CODEBOOK NOTES

1. The data are coded in ASCII format as raw data. Twenty-three records of up to 80 columns are used to code the data. Each row starts with a variable specified in the codebook. The codebook provides a short variable name for each variable, a longer descriptive label, the record number on which the variable is coded, the starting and ending column positions within the record, and the format used to code the variable. Fw.d refers to standard numeric format where w indicates the total number of columns used to code the variable, including any decimal points, and d indicates the number of positions to the right that are interpreted as decimals. String format -Aw- is used to read character data, in which w indicates the total column width of the character string.

2. The following acronyms are used throughout the codebook:
