April 28, 1989

The Honorable Federico Peña Mayor, City and County of Denver 350 City and County Building Denver, CO 80202

Dear Mayor Peña:

I am submitting to you the Annual Report of the Denver Police Department for 1988 with a great deal of pride for our accomplishments during the year. We have strengthened our management structure and simultaneously stimulated greater involvement in cooperative joint ventures among our Safety agencies. Many of these joint venture activities have been led by our Police Department. We have implemented a civilianization program to gradually increase our productivity in certain bureaus of the Department. The crime rate continues to be restrained and in several categories is declining. During the year, we have made significant progress on computerizing our records management functions within the Department and long-range facility planning for satellite police facilities commenced with the development of a mathematical prototype method for siting district police stations.

Chief Aristedes Zavaras has demonstrated exceptional leadership in negotiating resolutions to past promotional exam litigation and we have enjoyed the fruits of our successful Public Safety Cadet Program. Despite the scarcity of resources, Chief Zavaras has not significantly reduced basic police services and, in fact, has mobilized special initiatives to confront gang activities and illegal substance trafficking.

I join with all our our Denver Police Officers and our dedicated civilians in submitting this annual report for your review and consideration.

Sincerely.

Manuel L. Martinez Manager of Safety

Manuel Martinez Manager of Safety 1331 Cherokee Street Denver, Colorado 80204

Dear Manager Martinez:

It is my privilege, on behalf of all members of the Denver Police Department, to present to you the Annual Report for the year 1988. I am extremely proud of the many accomplishments performed by members of the Department in meeting the everyday demands for police service.

Some demands for police service go beyond the ordinary and result in tragedy and heroics. Such an incident occurred on February 9, 1988, when Detective Robert (Bob) Wallis was killed in the line of duty. It was through the heroic actions of three civilians that Bob's killer was pursued and apprehended.

This is the second consecutive year to show a decline in reported Class I and II Offenses. This 7.2% reduction over 1987 can be attributed to crime prevention programs and the implementation of proactive crime fighting techniques.

One example of a proactive program is the Gang Task Force. This unit was created to combat the devastating effect that gang activity and illegal drugs have on our youth. The overall success of this program, however, will depend upon the continuing support of the entire community.

Another worthwhile program was streamlining the collection process involving payable warrants on the Open Items list. Violators now can be transported to the nearest police substation to pay their traffic fines by check, credit card, or money order. This new procedure not only makes fine paying more convenient, but also increases revenue for the City.

The accomplishments described in this Report are the result of the dedicated efforts of all the employees of the Denver Police Department.

Sincerely.

Kops 'N Kids

The Denver Police Orphans' Fund had a very informal beginning in 1958, when three officers "passed the hat" to buy Christmas gifts for the children of deceased officers. Things continued in this casual manner until the late 1960's when a businessman contributed $1500 to their efforts. This money was to be the start of an educational fund for police orphans.

From this humble, grass-roots beginning, the Denver Police

Orphans' Fund developed into an incorporated, non-profit, tax-exempt organization. The goal remains providing financial assistance to any child of a deceased Denver officer, active or retired, and to continually remind survivors that they are still a part of the Denver Police family.

In 1987, after a succession of tragic deaths of law enforcement officers in the Metropolitan Denver area, two needs became apparent to Denver District Attorney Norm Early and Chief of Police Aristedes Zavaras. Firstly, additional financial support for the children of slain officers had to be secured. Secondly, the support of the community, which became apparent after each of these tragedies, also had to be encouraged. Backed by the guidance and enthusiasm of these two men and the support of other metropolitan law enforcement agencies, "Kops 'N Kids" was born, a multifaceted opportunity to address and satisfy those needs.

In the months of planning which followed, a wide variety of community resources was tapped. Corporate sponsors gave financial support and advisory assistance. Volunteer workers came from all segments of the community, the Denver Police Department and other City agencies. As Kops 'N Kids Day drew near, local school children became involved, showing their support by collecting donations in special can banks.

After months of planning, the program was kicked off on May 19 at the downtown Radisson Hotel with a formal dinner dance and media event. "Tennies & Tux", based on the theme of running shoes and tuxedos, included 1940's big band era entertainment provided by Hot Tomato. Area police departments were well represented, with many officers attending in uniform.

The high point of the endeavor was on June 5, 1988, the first annual Kops 'N Kids Day. Three runs and three bicycle rides were officially scheduled. The starting point of each race symbolized the station where a slain officer worked or the location near which one was slain.

