Annual Report

W. Jeff Reynolds, Commissioner

January 1990

STATE OF TENNESSEE
DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTION
FOURTH FLOOR, RACHEL JACKSON BUILDING • NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE 37219-5252

W. JEFF REYNOLDS
COMMISSIONER

January 12, 1990

The Honorable Ned McWherter
Governor of Tennessee and
The General Assembly
State of Tennessee

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Fiscal year 1988-89 was a year of change and progress in the Department of Correction. I became commissioner in February. Betty Adams was appointed commissioner for the new Department of Youth Development effective on July 1, 1989. The department adopted a regional administrative structure for managing the adult institutions and appointed three regional administrators. These changes resulted in numerous other changes in the management staff in the department.

Progress continued in expanding facilities and services available for offenders sentenced to the department. Construction continued on two maximum security facilities with opening dates scheduled during fiscal year 1989-90. Construction of three medium security facilities and a special needs facility was approved. Improvement projects continued at every institution across the state. Intensive probation programs, including electronic monitoring, were expanded. Community Corrections programs were also expanded and cost per offender served declined.

More change is expected in the department as we move toward meeting the requirements of the 1985 federal court order. I am encouraged by the morale and energy of the staff in the department. It is an exciting time to be a part of the Department of Correction.

This report combines information reported separately in the past in the department's Annual Report and Statistical Abstract. I hope that you will find the information useful.

Sincerely,

W. Jeff Reynolds

Mission Statement

The Tennessee Department of Correction's mission is to serve the public by managing offenders according to recognized professional standards.

The Department will carry out its mission by:

- *Implementing the orders of sentencing courts in a safe and humane manner.
- *Receiving and controlling sentenced or committed offenders.
- *Employing professional staff.
- *Using efficiently and effectively those resources appropriate to the identified needs and risks of individual offenders.
- *Providing opportunities and incentives for behavior change in offenders while providing sanctions and other disincentives for continued criminal behavior.
- *Providing adequate opportunities to develop behaviors which will enhance an offender's chance for success upon release from the Department's control.

Department Overview

- o W. Jeff Reynolds was appointed commissioner in February.
- o Construction on two new prisons continued with expected completion and opening during fiscal year 1990.
- o Legislation was enacted authorizing the changing of the function of the Wayne County facility from a work camp to a boot camp during fiscal year 1990.
- o The method of reimbursing counties for housing felons in local jails changed from a flat grant rate to an actual cost basis.
- o Implementation of the unit management concept was started at the institutions. Unit management involves putting responsibility for the facility at a unit level, usually a housing unit, consisting of a manager, counselor, classification coordinator, and correctional officers with no more than two hundred inmates in a unit.
- o Reorganization of the department under a regional management concept was started. Three regional administrators were appointed to oversee the East, Middle and West Tennessee regions.
- o A special needs study was completed by a consulting firm and the process for construction of a new special needs facility was begun.
- o Felons sentenced to the department continued to back up in the local jails and several lawsuits were filed at the local level due to overcrowding or poor conditions at the local level. The state was ordered to take a number of inmates from two counties in response to the lawsuits.
- o The department's inmate grievance procedure was certified by the United States Department of Justice making the state's procedure the fifth in the country to be certified.
- o One of the biggest changes was legislation creating the Department of Youth Development. All correctional juvenile functions were placed under this new department at the beginning of fiscal year 1990.
- o Accreditation efforts continued in the department. At the end of the fiscal year, twenty-one programs were accredited including ten adult institutions and the division of probation. The remaining accredited programs included three juvenile institutions, six group homes and juvenile probation.

Grubbs Litigation

Grubbs was filed as a class action suit in 1980, asserting that living conditions of the inmates in Tennessee's then twelve state penal institutions violated Eighth and Fourteenth Amendment guarantees. Chief Judge L. Clure Morton of the Middle District of Tennessee conducted a bench trial in November and December of 1981. Judge Morton found seven specific conditions in various institutions that violated constitutional standards. He determined at that point, to appoint a special master and required the department to submit plans for remedying the impermissible conditions on a strict timetable. Following Judge Morton's retirement, Grubbs was assigned to District Judge Thomas A. Higgins, on whose docket it remains.

During the fiscal year, the United States District Court was asked by the attorney general on behalf of the department to clarify the 1985 Grubbs order.

