FOREWORD

The Criminal Justice Directory Survey was conducted in 1970 by the Bureau of the Census under an interagency agreement with the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to obtain the names and addresses of all State and locally administered criminal justice agencies in the United States.

The results of the survey were published in March 1971 in a summary report presenting the number of criminal justice agencies in the United States by State, level of government within the State, and type of agency. In September 1971 a separate report was published for each State presenting the names and addresses of individual agencies.

There has been a continuing effort to keep the Directory up to date, and coverage has been expanded since 1970 to include agencies administered by small governments (less than 1,000 population).

This report presents an updated listing of the individual names and addresses of criminal justice agencies in the States comprising LEAA Region 3 (Delaware, District of Columbia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia).

Included are enforcement agencies, courts, prosecution and legal service agencies, defender agencies, correctional agencies and institutions, probation and parole agencies, and a miscellaneous "other" category. Tables showing the number of these agencies at each level of government are included for individual States and the United States as a whole. Similar reports are available for the other LEAA Regions.

INTRODUCTION

NATIONAL SUMMARY

The national criminal justice directory lists 57,575 criminal justice agencies administered by State and local governments. This number is based on the original data collected in 1970 as updated and corrected subsequently through in-house research and surveys. The original survey coverage (which excluded units of government with less than 1,000 population) has been expanded to include all municipalities and townships regardless of size.

Compared with the 46,197 agencies listed in the original report published in 1971, the number of criminal justice agencies has increased substantially. The increase is due more to improved coverage and definitional changes than to extensive changes in the State and local criminal justice systems. Although there have been significant organizational changes in some State and local governments, their effect on the number of agencies is minimal. Generally speaking, reorganizations, particularly in the courts sector, tend to reduce rather than increase the number of agencies.

<sup>1</sup>The increase in the number of agencies since the 1971 report is due primarily to expanded coverage of small governments and an intensive research effort rather than an actual increase in the number of criminal justice agencies.

Of the total number of agencies listed in the directory, more than one-third (20,158) are enforcement agencies (slightly less than one-third if coroners are excluded). There are nearly as many courts (17,583). Enforcement agencies, however, are found predominantly at the municipal and township level (72 percent), whereas courts are more evenly dispersed among State (24 percent), county (37 percent), and municipal and township (39 percent) governments. Overall, county governments administer the largest number of criminal justice agencies.

The number of criminal justice agencies in a State depends on the population, the number of units of government, and the organization of the criminal justice system in the State. Given these three factors, the variation is considerable from State to State. The average number of agencies per State is 1,151, ranging from 71 in Hawaii to 4,085 in Texas. There are six States with more than 2,000 agencies (Georgia, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas) and six States with less than 250 agencies (Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Nevada, Rhode Island, and Vermont).

Enforcement agencies

The directory lists a total of 18,451 general and special police agencies.<sup>1</sup> This number is significantly higher than the 14,806 reported in the original publication, because of expanded coverage of smaller governments rather than an increase in the number of police departments. Police protection is predominantly a local function; about two-thirds of all municipalities and about one-third of all strong townships<sup>2</sup> have police departments.

Courts

The directory counts show 17,583 courts as compared with 13,033 listed in the original publication in 1971. The increase in the number of <sup>1</sup>The National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals estimated that there may be as many as 7,000 additional police "departments" in the 19,910 small jurisdictions of less than 1,000 population. However, the Commission noted further that 80 percent of police departments have fewer than 10 employees and that the total number of officers in this group represents less than 10 percent of the full-time police officers of the Nation.

<sup>2</sup>By general law in New England, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, and to some degree in Michigan, New York, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments. Township governments in these States are referred to as "strong townships."

courts is a result of the intensive research effort accompanying the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the expansion of the directory to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. Actually the number of courts has been decreasing, notably in those States that have recently undertaken major reorganizations of their judicial systems (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia). The decrease in the number of courts in these States reflects the consolidation of certain major trial courts having specialized or overlapping jurisdiction into one general jurisdiction court (Virginia and Florida) or replacement of a multitude of lower courts by a unified statewide system of limited jurisdiction courts (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia).

State court systems are organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. At the lowest level are courts of limited and special jurisdiction, where the vast majority of legal actions begin (and end) and with which the average citizen has contact. These courts constitute 78 percent of the total number of courts and operate primarily at the local government level.

Courts of general jurisdiction operate exclusively at the State level in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels (Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Tennessee, West Virginia, and Wisconsin). In California and Ohio, general jurisdiction courts are found only at the local government level.

Appellate courts are all assigned to the State level except in the District of Columbia, where the Court of Appeals is classified as a municipal court.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

There are 8,739 prosecution and legal services agencies listed in the directory. This number is relatively unchanged from the 1971 publication, being less affected by the expanded coverage of smaller governments. For those prosecutors serving an entire judicial district, the directory includes only the main office and does not list assistants operating in geographically separate locations.