Special inter-agency and intra-department challenges were made, such as the "Ironmouse" competition between the Denver Police Department and the District Attorney's staff. This competition consisted of a 13 mile bicycle ride starting at the Aurora Police Department, followed by a 1 kilometer run/walk terminating at 13th & Champa. A 21-member platoon consisting of sworn officers and recruits ran the 10K dressed in their summer uniform shirts and navy shorts. Special individual efforts were also made, such as the 60 mile solo run by Denver teacher Essie Garrett.

Over 1500 participants enjoyed the events which concluded at 13th and Champa where additional activities, such as the "Dunk an Officer" game, were held.

The first annual Kops 'N Kids Day will be remembered as a day of sharing, a day of remembrance and a day of celebration. On this day, participants and supporters, police officers and the civilians they serve joined together in a meaningful display of support for the law enforcement community.

Citizens and officers raised over $50,000 for the benefit of several law enforcement orphan funds.

There was the sad recollection that four outstanding law enforcement officers could not be there to enjoy the festivities. But there was the firm commitment from thousands who never knew them that their sacrifice would not be forgotten and that their families would not be left impoverished.

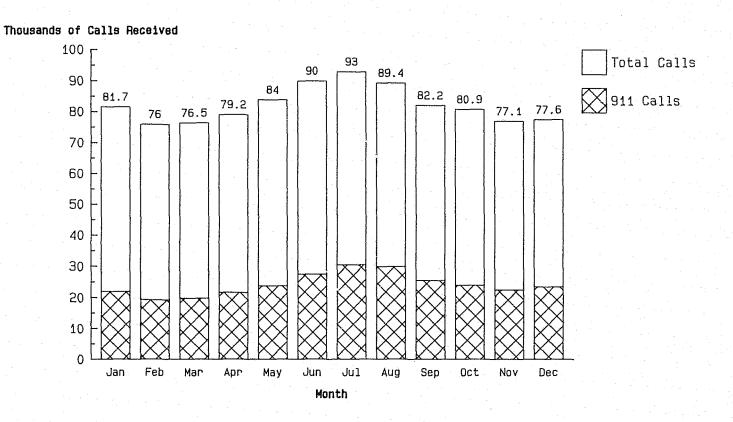

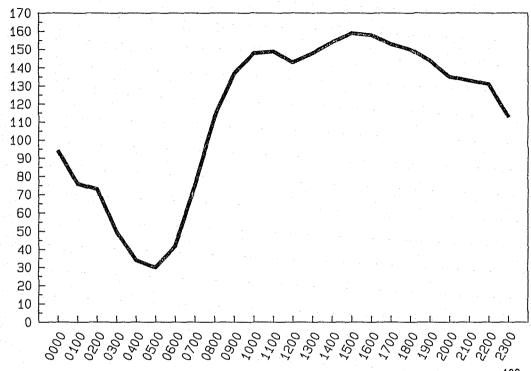

They are all in my heart...
In the final analysis, they all belong to everyone, each of us holding responsibility for their lives.
Without them, there would be no more us.

John Coit, as quoted in the Rocky Mountain News, 1984

Recidivism

I would like to hold on, just a little longer, to the little boy who hums at his work, who cheerfully accepts the tasks of daily life, who still impulsively seeks a hug and kiss, who listens, smiling in the dark, to stories about grandparents a long time dead, and who can still lose himself in the vast sweep of his own imagination.

But you are moving away from those things, and I must let you go, little by little, until you are gone and alone against the long howl of life.

John Coit, as quoted in the Rocky Mountain News, 1984

To justify the decoration, the individual must clearly render himself conspicuous above his comrades by an act so outstanding that it clearly distinguishes his gallantry beyond the call of duty from lesser forms of bravery. Fifteen officers received this, the highest decoration awarded by the Denver Police Department, in 1988.

Even the seasons form a great circle in their changing, and always come back again to where they were.

The life of a man is a circle from childhood to childhood and so it is in everything where power moves.

Know you what it is to be a child? It is to be something very different from the man of today. It is to have a spirit yet streaming from the waters of baptism; it is to believe in love, to believe in loveliness, to believe in belief; it is to be so little that the elves can reach to whisper in your ear; it is to turn pumpkins into coaches, and mice into horses, lowness into loftiness, and nothing into everything, for each child has its fairy godmother in its soul.