Clarification was requested as to whether the state must close Tennessee State Penitentiary (TSP) when two new maximum security facilities were opened. The department asked to use some of the nonresidential buildings and planned to raze the four original housing units, death row, and some of the other buildings within the walls. The transfer of the inmates and the destruction of all housing units would change the TSP site. The court ruled that the department would have to seek modification of the Grubbs order if it wished to build a special needs facility on the site.

In a related matter, the attorney general on behalf of the department filed appeals in Roberts v. Tennessee Department of Correction et. al., No. 1-89-136 (E.D. Tenn.) and Carver v. Knox Co. v. McWherter, No. 3-86-299 (E.D. Tenn.), in the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit in Cincinnati, Ohio. The attorney general contended in the appeals that Carver and Roberts, two jail conditions cases which provided relief to the concerned counties by ordering the state to alleviate the local jail overcrowding burden by taking in all state sentenced inmates, should be transferred to the Grubbs court in order to prevent a situation of conflicting orders. Stays were granted by the Sixth Circuit Court against the relief provided in both Roberts and Carver pending resolution of the matter.

Legal Services

The Legal Services Section is counsel on behalf of the commissioner and is legal representative for the commissioner in various legal proceedings involving the department. The section also oversees the process of policy development, review, and distribution.

During the fiscal year, Legal Services added the Department Policy Coordinator to its staff and assumed the supervision of the Grubbs audit process. The office continued to work with the attorney general in the defense of various inmate civil rights lawsuits which had been filed against the department and its employees.

Strong emphasis continued to be placed on establishing and maintaining communications with employees in the field. The attorneys were frequent instructors on legal issues at the Tennessee Correction Academy. The legal section offered workshops on the new criminal sentencing code and on the Disciplinary Board at the Academy, outside seminars, and in institutions.

Planning and Research

The Planning and Research Section provides information, analysis, and research to assist in improving the department's management and operations. The section responded to numerous information requests and surveys received by the department. The section released a new prison population projection during the fiscal year and worked closely with the Tennessee Sentencing Commission to determine the impact of proposed sentencing changes on the projected prison population. Planning and Research also was responsible for producing the department's annual report and the second Department of Correction Statistical Abstract. The section tracked legislation affecting the department.

Employee Grievance Section

The Employee Grievance Section is a resource for department employees in the correct procedures for resolving employee grievances and to assist in establishing consistent actions. Two endeavors were undertaken. Classes for senior managers were conducted at the Tennessee Correction Academy focusing on civil service concepts and procedures for disciplinary and grievance actions. Monthly and quarterly reports were distributed to assist in the establishment of consistency by allowing personnel to better monitor cases and provide feedback to the field.

Internal Affairs Section

The Internal Affairs Section conducts investigations specifically authorized by the commissioner or the deputy commissioner and are limited to matters relating to the operations of the department.

During the fiscal year, a total of thirty-nine investigative matters was assigned to the section. Twenty-six investigations were at adult institutions, nine at juvenile institutions, two in the adult probation area, and two in the juvenile probation area. Fifteen of the investigations were inmate related, four were staff related, and twenty were staff/inmate related.

The principal types of investigative matters were drugs, staff misconduct, and escapes in the adult institutions and escapes, staff abuse, and staff/student sexual involvement in the juvenile institutions.

The section continued to work closely with various federal, state, and municipal and county investigative agencies. This resulted in the mutual sharing of intelligence information, sharing of technical services, and informant development. A number of investigative matters were referred to attorney generals throughout the state for possible prosecution.

Internal Audit

Internal Audit is responsible for auditing all areas within the Department of Correction.

During the fiscal year 1988-89, Internal Audit completed twenty-six limited fiscal audits. They included audits at adult institutions, work camps, juvenile institutions, group homes and probation offices.

The program audit section of Internal Audit was responsible for monitoring departmental compliance with the Grubbs suit and making comprehensive semi-annual reports to the federal court through the commissioner and the court master in December 1988 and June 1989.

Division of Administrative Services

Budget Section

The Budget Section is responsible for coordinating the proper development, submission, and use of the department's operating and capital budgets. Technical assistance is provided to the field operating units in developing and managing capital and operating budgets.

The section conducted meetings to explain and interpret the department's budget request and the use of funds with institutional and regional staff as well as central office staff.

Correctional Enterprises

Correctional Enterprises is responsible for managing the overall operations of the correctional farms and industry plants within TDOC. Inmates are provided with realistic work experience in a business-like environment. Inmates are taught skills and work ethics while providing a quality product and service to government agencies and non-profit organizations.