Agencies included in this sector do not necessarily prosecute criminal cases; particularly at the municipal level, the city attorney is primarily a legal advisor, both on civil and criminal matters. Prosecution may or may not be part of agency activities. However, to attain consistency of coverage between those governments where civil and criminal matters are handled either by the same or by separate agencies, all prosecution and legal service agencies were included.

Defender agencies

The number of publicly-administered defender agencies (524) has increased since 1971, presumably because of the impact of recent Supreme Court decisions and consequent legislation to assure legal counsel in criminal cases.

However, legal aid and indigent defense services are still handled for the most part under contractual or voluntary arrangements with private firms or the local bar association, rather than by a publicly-administered agency.

Correctional agencies and institutions

A total of 4,621 institutions with authority to detain adults only, or a combination of adults and juveniles, 48 hours or more, are included in the directory. The majority of the adult institutions are locally administered, including 65 percent at the county level and 21 percent at the municipal level.

Of the 847 public institutions with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles, 54 percent are locally administered. The increase in the number of agencies since 1971 (724 to 847) is accounted for by both survey research and the opening of new juvenile facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

There are 3,285 probation and parole agencies listed in this report, including 48 percent at the State level, 48 percent at the county level, and 4 percent at the municipal level. Intensive in-house research has increased the number of agencies listed by nearly 35 percent since the 1971 report (from 2,445 to 3,285 agencies).

Other criminal justice agencies

The agencies represented in this sector (e.g., Criminal justice planning agencies, court administrative offices, etc.) are administered primarily at the State level of government. Seventy percent of the 1,818 agencies listed under "other" are State-administered, and 30 percent are locally administered.

METHODOLOGY

In January 1970 the Bureau of the Census canvassed by mail each county in the United States and every municipality and township with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more persons, requesting the names and addresses of the criminal justice agencies and institutions administered by their government. Additional lists of State-level government criminal justice agencies were completed through in-house research efforts that also extended to the 54 counties with a 1960 population of 500,000 or more and 43 cities with a 1960 population of 300,000 or more. In all, 18,000 independent governments were canvassed. The mail canvass effort was supplemented by reference to a variety of published government documents such as budgets, organization manuals, and State, county, and municipal directories.

Through followup requests, a telephone call-back procedure and in-house research, 100 percent response was received for all States and counties. A response rate of 99 percent was attained for cities with a 1960 population of 25,000 or more. For the rest of the units (14,000 cities and townships with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more), a response rate of approximately 95 percent was finally achieved.

Since the original survey, updating has been carried out through surveys in various sectors and in-house research from secondary sources under an annual interagency agreement between the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the Bureau of the Census. In addition, the coverage of the directory was expanded through in-house research to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. The coverage of these units is not complete.

The most recent updating of the directory was accomplished in connection with the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the 1973 Juvenile Detention and Correction Facilities Census as well as through intensive in-house research in the probation and parole, and special police sectors.

In addition to updating the directory, the format of the listings was standardized and expanded to include the following elements: Government and agency identification codes; name of agency; title of chief administrative officer, if applicable; address, if any; city location; State, zip code and telephone number; National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier; name of municipality or township administering the agency, if applicable; county location; and 1970 population of unit of government administering the agency.

The criminal justice agencies in the directory are classified by type of agency and assigned to a particular level of government. The level of government is determined according to Census Bureau definitions as summarized below:

State. Agencies were assigned to the State level because they were administered by the State, because the agencies serve more than one local government, or because the agencies were administered in districts not having the same boundaries as single counties, municipalities, or townships.

Counties. Agencies administered by the county or serving more than one local government within the county were assigned to the county level of government. Organized county governments are found throughout the Nation, except for Connecticut, Rhode Island, the District of Columbia, and limited portions of a number of other States. In Alaska, the counties are officially designated as "boroughs" and in Louisiana "parishes." Some of the most populous cities in the Nation operate as composite city-county units and are included in the "municipalities" category.

Municipalities. Agencies were assigned to the municipal level of government if they were administered by the municipality. This category includes all active governmental units officially designated as cities, villages, boroughs (except for Alaska), and towns (except for the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin). This concept generally corresponds to the "incorporated places" that are recognized in Census Bureau reporting of population and housing statistics. Cities that are governmentally inactive were excluded from the survey. Agencies in unincorporated municipalities were excluded.

Of the 43 major local governments classed as cities for Census Bureau reporting on governments, Baltimore city, Norfolk, St. Louis city, and Washington, D.C., are entirely outside any county area. The following governments, either specifically by law or substantially in fact, operate as composite city-counties: Baton Rouge, Boston, Denver, Honolulu, Indianapolis, Nashville, New Orleans, New York City, Philadelphia, and San Francisco. All these cities, except Boston (Suffolk County), have most, if not all, of their criminal justice agencies assigned to the city level.

Townships. This category includes governmental units in 21 States, including those officially designated as towns in the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin; some "plantations" in Maine; "locations" in New Hampshire; and governments called townships in other areas.

Townships range widely in scope of governmental powers and operations. Most of them, particularly in the North Central States, perform only a limited range of services for predominantly rural areas. However, in New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and to some degree in New York, Michigan, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers, and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments.

