty of a fine not exceeding $200 or imprisonment not exceeding 30 days. In addition, magistrates are responsible for setting bail, conducting preliminary hearings, and issuing arrest and search warrants. Magistrates have civil jurisdiction when the amount in controversy does not exceed $2,500. However, in landlord-tenant matters and cases of bastardy, their jurisdiction is not limited by a dollar amount.

SECTION IV CORRECTIONS

The South Carolina Department of Corrections is governed by the State Board of Corrections, a seven-member board, six of whom are appointed by the Governor, one from each of the six Congressional Districts of the State, upon the advice and consent of the Senate. The Governor is an ex-officio member of the Board. The Board is responsible for setting overall policy.

The Department is headed by a commissioner, appointed by the Board of Corrections, who administers Board policy and manages the day-to-day affairs of a modern penal system.

The Department is organized into three primary functional offices, or areas of responsibility: administration, operations, and program services, each of which is headed by a Deputy Commissioner. Other specific staff functions are attached to the Commissioner's Office (SC Department of Corrections, Annual Report for 1987 - 1988).

SECTION V
PROBATION, PAROLE & PARDON SERVICES

THE BOARD: The Board consists of seven volunteer members, appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate to serve staggered, renewable, six-year terms. This all-volunteer board not only bears the burden of administering justice through the right to grant paroles and pardons, but has the added responsibility of overseeing the South Carolina Department of Probation, Parole, and Pardon Services (SC Department of Probation, Parole, and Pardon Services, Annual Report for 1988).

THE DEPARTMENT: The Department of Probation, Parole, and Pardon Services is responsible for the supervision of those offenders sentenced to probation by the court, paroled by the Board or placed on an early release program (SC Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services, Annual Report for 1988).
