Dear Reader:

The Division of Children and Youth Services is pleased to present the 1992 report of Missouri Juvenile Court Statistics. This is the forty-eighth annual juvenile court report. We hope the report will be useful to individuals and organizations with an interest in the juvenile justice system.

We would like to express our appreciation to the court personnel throughout the state for their cooperation in this project. Thanks are also due to the Research and Evaluation Unit for collecting and assembling the data and writing the report.

Questions about the report should be directed to the Division of Children and Youth Services or the Research and Evaluation Unit, Department of Social Services.

Sincerely,

JUVENILE COURT OVERVIEW

The following report is the forty-eighth in a series of Juvenile Court Statistics and the fifteenth published under the auspices of the Division of Children and Youth Services (DCYS) as mandated by Missouri Statute RSMo section 219.016.3. This report presents the summary statistics of the Juvenile Court System for calendar year 1992 in Missouri.

In 1992, 52,948 children were referred to one of the 45 juvenile courts in Missouri. These 52,948 children had a total of 73,449 referrals to court. The same child may be referred more than once during the reporting year. Circuits are requested to maintain a separate identification number for each juvenile and use the same number each time the juvenile is referred.

GRAPH 1
CHILDREN REFERRED BY RACE AND SEX

Race and sex comparisons.

Graph 1 shows the sex and race break down of all children referred. Males accounted for 66 percent of the youths referred; females for 34 percent. White youth accounted for 67 percent of the juvenile court population. Black youth were 30 percent of juvenile court youth, while three percent were other categories.

Most analyses in this report are at the level of referral. The numbers represent not individual children, but separate referrals to the court. A referral has been defined for reporting circuits as "any action involving a juvenile which results in a determination, finding or outcome and a written record maintained in the juvenile's name. Multiple allegations reported at the time of, or discovered in the course of a referral shall be reported as additional violations and not as additional referrals."

Referral types. These referrals break down into three broad categories: Law Violations, Status Offenses and Abuse, Neglect and Custody referrals. Law Violations are any breaking of the Missouri Criminal Code. Status Offenses are those offenses that are only violations if committed by a juvenile. This includes such activities as truancy and running away from home. The category of Abuse, Neglect and Custody (A/N/C) reports Missouri children who were victims of abuse or neglect and children involved in custody disputes, transfers or terminations. The Administrative category formerly included in this report has been dropped. It tracked Permanency Planning cases regarding placement of children in foster care, and other miscellaneous referrals, such as probation violations, etc. The only administrative referrals still reported are violations of court order.

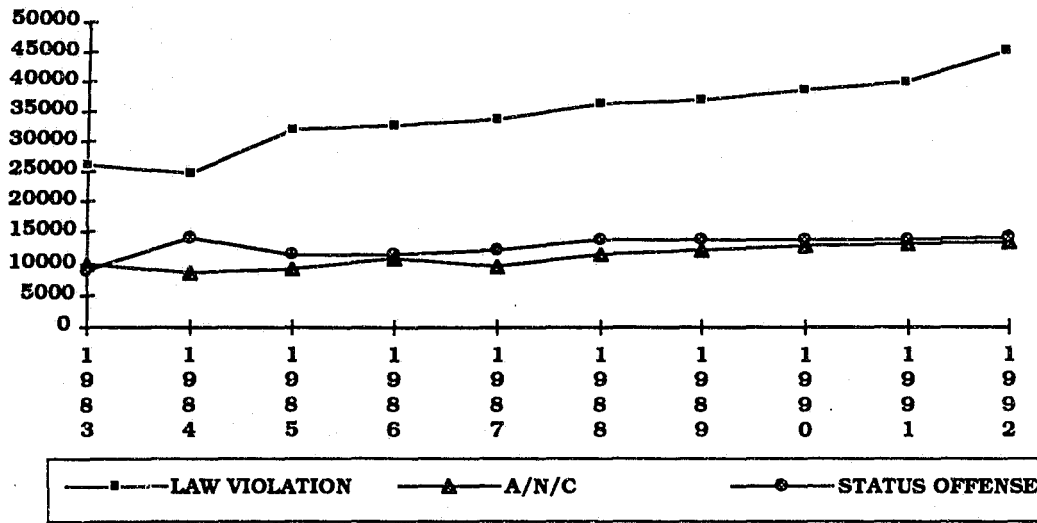

Table 1 shows the break down of all referrals into these four categories over the past ten years. Law Violation referrals were by far the largest category of referrals in 1992, representing over 60 percent of all referrals to the system. This category saw an increase of more than 13 percent over 1991.