More than 10,000 of the nearly 17,000 township governments had a population of less than 1,000 in 1970. Approximately one-half of the townships canvassed in the survey returned their questionnaires indicating they had no criminal justice agencies.

Special districts. Special districts make up the most varied area of local governments. Most special districts are established to perform a single function (e.g., fire protection, transportation, housing, recreation), but some have been given authority by their enabling legislation to provide several kinds of services. The only type of criminal justice agencies administered by a special district is enforcement agencies.

Independent school districts. These are school districts that are administratively and fiscally independent of any other unit of government. As is the case with special districts, enforcement agencies are the only criminal justice agencies administered by independent school districts (usually campus police or security forces).

Regional agencies. An agency serving more than one local government was generally assigned to either the largest government involved or to the next highest level of government depending on the type of agency involved. Classification was often based on the unique factors involved in the particular case, however, and a complete explanation of procedures would be impractical.

LIMITATIONS OF DATA

It should be noted that the majority of agency names and addresses were gathered from the original survey conducted in 1970. The listings and data in this report do reflect the annual updating that has taken place since the 1970 survey; however, this updating was accomplished through in-house research rather than surveys, for all sectors except courts and juvenile corrections.

In interpretation of the counts represented in this report, readers should keep in mind that the size and range of activity of criminal justice agencies may not always be reflected by simple counts, as the organizational complexity of various criminal justice systems varies considerably from one State to another and even from one agency to another within a single State. In comparing the counts in this report with those of the previous report, it should be noted that many changes in the numbers of agencies are a result of more complete agency coverage reflecting definitional changes, survey-related research, and better reference materials, as well as organizational changes in the criminal justice system.

Readers should be cautious in using the counts displayed by level of government. Although many agencies, particularly courts and probation agencies, are funded and administered by more than one level of government, each agency was counted only once. Refer to the "Definitions" section of the text for the guidelines used in assigning agencies to a single level of government.

DEFINITIONS OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE AGENCIES

Agencies in the criminal justice directory are grouped into the following categories:

- Enforcement agencies
- Courts
- Prosecution and legal services agencies
- Defender agencies
- Adult correctional institutions
- Juvenile correctional institutions
- Other correctional institutions
- Probation and parole agencies
- Other criminal justice agencies

Working definitions used to classify criminal justice agencies into the preceding nine categories are as follows:

Enforcement agencies. Included in this sector are police or law enforcement agencies with sworn officers (those with general power to arrest) administered by State or local governments (county, municipality, town, township, special district, or independent school district). For purposes of the directory the following definition was used: a sworn police officer "Has the power to suppress with force all breaches of the peace, riots, tumult and unlawful assemblies, power to serve all criminal process, including the power to arrest a person without a warrant if the person is apprehended in the process of committing an unlawful act or if he or she obtains 'speedy information' by other persons." This defines sworn police officers with general arrest powers. Police officers whose power to arrest is limited to a specific type of crime or subject matter were not included in the directory, to be consistent with the definitions of agencies in the police protection sector for the Criminal Justice Expenditure and Employment Survey (as recommended by the General Counsel at LEAA).

This definition encompasses all major law enforcement agencies, including State police, separate Bureaus of Identification, county sheriffs and police departments, and municipal and township police departments. Also included are all identifiable and independently administered special police forces such as park rangers, harbor police, housing police, and campus police regardless of the size of the force. Specialized branches, divisions, or departments of a general law enforcement agency are not listed as separate enforcement agencies.

Those counties, cities, towns, and villages whose police services are provided for under a contractual agreement with another government or private agency were not considered to have a police department. Therefore cities in Los Angeles County that contract with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department for police services (under the Lakewood Plan) are not included in the enforcement agency listings or counts. The same principle holds true for all similar contractual arrangements.

Marshals and constables whose primary duties are the serving of warrants were excluded from the survey where they were identifiable. Sheriffs were included regardless of the nature of official duties; most sheriffs' duties include some combination of law enforcement, operation of the jail, and service as an officer of the court. Most sheriffs serve at the county level of government, but since Rhode Island and Connecticut have no county government, the office of sheriff for these States is included as a State-level agency. Regulatory agencies such as Game Wardens, Alcoholic Beverage Control Boards, Bingo Boards, Gambling Boards, and the like were excluded unless officers are sworn police officers with general powers of arrest.

It should be noted that State, county, and municipal medical examiners and coroners were included in this sector. Consequently, the numbers under the heading "Enforcement Agencies" include police-type agencies and coroners in any given State. Of the total 20,158 law enforcement agencies shown, 1,707 are coroners.

Courts. This directory includes all State and local courts, organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. Specifically excluded from the survey were justices of the peace and similar magistrates whose compensation is solely on a direct basis. Also excluded were agencies performing essentially administrative functions, such as Workmen's Compensation Boards; Bank, Tax, and Industrial Review Boards; and Land Courts.