Correctional Enterprises expanded during the fiscal year. Construction began on a new textile plant at Southeastern Tennessee State Regional Correctional Facility and on a new wood working/refurbishing plant at Morgan County Regional Correctional Facility. Morgan County will also have a textile operation producing mattresses and bed linens. Construction also began at Tennessee Prison for Women on a plant that will produce officer uniform shirts and at the new West Tennessee High Security Facility for a plant housing a textile operation and a wood working/refurbishing operation for West Tennessee. New print and data entry plants will be at Riverbend Maximum Security Institution. One of the data entry plants will be for death row inmates.

Farm programs began improvement construction with a new dairy milk processing and milk parlor building at Fort Pillow Prison and Farm and a milk processing plant at Southeastern Tennessee State Regional Correctional Facility. A new maintenance and farm office building was completed at Southeastern as well.

Revenues collected for the past year represented a growth of 9% over the previous fiscal year. This was due to increased printing orders and a new refurbishing program for dorm furniture. Inmate employment increased by 14%.

The Agri-Industry Board was active in an advisory role and formed an executive committee that worked closely with Correctional Enterprises.

Engineering

The Engineering Section forms an administrative bridge between institutional managers and architects, engineers, and contractors who provide services to the institutions. The section prepares maintenance budgets, new construction programs and cost proposals. Maintenance policy is developed and monitored by the section. Contracts between the department and professional architects, engineers, and contractors are administered by the section. The section reviews construction plans and specifications as well as investigates building sites and completed construction.

After extensive planning and design, almost all special session projects were under construction and nearing completion including two new facilities, Riverbend Maximum Security Institution and West Tennessee High Security Facility.

Two additional prisons were funded during the legislative session in 1989 and will be located in Wayne and Lake counties. A third institution in Johnson County was funded by savings from the

Fiscal Services

The Fiscal Services Section is responsible for continuing to improve the department's financial accountability through the state's Financial Integrity Act. The section also assures prompt and accurate payment of the department's financial obligations. Technical assistance is provided to the field operating units in developing and maintaining integrity in the financial and management system. The section is the liaison between the department and the departments of Finance and Administration and General Services, Comptroller of the Treasury, and several other state departments.

Training for fiscal and administrative staff was conducted during the fiscal year. Seven courses at the Tennessee Correction Academy were offered for associate wardens, accountants, accounting technicians, account clerks, property officers, procurement officers, storekeepers, and stores managers.

A procurement officer for central office activities was added to the staff during the fiscal year. Fiscal Services began to implement plans to redistribute some activity to the operating units including printing and processing voucher registers during the next fiscal year.

Management Information Services

Management Information Services provides sentence management information, computerized information reporting, technical assistance in the design and development of computerized systems, and forms and publications service. The section calculates all felon sentences, maintains all inmate records of offenders who have been in the system, and monitors release dates for the parole board in order to produce the parole dockets.

During the fiscal year, the section completed the design of the cost accounting system for Correctional Enterprises and the detail design for the Tennessee Offender Management Information System (TOMIS) was started. Sentence Management trained correctional counselors and institutional record clerks at all adult institutions. The section also completed microfilming and indexing active offender files.

Personnel

The Personnel Section monitors and provides training for the personnel functions of the department for compliance with civil service rules, state law, and policies and procedures. The section also monitors training, performance evaluations, and employee assistance programs to enhance employee effectiveness. The section developed and monitored the department's affirmative action plan.

The Personnel Section moved from purely process functions to service function in two areas during the fiscal year. One professional level position was reassigned to an Employee Benefits Officer for technical and training assistance to field personnel officers in insurance, flexible benefits, Employee Assistance Program, and deferred compensation. An insurance manual was designed for personnel officers to provide better service to department employees.

The Performance Evaluation Program was effectively managed by field managers which allowed the central office Personnel Section to be free to provide a major effort in departmental recruitment. Some of these efforts were distribution of public service announcements; coordination of a Job Fair in West Tennessee; participation in "Career Day" events at colleges and high schools; and coordination of efforts by the departments of Education, Employment Security, Labor, and Personnel to positively impact the availability, identification and development of the projected work force in areas of new facility construction.

Tennessee Correction Academy

The Tennessee Correction Academy's mission is to provide quality training to the department's personnel. Pre-service and in-service training increased during the fiscal year. The major focus of training was upon job specific skill attainment and enrichment.

TDOC PERSONNEL BY RACE AND SEX

The Academy User Board which served as the curriculum review committee met quarterly. Innovative training standards were implemented to reduce trainee travel time costs while still maintaining accreditation standards.