TEN YEAR TREND OF REFERRALS

Graph 2 illustrates the changes in numbers of referrals for the last ten years. Only the Law Violation category shows a consistent increase since 1984. Law violation referrals have increased by 73 percent over 1983 levels. Status offense referrals increased by 58 percent and A/N/C referrals by 39 percent over the same time period.

Referral sources. Referrals to the juvenile court can come from many sources. Over two-thirds (69%) of all referrals were initiated by law enforcement. Almost half of Abuse, Neglect and Custody referrals were initiated by the Department of Social Services, Division of Family Services (DFS). Status offense referrals were likely to be initiated by schools or municipal police. Parents and the juvenile courts themselves also made significant numbers of referrals. Table 2 shows the source of all referrals.

Drug and alcohol use. A question on drug and alcohol use was added to the 1992 Juvenile Information System Form. The question asked : "At the time of the activity that led to this referral was this youth under the influence of alcohol or drugs?" Of 43,296 referrals with an answer other than "unknown" only 1,661 (3.8%) were identified as under the influence of alcohol. There were 478 (1.1%) referrals reporting drug use at the time of the referral. Of drug or alcohol involved youth, 84 percent were referred for law violations, 12 percent were referred for status offenses and three percent as victims of abuse or neglect.

MOST COMMON REFERRALS
MALES

Male and female juveniles show different patterns of referral to the juvenile system. Graph 3 illustrates that males were much more likely to be referred for law violations. Only 28 percent of referrals for males were in the non-law violation categories of status offenses or Abuse, Neglect or Custody.

GRAPH 4
MOST COMMON REFERRALS
FEMALES

For females, the non-law violation categories accounted for 59 percent of all referrals. The remaining violations are also largely non-violent, with stealing and municipal offenses together accounting for another 19 percent.

Dispositions of referrals. The definition of a referral included the words "action resulting in a determination or outcome." The possible determinations or outcomes fall into two categories: those which were handled formally with petition to the court and those which were informally adjusted. The formal dispositions that can occur are:

True Out-of-Home The allegation is found true and the youth is placed out of home. Placement may include with a relative, to a foster home, or commitment to DCYS.

True In-home The allegation is found true and the youth receives services in his/her own home.

True No Services The allegation is found true, but no services are provided.

Not True The allegation is found not true.

Motion to Dismiss The court sustains a motion to dismiss and the case is closed.

Dismiss for Certification The court sustains a motion to dismiss, and the case is transferred to adult court.

The informal dispositions that can occur are:

Adjust without Supervision
Involves no more than one face-to-face contact with the juvenile and results in the giving of advice, counsel or a verbal warning.

Adjust with Supervision Involves supervision by either verbal or written agreement and/or restitution or community service.

Adjust - No action No action is taken by the juvenile office other than the collection of information.

Transfer to Other Juvenile Court Jurisdiction over the youth is transferred to another juvenile court.

Transfer to Other Agency The youth's case (records, files, etc. ) is turned over to another agency.