The listings in this publication include only units defined as "courts" or "court locations" by the National Survey of Court Organization (see definitions below); subdivisions and departments handling specific types of cases within a court were not included separately.

In most States courts were assigned to a level of government according to the geographical boundaries of the district served by the court system. That is, court systems whose jurisdiction is statewide or crosses county boundaries were assigned to the State level. Courts of general jurisdiction were assigned to the State level exclusively in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels. Courts with geographical jurisdiction exceeding the boundaries of a municipality, town, or township, but not necessarily extending throughout the county, were included at the county level. Courts whose geographical jurisdiction does not exceed the boundaries of the municipality, town, or township, were assigned to that respective level of government.

The basic criterion of geographic jurisdiction was used for classification in preference to administrative or financial responsibility, primarily because the latter criteria are difficult to determine with certainty. Consequently, the level of government to which a court is assigned is not as significant in this report as the type of jurisdiction which the court exercises. The following definitions and listings correspond to those developed through the National Survey of Court Organization.

Court system. A judicial agency established or authorized by constitutional or statutory law. A court system may consist of a single court or a group of two or more courts in the same judicial district.

Court. Each geographically separate locality at which a court system holds sessions (sits) and operates independently. The tables in this report are based on the number of courts.

State court. A court established or authorized under the constitution or laws of a State and concerned primarily with the judicial administration of State and local government laws; viz., all courts other than Federal courts.

Court of appellate jurisdiction. A court having jurisdiction of appeal and review, with original jurisdiction conferred only in special cases; includes both courts of last resort and intermediate appellate courts.

Court of general jurisdiction. A trial court of unlimited original jurisdiction in civil and/or criminal cases, also called "major trial court."

Court of limited or special jurisdiction. A trial court having legal jurisdiction only in a particular class of cases, e.g., probate, juvenile, traffic; or cases where the amount in controversy is below a prescribed sum; or cases subject to specific exceptions; e.g., courts limited to hearing civil cases with a maximum of $500 in controversy or criminal cases with a maximum penalty of $500 fine or 6-months sentence. Certain courts with unlimited civil jurisdiction but limited criminal jurisdiction were counted in this category.

Correctional institutions

Adult institutions. Included are correctional facilities operated by a State or local government that:

- hold adult or youthful offenders for at least 48 hours;
- are in a separate geographical location from other facilities, including subsidiaries of another facility, e.g., subsidiaries of a main institution at separate locations, such as camps, farms, halfway houses, pre-release centers, and work release centers; and
- are residential.

Specifically excluded are private facilities under contract to the State, nonresidential facilities, drunk tanks, lockups, and other facilities that detain persons for less than two days.

Juvenile institutions. Included are publicly operated juvenile detention and correctional facilities with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles. Juvenile detention centers that were part of adult jails were not included unless they had both a staff and a budget separate from the jails. An individual facility, such as a camp or annex, that was administratively dependent upon a parent institution was counted as a separate facility if it was located in a separate geographical area. Included are detention centers, halfway houses, group homes, ranches, forestry camps, farms, shelters, reception and diagnostic centers, and training schools.

Other correctional institutions. Included in this sector are publicly operated adult residential facilities and programs specifically for mentally ill criminals, drug addicts, and alcoholics.

Probation and parole agencies. Included are State and local government-operated agencies that administer or provide probation or parole services. These agencies may be independent, part of another criminal justice agency (usually the corrections department or court), or combined with other probation and parole agencies. Probation and parole agencies, like the courts, were assigned to a level of government based primarily on the geographical boundaries of their service districts.

Prosecution and legal services. Included are agencies providing legal counsel or other services to the State, county, or municipal government, most of which have some prosecutorial responsibility.

Many city attorneys were included, though the number of cases they prosecute may be small. Without a special survey it is impossible to determine the extent to which a city attorney prosecutes or provides legal counsel.

In States where the prosecutor for the court of general jurisdiction serves a judicial circuit including more than one county, the prosecutor was assigned to the State level. Where the prosecutor serves only one county, the agency was counted at the local level. Deputy prosecutors, deputy circuit solicitors, and assistant district attorneys were not listed separately (though the office may be geographically separate), but were considered a part of the main office.

Defender agencies. Included are public defender offices staffed by salaried public employees and administered as a department of government by State, county, or municipal governments. State-, county-, or city-dependent law schools with legal aid clinics were included in this category. Any organizations or programs administered by a nongovernmental body (e.g., legal aid society, bar association) or providing services on a contractual basis were excluded even though supported entirely by public funds. For these reasons the number of defender agencies is not an accurate reflection of the activity in the defense of indigents.

Other criminal justice agencies. Included in this sector are criminal justice agencies not falling within the definitions of the other sectors, particularly agencies performing administrative services for operational agencies, e.g., Department of Public Safety or Department of Corrections. Agencies commonly assigned to this sector are: Police administrative bodies, court administrators, judicial councils, probation administration, corrections administrative offices and training, police academies, crime laboratories, programs for drug addicts and alcoholics, State planning agencies, criminal justice planning agencies, and various boards and commissions. Most of these agencies are administered by the State governments.

USERS GUIDE

This publication consists of name and address listings of criminal justice agencies arranged by State, type of agency, and level of government. Each agency name and address is followed by a National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier that uniquely identifies the agency; most agencies also have the name of the county in which the agency is located.

The agencies for each State are listed together in the following sequence:

- Enforcement agencies
  - State level
  - County level (in alphabetical order by name of county)
  - Municipal level (in alphabetical order by name of city)
  - Town or township level (in alphabetical order by name of town or township)
  - Special district level
  - Independent school district level
- Courts (Level of government sequence is the same as above within each sector)
  - State level, county level, etc....

INTRODUCTION

An NCIC identifier follows each agency listing. This seven- or nine-digit identifier was assigned to each agency in the directory. Enforcement agencies and certain other agencies with NCIC identifiers assigned by the FBI retained this seven-digit number. All other agencies in the Directory were specially assigned a nine-digit identifier according to the following scheme:

Digits	Explanation	Example
Digits 1-2	Two-letter state abbreviation (same as Post Office abbreviation)	AL
Digits 3-5	County number as designated by the NCIC Manual	001
Digits 6-7	Unit number of agency by type within each level of government and county	01
Digit 8	Level of Government 0...Special District, School District 1...City, town, or township 3...County 5...State	3
Digit 9	Type of Agency A - Prosecution, legal services C - Correctional institution D - Defender E - State planning agency G - Probation or parole J - Court M - Coroner or medical examiner Y - All other agencies Z - Police agency not in NCIC Manual	J

Example: Jefferson County Probate Court
Birmingham, Alabama

DELAWARE

Delaware ranks 46th among the States in population and has one Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) in Wilmington. There are three county governments and 52 municipal governments known as cities and towns. The major components of Delaware's criminal justice system are:

Enforcement - Department of Public Safety-
State Police
County sheriffs
County police
Municipal police
Special police

Courts - Supreme Court
Superior courts
Chancery courts
Courts of common pleas
Justice courts
Family courts
Registers' courts
Municipal courts
Aldermen's courts

Prosecution - Department of Justice - Attorney General
City solicitors

Public Defender - Public Defender's Office

Corrections - Department of Health and Social Services
Division of Adult Corrections
Division of Juvenile Corrections

Probation and Parole - Department of Health and Social Services
Division of Adult Corrections
Division of Juvenile Corrections
Family courts

Enforcement agencies

The Delaware State Police are part of the Department of Public Safety and have primary responsibility for law enforcement in the State. The Delaware River and Bay Authority Police (a bi-State agency) have full police power on the bridges, with jurisdiction on the New Jersey side as well. In each of the three counties there is an elected sheriff, who is maintained by the State. The sheriff and his deputies have the power to arrest but are not considered police agencies. The large cities and some incorporated rural areas have their own police departments, but unincorporated areas are patrolled by the State Police. The suburban areas of Delaware are policed almost exclusively by the State Police, except in New Castle County, where the county police department shares the responsibility.

Courts

The court system in Delaware consists of the Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction); superior courts and chancery courts (courts of general jurisdiction); courts of common pleas, justice courts, family courts, registers' courts, municipal courts, and aldermen's courts. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, who is responsible for the administration of all courts, appoints the director of the Administrative Office of the Courts. The duties of the director include the preparation of the budget, collection of statistics, and administration of nonjudicial activities of the courts.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General is elected to serve as head of the Department of Justice. As chief legal officer, he is responsible for directing all criminal proceedings that involve violation of State law; for providing legal advice and opinions to the officers and agencies of the State; and for representing the State in all legal proceedings and actions.

Public defender agencies

Authorized as a State-level office in 1964, the Public Defender is appointed for a term of 6 years by the Governor to provide legal counsel to all indigent defendants. The Public Defender appoints an assistant in each of the three counties.

Correctional agencies and institutions

Under the Department of Health and Social Services are the Division of Adult Corrections and the Division of Juvenile Corrections. The Division of Adult Corrections operates all adult correctional institutions and provides probation and parole services, halfway houses, and community-based services. The Division of Juvenile Corrections operates detention and rehabilitation facilities, schools, homes, and youth centers. The Division is moving to accelerate efforts to de-institutionalize services and establish more community-based programs. There are no locally operated correctional facilities in Delaware.

Probation and parole agencies

The Bureau of Community Services within the Division of Adult Corrections provides probation and parole supervision for adults. Juvenile probation is the responsibility of the family court in each county; aftercare is handled by the community services section of the Division of Juvenile Corrections.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The District of Columbia ranks 41st in population in relation to the States and comprises part of the Washington, D.C. - Maryland - Virginia Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA). The major components of the criminal justice system are:

Enforcement - Metropolitan Police Department

Courts - Court of Appeals
Superior Court

Prosecution - Corporation Counsel

Public
Defender - Public Defender Service

Corrections - Department of Corrections
Department of Human Resources - Social Rehabilitation Administration

Probation
and Parole - Board of Parole
Department of Corrections
Superior Court Social Services Division

Enforcement agencies

The Metropolitan Police Department enforces local and locally applicable Federal statutes, regulations, and ordinances. Special police are employed by Federal agencies to protect the U.S. Capitol, the Supreme Court, the White House, U.S. parks, the Library of Congress, foreign embassies, chanceries, and missions, and Federal government buildings and properties.

Courts

The District of Columbia court system consists of the Court of Appeals (court of appellate jurisdiction) and the Superior Court (court of general jurisdiction).

The Superior Court has four divisions: criminal, civil, family and tax. In the criminal area, the Superior Court has jurisdiction over all prosecutions for violation of municipal regulations, all misdemeanors, traffic offenses, all local felony offenses, and violations of Federal narcotics law.

The District of Columbia's courts are administered by an executive officer, who is appointed by the Joint Committee on Judicial Administration, made up of the Chief Judge and an associate judge of the Court of Appeals; and the Chief Judge and two associate judges of the Superior Court.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Corporation Counsel is the chief legal officer for the District of Columbia and prosecutes all criminal cases not handled by the U.S. Attorney's Office, defends all suits against the District and its officers, employees, and agents arising out of the performance of official duties, and renders legal advice to city officials. The corporation counsel is responsible for the enforcement of more than 600 local statutes.

Public defender agencies

The Public Defender Service represents adult and juvenile indigents through its own staff and also has the responsibility for establishing and coordinating a supplemental system for appointment of private attorneys. The Service is organized into the following branches: legal services; investigative services; social services; and appointment-of-counsel program.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The District of Columbia Department of Corrections is responsible for adult and youth corrections. Facilities include the District of Columbia Jail, Women's Detention Center, Lorton Central Facility, youth centers, community correctional centers, and various juvenile facilities with rehabilitation programs involving academic and vocational training and work-release. Community correctional centers provide supervision and rehabilitation for parolees and misdemeanants.

MARYLAND

Maryland ranks 18th among the States in population with one Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) in Baltimore. There are 23 county governments and 151 municipal governments (known as cities and towns), including Baltimore city, which is an independent city wholly outside any county area. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services - State Police
County sheriffs
County police
Municipal police
Special police
- Courts - Court of Appeals
Court of Special Appeals
Circuit courts
District courts
Orphans' courts
- Prosecution - Law Department - Attorney General
State's attorneys
- Public Defender - State Public Defender
- Corrections - Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services
Department of Health and Mental Hygiene - Department of Juvenile Services
County jails
- Probation and Parole - Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services
Department of Juvenile Services
Board of Parole

Enforcement agencies

The Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services, which includes the State Police, serves as a coordinating body for State level police agencies. Special police include those within other State agencies, such as the Department of Natural Resources and State colleges and universities. Although there is no formal coordination of State and local police agencies, the State Police provide assistance upon request to local police agencies. Each county and Baltimore city elect a sheriff every 4 years to serve civil papers and maintain a jail. There are also county police departments in Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Howard, Montgomery, and Prince Georges Counties and municipal police departments, the majority of which are small departments, which rely on the State, county, or large municipal police forces for assistance and general support.

Courts

The court system in Maryland consists of the Court of Appeals and the Court of Special Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and district courts and orphans' courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction). The Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, who is the administrative head of the judicial system, appoints the director of the administrative office of the courts. The director is responsible for assisting the Chief Judge with the administration of the courts, including preparation of budget estimates and making recommendations to the Chief Judge relating to the assignment of judges.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General heads the Law Department and is elected for a four-year term. Each county and Baltimore city elect a State's attorney for a four-year term. The State's attorneys prosecute all criminal offenses at the trial level, while the Law Department handles all of the State's cases at the appellate level.

Public defender agencies

On January 1, 1972, a statewide public defender system was implemented for the purpose of providing indigent defendants with necessary legal services in courts of both limited and general jurisdiction. There is an appointed public defender, who administers the system; a deputy public defender; and a district public defender for each district court area.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services includes the Division of Correction, which operates institutions, camps, and reception and diagnostic centers and cooperates with private groups to obtain placement of their clients in community-based residential facilities. The jails at the municipal and county levels are operated and supported solely by the local governments; rehabilitation programs are rarely found in these institutions.

The Department of Health and Mental Hygiene includes the Department of Juvenile Services, which operates intake, probation, and aftercare; training schools and forestry camps and group residences; as well as detention facilities and prevention programs.

Probation and parole agencies

The Division of Probation and Parole within the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services provides adult parole services to the Board of Parole and adult probation services for the courts.

The Division of Juvenile Court Services within the Department of Juvenile Services is responsible for administering and providing juvenile probation and parole services.