A variety of courses were offered during the fiscal year. Some of the in-service training programs were Sex Offender Treatment, Fiscal Training, Disciplinary Board Chairperson Certification, and Locksmithing. Unit Management, Personnel Issues workshops, Pre-Supervisory Development, Management Development, and Computer-Based training were also offered.

The Academy instructional staff has been assigned two weeks on-the-job training at various institutions throughout the state to insure that the staff remains current with institutional and field operations.

Adult Institutions

Charles Bass
Assistant Commissioner

Division of Adult Institutions

During Fiscal Year 1988-89, the division was reorganized and efforts were continued to improve services and programs to the inmates.

The new organizational structure represents a regional concept in the supervision of the institutions. Three regional administrators will report to the commissioner.

Construction of over ninety capital projects was in process during the fiscal year. Most of the projects involved security upgrades, program improvements, maintenance, and life safety improvements.

Accreditation

The Accreditation Section is responsible for coordinating the department's accreditation activities in all work locations involved in the accreditation process. The accreditation staff coordinates all accreditation activities with the American Correctional Association, including contract negotiations, scheduling of standards compliance audits and preparing for accreditation hearings before the Commission on Accreditation for Corrections.

During Fiscal Year 1988-89, nine additional programs received their initial accreditation. Lake County Regional Correctional Facility was reaccredited. By the end of the fiscal year, twenty-one department programs had been accredited including ten of sixteen adult institutions, all three juvenile institutions, six of twelve group homes, and the Divisions of Adult and Juvenile Probation. Four additional group homes had formal accreditation audits during the fiscal year, but were not formally accredited until August 1989.

The Department of Correction hosted the second annual Correctional Accreditation Managers Training Conference in Nashville.

Education

The Education Section provides staff support to the department's institutional education programs. These services include grant and entitlement program development and monitoring; curriculum frameworks and guides; technical assistance; liaison between the department and other agencies; and Career Ladder evaluation and payment coordination.

Significant events during the fiscal year included improvement of program participation reporting. An adult pre-participation test was developed. Vocational programs were expanded and in response to the Carl Perkins Act, vocational and pre-release programs were developed. Increased funding was available for institutional libraries, and a new juvenile education program was implemented. The total number of inmates receiving some type of educational service in adult institutions was 5,451 during the fiscal year or 74% of the average daily population.

Health Services

The Health Services Section is responsible for planning, coordinating and monitoring the health and mental health service delivery system for offenders incarcerated within TDOC.

Health Services expanded its operational control over TSP Health Center and Central Pharmacy. Improvements were made in nurse recruitment and retention.

An AIDS education and training program was implemented for staff and inmates during the fiscal year. All institutions were actively involved in AIDS education programs at the end of the year.

Health services for Tennessee Prison for Women and Riverbend Maximum Security Institution were contracted out during the year. These operations will be continually assessed.

New policies were implemented in the mental health program as well as rewriting an old policy. Thirty-five teaching modules for sex and substance abuse programs were completed or in development at the end of the year and additional sex offender program beds were added. General admission and discharge criteria for the Special Needs Facility was developed. Thirty-two of the health services policies were rewritten during the year replacing outdated policies.

Food Services

The Food Services Section coordinates the food service operations in all the institutions. Advice and assistance are provided on operational matters such as sanitation, controlling food cost, and food preparation. Compliance with TDOC policies and ACA standards is monitored by institutional visits and annual inspections.

During fiscal year 1988-89, over 9,775,000 meals were served in adult institutions. The food expenditure is broken out as follows: $9,027,000 state funds and $791,000 in U.S. Department of Agriculture commodities.

Emphasis has been placed on cost control in food service. In response, the Master Menu package was assembled for fall 1989 implementation. The Master Menu is a six week cycle menu served simultaneously in all the institutions. The Alternate Entree is non-meat protein food offered as an alternate to the meat entree to meet dietary restrictions of religions.

Seven food service classes were held at the Tennessee Correction Academy during the fiscal year. Various aspects of food service were covered including production, diet preparation, and an introduction to the cook-chill system.

Classification Section

The Classification Section is responsible for implementing and maintaining the inmate classification process through training of institutional personnel and conducting institution inspections. The classification process evaluates an inmate's ability to cope with his/her environment and assigns the inmate to the best environment based on the results of the classification. The process is ongoing with inmates being continually assessed regarding the level of supervision required and their program needs. The section is also responsible for ensuring that institutions' populations do not exceed the limits established under Grubbs v Reynolds. This is accomplished by authorizing admissions of inmates to the department from county jails. The section also facilitates and monitors inter-institutional transfers of inmates.