Referral Rejected No reason is found to sustain the referral:

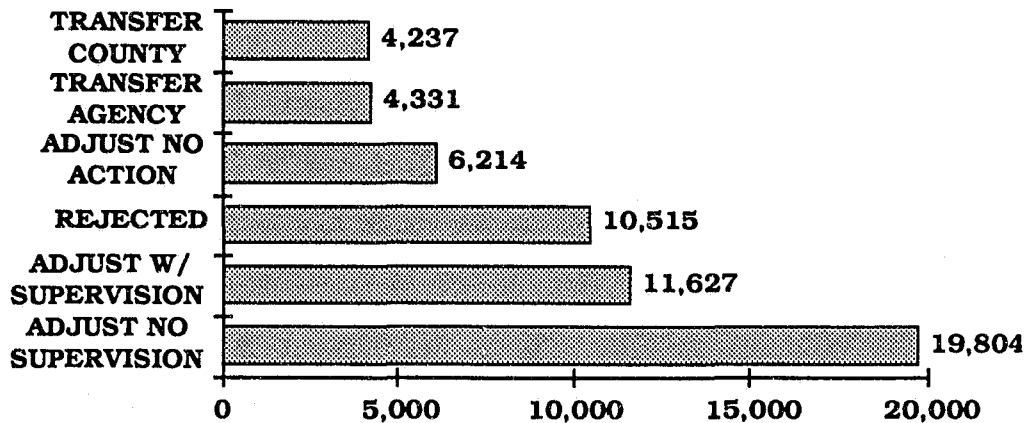

Findings for 1992 referrals are shown in Graphs 6 and 7. More than three-quarters (77.2%) of the referrals were informally disposed. The largest single category of outcomes was informal adjustment without supervision, accounting for over one-fourth of total referrals. Only 22.8 percent of all referrals were formally adjudicated by a court. A formal adjudication is necessary to place a child out-of-home or to transfer a youth to adult court.

GRAPH 6
OUTCOMES OF FORMALLY DISPOSED REFERRALS

GRAPH 7
OUTCOMES OF INFORMALLY DISPOSED REFERRALS

A total of 5,758 referrals were placed out-of-home in 1992. Abuse, Neglect and Custody referrals accounted for nearly one-half (48.4%) of out-of-home placements. Law violation referrals accounted for another 35.5% of out-of-home placements.

Over 40 percent of out-of-home placements were to DFS. Another 22 percent of the placements were to DCYS. Frequently children were placed with relatives and the juvenile courts. Graph 8 details these placements.

*Other Agency consists of DMH and other public and private agencies.

In-home services were provided for 17,978 referrals. More than one provider can be listed for each referral and a total of 21,641 providers were reported. In-home services can be either ordered by the court or provided informally by court personnel. Every in-home services case is supervised by juvenile court personnel. (Graph 9)

*Other Agency consists of DMH, DCYS and other public and private agencies.

Certifications to adult court. There were 264 referrals dismissed to allow certification to adult court. Because of the way referrals are processed, these 264 referrals represent only 224 individuals. Juveniles certified to adult court were overwhelmingly male. Only three females were certified in 1992. Table 3 shows the 224 juveniles by age and race.

Pre-hearing placements. At the time of a referral, a juvenile may be detained awaiting a determination. Two types of facilities are used for such placement; secure and non-secure. In 1992, 12,944 cases or 18 percent of all referrals were held prior to hearing. Although approximately the same proportion of males and females were held prior to hearing, males were more likely to be held in secure detention and females in non-secure. Those held in secure detention were most likely male law violators. Those held in non-secure facilities were most likely victims of abuse or neglect. A break down by category of referral and sex is provided in Table 4.

TOTAL	5,384	1,201	3,023	3,131	138	67

There are several types of facilities in which non-secure detainees may be held. The largest group (67%) was held in foster homes while awaiting a hearing or determination of outcome. Detention with a relative was added as a new category on the 1992 form. This category accounted for 13 percent of non-secure detentions. Graph 10 shows how many juveniles were held in each type of facility.

Graph 11 shows who operated the facilities. DFS was the operator of the majority of facilities, followed by relatives and the juvenile courts.

* Other category consists of city or county government, DMH or other.