PENNSYLVANIA

Pennsylvania ranks third among the States in population and has the following 13 Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton, Altoona, Erie, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Lancaster, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Reading, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre-Hazleton, Williamsport, and York. There are 66 county governments, 1,012 municipal governments (known as cities and boroughs), and 1,552 township governments. One county area, Philadelphia, lacks any distinctive county government, being substantially consolidated with the city of Philadelphia for governmental purposes. Because the area functions primarily as a city, it is counted as a municipality rather than a county. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

Enforcement - State Police
County sheriffs
County detectives
Municipal police

Courts - Supreme Court
Superior Court
Commonwealth Court
Courts of common pleas
Municipal Court of Philadelphia
City Court of Pittsburgh
Housing Court of Pittsburgh
Justice of the peace courts
Traffic courts

Prosecution - Department of Justice-
Attorney General
County district attorneys

Public Defender - County public defenders

Corrections - Department of Justice-Bureau of Correction
Department of Public Welfare-
Bureau of Youth Services
County jails and prisons
Municipal jails
County juvenile facilities

Probation and Parole - Board of Probation and Parole
Juvenile Court Judges
Commission
County probation departments

Enforcement agencies

The Pennsylvania State Police may make arrests for all violations of the law throughout the Commonwealth. The State Police provide law enforcement in the rural areas of Pennsylvania and also provide criminal investigation assistance to local agencies.

Sheriffs are elected in each county and help maintain order throughout the county, a duty shared with State and local police. In small counties the sheriff controls the county correctional institutions. Each district attorney may appoint a county detective, who aids local officials in criminal investigations, primarily through utilization of laboratory facilities.

Municipal police enforce municipal ordinances and also have authority to enforce Federal and State laws.

Courts

The Pennsylvania court system consists of: Supreme Court, Superior Court, and Commonwealth Court (courts of appellate jurisdiction); courts of common pleas (courts of general jurisdiction); Municipal Court of Philadelphia, City Court and Housing Court of Pittsburgh, traffic courts, and justice of the peace courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Supreme Court appoints a court administrator who manages the entire court system. The responsibilities of the office include collecting and interpreting statistical data, preparing court budgets, and assigning judges.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General, the chief prosecutor for the Commonwealth, has authority to coordinate existing practices and policies among county district attorneys. The district attorneys, who are elected in each county, are responsible for the prosecution of all criminal cases. In some counties they also represent the government in civil cases.

Public defender agencies

In 1968 the Pennsylvania Constitutional Convention made the defense of the indigent a county responsibility. Each county provides public defender services; however, only ten counties maintain full-time legal counselors in that capacity.

In Philadelphia, defense of the indigent is undertaken by the Defender Association, a quasi-governmental agency which receives support from the city and the United Fund. It maintains a staff of full-time attorneys.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Bureau of Correction maintains a statewide system of institutions primarily intended to provide custody. These institutions include State correctional institutions, a regional correctional facility, community treatment centers, and group homes. There also exists in each county and some municipalities, facilities which operate independently of each other and of the State system. Pennsylvania is among the few States with a significant proportion of sentenced felons serving their sentences in local institutions. The Bureau has the authority to set standards, inspect, and recommend improvements within these institutions, but does not have authority to enforce the standards.

The Bureau of Youth Services in the Department of Public Welfare is responsible for institutions caring for adjudicated delinquents. State institutions include youth development centers, youth forestry camps, and a day treatment center. A number of counties operate their own juvenile facilities, often making them available to neighboring governments.

Probation and parole agencies

The Pennsylvania Board of Probation and Parole, an Independent State agency, is authorized to establish standards, provide pre-sentence investigations, and extend probation supervision for counties upon request of a judge of the court of common pleas. County adult probation services are administered locally through the common pleas court of each county. The organization of the county probation departments varies throughout the State; adult and juvenile probation may be administered separately or together. The Board has full responsibility for the parole and supervision of adults sentenced by the courts to a maximum of two years or more. County probation departments supervise parolees from shorter sentences. The Board has begun a decentralization process to localize operations in order to provide more intensive and effective services. It is also developing residential and diagnostic treatment facilities known as intensive parole units.

Juvenile probation services are administered by the common pleas courts, either as part of the adult probation program or separately. The Juvenile Court Judges Commission within the Department of Justice administers the services statewide. The same staff in the counties is responsible for juvenile parole.

VIRGINIA

Virginia ranks 14th among the States in population and has the following six Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Lynchburg, Newport News-Hampton, Norfolk-Virginia Beach-Portsmouth, Petersburg-Colonial Heights-Hopewell, Richmond, and Roanoke. There are 96 county governments and 231 municipal governments known as cities and towns. The count of municipal governments includes 38 "independent cities," which differ from other municipalities in that they do not lie within the boundaries of any county and accordingly perform county-type as well as municipal functions. The major components of Virginia's criminal justice system are:

Enforcement - Department of State Police
County and city sheriffs
County police
City and town police
Special police

Courts - State Supreme Court
Circuit courts
General district courts

Prosecution - Department of Law - Attorney General
Commonwealth attorneys
Town attorneys

Public Defender - State Public Defender
Commission
Public defenders

Corrections - Department of Welfare and Institutions
County jails
Municipal jails
Regional and municipal juvenile facilities

Probation and Parole - Department of Welfare and Institutions
Probation and Parole Board
Central Office of Court Services
County departments of public welfare

Enforcement agencies

The Department of State Police is responsible for highway safety and the enforcement of the criminal laws of Virginia. The Department also assists local law enforcement officers with the investigation of crimes, including drug violations, and the handling of civil disturbances. The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, also a State-level agency, employs enforcement officers with general powers of arrest.

