HIGHLIGHTS

TOTAL CRIME RATE:

(Part I and Part II)

Delaware's crime rate rose slightly in 1994 after two consecutive years of declining rates. The state's total crime rate in 1994 was 240.3 reported crimes per 1,000 population, slightly higher than the 1993 rate of 235.9 per 1,000 population. Despite this increase, the 1994 crime rate still remains well below the 1991 rate of 252.4 per 1,000 population. A total of 169,588 crimes were reported to the police in 1994.

- PART I OFFENSES

(Violent and Property crime)

Part I offenses accounted for 23.7 percent of all reported-crimes in 1994. Reported Part I offenses rose by 8 percent, from 37,190 in 1993 to 40,158 in 1994. The Part I crime rate in 1994 was 56.9 reported crimes per 1,000 population, up from 53.7 in 1993.

⇒ PROPERTY

(Burglary, Larceny, Motor Vehicle Theft, and Arson)

Most of the increase in Part I crimes was caused by an increase in reported property crimes, which rose by 9 percent in 1994.

⇒ VIOLENT

(Homicide, Forcible Rape, Robbery and Aggravated Assault)

Reported Part I violent offenses fell by less than 1 percent in 1994. The modest reduction in reported violent crimes in 1994 was due mainly to fewer reported rapes and robberies.

- PART II OFFENSES

(All offenses not listed under Part I Property or Violent crime, including drugs)

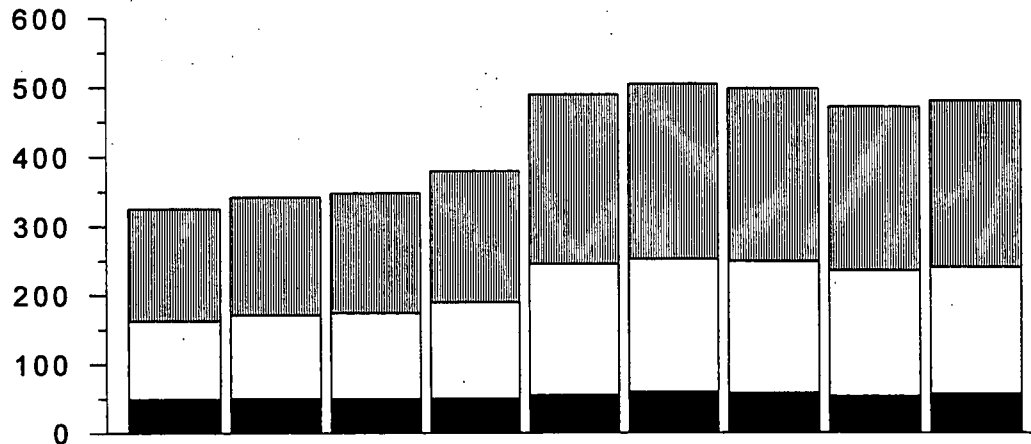

The Part II crime rate for Delaware rose from 182.2 reported crimes per 1,000 population in 1993 to 183.4 reported crimes per 1,000 population in 1994. The number of Part II offenses reported to the police in 1994 totaled 129,430, a 2.5 percent increase from the 1993 Part II total of 126,285 reported offenses.

- ILLICIT DRUG CRIMES

The Statewide number of complaints, arrests, and clearance rates for drug crimes has been dropping since 1991. The number of drug arrests for juveniles, however, has been increasing. In New Castle County, including all cities, drug arrests went down 35.3% since 1991. Between 1991 and 1993, Kent County drug arrest rates went down close to 20%, but then increased slightly in 1994. Sussex County drug arrest rates have increased by 26% since 1991.

Crime in Delaware 1994

VIOLENT CRIME

- Violent crimes include homicide, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault.
- The total number of reported violent crimes in Delaware declined slightly in 1994, although the overall trend in the past decade is an increase in the number of violent crime cases (the number of violent crimes have nearly doubled since 1986). The violent crime rate per 1,000 population did not increase, and has been fairly steady for the past 4 years.
- Sussex County reported the most violent crimes per 1,000 last year, with a violent crime rate of 7.43, mostly due to the high number of aggravated assaults, which accounted for over 75% of Sussex violent crime.
- New Castle County was next, with a violent crime rate of 7.35. New Castle County had the highest homicide rate. The robbery rate in New Castle County stands out, being more than double Kent's robbery rate, and nearly three times the robbery rate of Sussex County.
- Kent County had the least reported total violent crimes. Still, Kent had the most rapes per 1,000 and did not have the least violent crime in any of the specific reported areas.

Fourteen violent crimes occur in Delaware per day.

There are nearly nine aggravated assaults per day.

Forcible rapes occur in Delaware an average of one and one-half times per day.

ARRESTS AND CLEARANCES

- A complaint reported to police is considered cleared or solved once the police have identified the offender. One arrest may clear several crimes; therefore, the clearance rate is often higher than the arrest rate.
- The overall number of Part I violent crime arrests remained about the same as last year. Juveniles were arrested 2% less in 1994 for violent crime, and adults were arrested 1% more.
- For violent crimes, complaints and clearances have been fairly steady the last several years. There also have been few changes in arrest rates in the 90's. Of the reported offenses in 1993, 48.9% resulted in arrest, while the average for the past fifteen years is 46.3%.
- The overall number of Part I property crime arrests decreased by less than 2%. Juveniles were arrested more frequently than last year by 2.4%, while adults were arrested 3.9% less than last year for property crimes.
- For property crimes, complaints are up from 1993 by 7.4%, and clearances are down (10% since 1992). There is a decreasing trend in arrests rates, down 11.4% since 1991. The percentage of arrests by the number of reported property offenses was 18.9%, just about average for the last 15 year period, but down from 21.1% in 1993.