LAW VIOLATION REFERRALS

Law violation referrals comprised over 60 percent of all referrals to the juvenile court system. The ratio of males to females in this category was heavily skewed toward males, who accounted for nearly 80 percent of all the law violation referrals. Law violation referrals represent a single delinquent act even though several offenses may have been committed at the same time by the child referred. The most serious violation which resulted in a determination is recorded as the reason for referral.

OUTCOMES OF LAW VIOLATION REFERRALS

Law violation outcomes.

Graph 12 presents the outcomes of all law referrals. Only 14 percent were found true formally. By comparison, 17 percent were rejected and another four percent were either dismissed or found not true. The two categories of informal adjustment, with or without supervision, accounted for nearly one-half (47%) of the law violation outcomes.

Age distribution of law offenders. More than half of law offenders (53 %) were 15 years old or more. The very youngest offenders, those in the 0 to 8 year old age group, were most likely referred for property damage or stealing. Property damage, stealing and assault were the most common referral offenses for the 9 to 14 year old age group. (Table 6)

Prior violations. The numbers of alleged prior violations vary greatly depending on the specific allegation for the current referral. Juveniles referred for flight/escape, gambling and obstructing judicial process were likely to have a higher number of prior alleged violations. Table 7 shows the average number of prior law allegations for those violations where the youth was likely to have been referred previously.

STATUS OFFENSE REFERRALS

Status offense referrals represent 19 percent of all referrals to the juvenile system. These are referrals for offenses which would not be considered a law violation if committed by an adult.

STATUS OFFENSE REFERRALS BY SEX

The largest referral category in 1992 was absent from home (34%), followed by truancy, which accounted for another 25 percent. Graph 13 depicts the referrals by offense category for males and females. Male juveniles were a larger proportion than female juveniles in each offense category except habitually absent from home.

Status offense outcomes. Most status offense referrals were handled informally. The outcomes of adjustment without supervision and adjustment with no action accounted for almost one-half (48.7%) of all status offense referrals. Only 15 percent of status offense referrals were petitioned to court. Those that were handled formally usually received an outcome of in-home services provided by juvenile court personnel. (Graph 14)

Nearly 800 juveniles referred for status offenses were placed out of home. Most were either transferred to Division of Family Services (28.2%) or were directly served in Court Residential Care (28.4%) by the individual circuit. (Table 8)

The rate of pre-hearing placement is quite low for status offense referrals. (Table 9) Only 11 percent were held in pre-hearing placement. Of those who were held, 966 were held in secure detention. Runaways were the status offenders most likely to have been held in pre-hearing placement, and most likely to have been held in secure detention.

ABUSE, NEGLECT AND CUSTODY REFERRALS

The abuse, neglect and custody category encompasses a wide range of referrals. Children are referred as victims of abuse or neglect or when involved in custody disputes, transfers or terminations of parental rights. Over one-half (53.6%) of all referrals in this category were for the various types of neglect. The remaining referrals were about evenly divided between abuse cases and custody cases. A break down of all the allegations is found in Table 10. More children were referred as victims of improper care or supervision than any other allegation.

OUTCOMES OF ABUSE, NEGLECT AND CUSTODY REFERRALS

Abuse, Neglect and Custody outcomes.

Abuse, Neglect and Custody referrals were the most likely to be handled formally by the court. Petition was made to court in 42 percent of referrals. Another 21 percent were transferred directly to DFS or another agency without petition. By contrast, less than 20 percent of law referrals and only 15 percent of status referrals were handled formally. Graph 15 shows the distribution of outcomes for this category.

Of the 2,786 cases with an out-of-home placement outcome, 74 percent were placed to DFS. Of those with an outcome of transfer to other agency, 97 percent were transferred to DFS. This amounts to a total of 4,800 cases, or 35 percent of all referrals in this category being referred to DFS at some point.

Age distribution of A/N/C referrals. The types of referrals vary greatly by age. (Table 11) Younger children were more likely to be referred in neglect and custody cases. The youngest age group (0 to 3 years of age) accounted for over one-third (36%) of neglect referrals. The teenage group (12-15 years of age) was the largest group of alleged abuse victims referred, representing 28 percent of that category.