During the fiscal year the section monitored the population of all adult institutions to maintain the levels at or near court ordered capacities. The Classification User's Guide which is an instructional manual to assist TDOC staff in implementing classification policies and procedures was revised three times during the fiscal year. Two training conferences for Correctional Classification Coordinators were conducted and three classification training sessions were held at the Tennessee Correction Academy. A review of all close and maximum custody inmates in TDOC for purposes for placement in new facilities was started. Initial work was done on establishing a standardized interview for initial classification.

Inmate Grievances

The purpose of the grievance procedure is to allow inmate complaints to be raised, addressed, and resolved within the department rather than in the federal courts. The procedure involves responses to complaints by a grievance chairperson, committee of staff and inmate members, and warden at the institutional level at all adult institutions. Inmate grievants may also appeal institutional responses to the commissioner's office.

The department's inmate grievance procedures received conditional certification from the U.S. Department of Justice during the fiscal year. This will allow the U.S. District Courts to continue any 1983 court action brought by inmates for up to ninety days to exhaust administrative remedies. The department's system became the fifth statewide grievance system to be certified.

Treatment Services

The Treatment Services Section is responsible for providing direction and coordination for the counseling/case management activities, religious programming, and inmate jobs program in adult institutions.

During the fiscal year, counseling/case management activities were directed toward identifying major issues and increasing awareness of unit management. Training in sentence calculation was conducted at each institution so that staff could provide assistance and interpretation to inmates. A Religious Program Advisory Board was established composed of one chaplain from each region. The board advises the department about needs and issues relating to religious programs and develops guidelines for the administration of religious programming. Inmate job assignment and tracking procedures had been previously established. Inmate job coordinator positions were established at many institutions to enhance the job coordination system to help continue to provide meaningful jobs and training.

Volunteer Services

Volunteer Services serves three roles in the Department of Correction. Volunteers provide direct service to the department by performing the duties for which they were recruited. These duties could be counseling, serving on a committee or special activities. Volunteers give eight hours per month per volunteer. Volunteers provide a communications link with the community. Volunteers are advocates with the system for the offender with whom they work. Volunteers are trained and then assigned to a staff supervisor who gives them their service activity.

During fiscal year 1988-90, the dollar value of volunteer services was $995,000 and the total number of hours was 110,000.

A group of advisory boards exists to facilitate the delivery of volunteer services. The State Volunteer Advisory Board advises the department on matters of public interest, reviews and recommends programs involving volunteers, oversees projects, and coordinates a network of institutional and regional volunteer advisory boards.

The regional and institutional boards assist in the development of services, advise management of matters of public interest, enlist the support of the community, and participate in the network of advisory boards under the leadership of the state board.

Tennessee Jail Resource Center

The Tennessee Jail Resource Center is responsible for providing technical assistance relating to construction and design of Tennessee county jails. The section also assists with development of policies and procedures regarding security, staffing, health care, nutrition and other operational and programmatic areas of concern. The section also developed a jail resource library that has been used by local governments.

County Correctional Incentive Program

The County Correctional Incentive Program (CCIP) was originally passed to provide state assistance to local governments housing incarcerated felons. The program reimbursed counties $43.9 million during the year ending June 30, 1989. The program assists counties in defraying jail costs including operations, staffing and equipment. During fiscal year 1989 the program paid counties 12 equal monthly payments determined by doubling each county's reimbursement from October, 1987 through March, 1988.

Responding to concerns about the increasing jail population, including the number of convicted felons, the General Assembly adopted amendments to the CCIP in 1989. Based on a report from the Select Oversight Committee on Corrections about Local Corrections and talks with local government representatives, reimbursement in fiscal year 1990 is based upon "reasonable, allowable costs" as determined by the Comptroller. The department held five meetings statewide to educate local government officials about the changes.

The General Assembly also mandated that counties would not have to hold convicted felons in local facilities after June 30, 1992, unless the county chose to do so. In the fall of 1989 counties will decide if they wish to contract with the state to house all felons sentenced to one to three years beginning July 1, 1992. After counties have made their decisions the department will analyze the available space and the anticipated demand for planning purposes.

Field Services

The purpose of the Field Services Section is to effectively supervise and investigate the conduct of persons placed on probation and referred to the department by the courts. Pre-sentence investigations and evaluations are provided to criminal and circuit courts. Other investigative reports include post-sentence, classification and interstate compact reports. The section also has the responsibility of collecting criminal injuries compensation, supervision and diversion fees from all eligible offenders. A Work Projects Program and an Intensive Supervision Program are administered by the section.

Adult Probation supervised 15,863 probationers in fiscal year 1988-89. Probation services are provided to all judicial districts in the state. A total of $1,136,749 was collected during the fiscal year for the Criminal Injuries Compensation Fund; and $331,811 was collected in Supervision Fees; and $167,769 was collected in Pre-Trial Diversion fees. Over 210,000 hours of community service work was performed by 1,973 probationers in the Work Projects Program. The Intensive Supervision Program supervised 415 cases in addition to the overall probation total and used electronic monitoring devices.

Community Corrections

The Community Corrections Section is responsible for overseeing the grant program for the delivery of community corrections services. Community Corrections programs are intended as an alternative to incarceration for offenders. The FY 1988-89 appropriation was $4 million. Although the appropriation did not grow from

Youth Development

Community Residential Programs

The Community Residential Programs Section is responsible for coordination, referral, placement, and treatment for juveniles in community based programs. Three types of programs are available depending upon individual needs and include state operated diversion group homes, state operated staff intensive group homes, and state operated halfway houses. The department has eight diversion group homes, four staff intensive group homes, and two halfway house programs. Ten of the programs have been accredited and the remaining five are in the accreditation process. The section served 287 students in fiscal year 1988-89.

Field Services

The Juvenile Field Services Section is responsible for supervising juvenile offenders placed on probation by the courts and preparing social history investigative reports for the courts and the department. The section also supervises children placed on aftercare from state residential programs. The section operates a Foster Care and a Therapeutic Foster Care Program and supervises placement of children in contract agencies. During fiscal year 1988-89, the section supervised an average of 1,440 children on probation, 1,746 children on aftercare, and 113 children whose probation was transferred from another state. The section completed its second year as being fully accredited.

John S. Wilder Youth Development Center is located in West Tennessee and houses male juvenile offenders ages 12 - 18. The majority of the offenders have indefinite commitments.

A variety of treatment programs are available at the facility. Classification and assessment is done at the facility. Academic programs include lifeskills, G.E.D., grades 7-12 and Chapter I. Vocational training in small engine repair and general building trades are available. Group and individual counseling, alcohol and drug education and intervention, and life skills training are also available. A programmatic segregation program was established for intense supervision for hard to manage students. Level I and II substance abuse treatment programs are available at the institution.

During the fiscal year, a campus renovation project was completed that included a fire/safety upgrade, a secure housing unit, new vocational shop, upgrade of the clinic, and renovation of a dormitory for a counseling center.

The facility is accepting older students up to age twenty and will become the regional facility for West Tennessee providing intake, classification, and programming for male students committed from the region.

Taft Youth Center is located in Bledsoe County. Taft is the most restrictive of the juvenile institutions housing the more serious offenders and most of the determinately sentenced students. The facility generally houses students between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one. Offenders who present management problems in other institutions are often transferred to Taft. Taft serves as a classification and assessment center.

A variety of programs are available at Taft. Vocational programs including welding, auto mechanics, cosmetology, upholstery, vocational awareness, laundry, landscaping, carpentry, food service, and masonry are offered. Educational programs include G.E.D., Adult Basic Education, Chapter I, and special or remedial education. Level I and II substance abuse treatment programs and a program for sex offenders are available.

A campus renovation project was completed involving renovation of the gymnasium, sand blasting and refinishing the water storage tank, and installation of high security lighting in student rooms. Exterior roads and the parking lot were repaved. Correction of all fire code and safety deficiencies was completed.

Taft was exempted from its annual inspection due to an accreditation audit. The facility received a 99.1% score on the nonmandatory accreditation standards.

Spencer Youth Center is located in Davidson County and serves as a Classification and assessment center for male and female juvenile offenders. Services are provided to both male and female students but most programming is segregated with limited well supervised coed activities. Male students between the ages of sixteen and twenty and female students between the ages of twelve and twenty are housed at the facility.

A variety of programs are available at Spencer Youth Center. A school is operated at the facility. A pet therapy program was started involving caring for the department feeder calves. Students work off campus in jobs. Four work sites were certified by the United States Department of Labor during the fiscal year. Level I and II substance abuse treatment programs are available at the institution.