In 1994, one hundred and four people were arrested in Delaware daily (includes all Part I and Part II crimes).

Out of those one hundred and four arrests, eighty-six were adults, and eighteen were juveniles.

In comparison to arrests, police Statewide received a daily average of four hundred and sixty-five complaints. Two hundred and sixty-three of those complaints were cleared each day.

ILLICIT DRUGS

- Sussex County has the highest rates for illicit drug crimes, including complaints, arrests and clearances per 1,000 population. New Castle County has the least drug crime complaints, arrests and clearances per 1,000.
- Illicit drug complaint rates, clearance rates, and arrest rates have been dropping statewide since 1991. This decline is most easily recognized in New Castle County, where drug related complaints went down 22.6%, illicit drug clearance rates went down 21.6%, and arrest rates for drug offenders went down 35.3% since 1991.
- Within New Castle County, Wilmington's drug arrest have declined by nearly 46% since 1991 (1405 cases in 1991 to 759 in 1994), and 18.4% since 1993. Adult drug arrests have gone down faster and more steadily than juveniles, although there was a significant decrease in Wilmington juvenile arrests as well.
- There is a difference between adult and juvenile drug arrests. While the state arrest rates for drugs have generally been declining, the juvenile arrest rate for drugs has been increasing.

Crime Clock

Nearly seven individuals on average are arrested daily for illicit drug crimes.

Of those seven arrests daily, approximately 4.2 originate in New Castle County, 1.2 from Kent, and 1.3 from Sussex.

Of those seven arrests daily, an average of 5.6 are adults, and less than 1.2 are under the age of eighteen.

Uniform Crime Report (UCR) and Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) Data

Reporting of crime data in Delaware is based on Uniform Crime Report (UCR) data. While UCR data is detailed and accurate, there is often up to a year lag in UCR data availability. Accordingly, the last full year of UCR data for Delaware currently available is for 1994. In addition, Delaware's UCR year end data for 1995 may not be available until late 1996 or early 1997. As this time lag promotes significant delays in the measurement and analysis of crime activity in Delaware and accompanying criminal justice policies. The Statistical Analysis Center, in conjunction with the City of Wilmington Police Department, has begun to compare UCR data with the Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) data collected by the Wilmington Police Department. The CAD data represents the number of calls received by the Wilmington Police Department for police assistance and the corresponding type of crime under which the calls were dispatched from headquarters to officers. For example, a call the Wilmington Police Department receives from a citizen for police assistance for an assault will be counted in the CAD data as one assault. The CAD data, therefore, reflects the number of crime types for which officers were dispatched, whereas the UCR data, which is based on the officers written report, may report a different type of offense or possibly no offense at all after the officer completes an investigation of the call.

CAD Data as Early Indicator of Crime Trends

Although UCR and CAD data differ in scope and definition, CAD data, which is collected daily, often corresponds well to UCR. CAD data may be used as an early indicator of crime trends in recent time periods with a reasonable degree of accuracy.

Between 1993 and 1994, for instance, in all categories except drugs, when CAD calls increased, UCR complaints increased for similar categories as well.

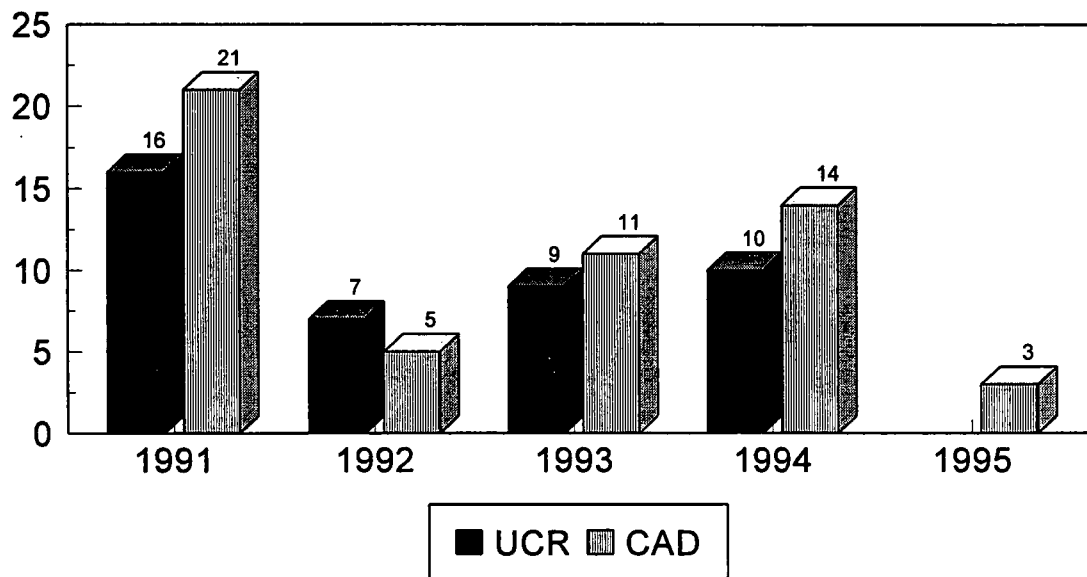

In the drug category, however, although CAD calls increased, there was a drop in UCR complaints. Several factors may explain the differences between related drug CAD calls and UCR complaints. First, there may be multiple CAD calls for one complaint event. Second, some CAD calls may not be substantiated. Finally, CAD calls may be reclassified by the investigating officer.