Each county has an elected sheriff, who is responsible, in most counties, for law enforcement and maintaining the jail. Several counties also have a county police force; however, under Virginia law, the sheriff's department retains criminal jurisdiction in the county even when there is a county police force.

Each city in Virginia has a municipal police department. In first class (independent) cities, there is a city sheriff (a constitutional officer analagous to the county sheriff) who is the jailer. Many of Virginia's towns have a small police department. Those without an organized police department depend on the county sheriff or police for law enforcement.

Courts

In 1973 Virginia adopted a new judicial organization, which provides for three types of courts: Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction), circuit courts (courts of general jurisdiction), and general district courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction), which include juvenile and domestic relations divisions.

The Supreme Court appoints a State Court Administrator, who handles the payroll and personnel records for the courts and provides administrative assistance.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General, who is elected to a 4-year term as the chief officer of the Department of Law, represents the State in all criminal appeals to the State Supreme Court. The Department has a technical assistance unit which provides various services to judges, attorneys, and police officers.

The commonwealth's attorney is the chief prosecuting officer in both cities and counties. Towns rely on the town attorney to handle civil matters and the county commonwealth's attorney to prosecute violations of town ordinances.

Public defender agencies

The 1972 General Assembly approved legislation to establish the Public Defender Commission. Made up of five members, it was charged with establishing and staffing public defender offices in the State. At the time this report was prepared, two such offices had been established, one in Virginia Beach and one in Staunton. These offices perform the duties previously performed by private attorneys appointed on a per-case basis.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Division of Corrections in the Department of Welfare and Institutions is responsible for treatment, custody, and rehabilitation of offenders. It operates a penitentiary, State farms, a center for prerelease activity, and field units involved in highway maintenance, agriculture, and work and study release.

City and county jails, operated by sheriffs and city sergeants, hold both felons and misdemeanants. Federal and State aid have helped in the development of work-release programs, recreational facilities, and Offender Aid and Restoration (OAR) programs.

The Division of Youth Services, also in the Department of Welfare and Institutions, is responsible for the diagnosis and treatment of delinquent children. The Division provides direct and consultative services to courts, probation departments, local departments of public welfare, and local jurisdictions in the development of group homes. It operates the Reception and Diagnostic Center, Juvenile Vocational Institute, camps and schools, and community youth homes (halfway houses). Juvenile facilities at the local level are operated by cities, counties, and regional groups of governments.

Probation and parole agencies

The Virginia Probation and Parole Board is a part of the Department of Welfare and Institutions but functions independently and is accountable directly to the Governor. The Board is responsible for adult probation and parole. The probation and parole officers, who serve 21 probation and parole districts, are both officers of the circuit courts and field agents for the Board.

The Division of Youth Services, also in the Department of Welfare and Institutions, administers juvenile probation and parole and provides direct services to the probation departments of the courts and to local departments of public welfare. It is the responsibility of the Central Office of Court Services to see that probation and after-care services meet minimum standards established by the State Board of Welfare and Institutions and the courts.

WEST VIRGINIA

West Virginia ranks 34th among the States in population and has four Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Charleston, Huntington-Ashland, Parkersburg-Marietta, and Wheeling. There are 55 county governments and 226 municipal governments known as cities, towns, and villages. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

Enforcement - Department of Public Safety-
State Police
County sheriffs
Municipal police
Special police

Courts - Supreme Court of Appeals
Circuit courts
Statutory courts
County courts
Justice courts
Municipal courts

Prosecution - State Attorney General
Prosecuting attorneys
City attorneys

Public
Defender - No governmental agencies

Corrections - Department of Public Institutions
County jails
County juvenile facilities

Probation
and Parole - Department of Public Institutions-Division of Correction
Board of Probation and Parole
Department of Public Welfare-
Division of Child Welfare
County probation departments

Enforcement agencies

The primary State-level law enforcement agency is the State Police within the Department of Public Safety, which provides general police services and criminal investigation and is responsible for the patrol of State highways. The State Police are authorized to make arrests throughout the State. The Department assists local police with communications and laboratory service. Special police at the State level include those employed by the Department of Natural Resources and State university campus security police officers.

At the county level the sheriff, who is elected, has the responsibility for the operation of the county jail. The other law enforcement services provided by the sheriff vary from county to county.

Most of the larger municipalities have established police agencies, although some have only one or two officers and limited services. Those municipalities without police agencies rely on the services of the county sheriff and the State police.

Courts

The court system in West Virginia is made up of the following courts: The Supreme Court of Appeals (court of appellate jurisdiction), circuit courts and statutory courts (courts of general jurisdiction), and county courts, justice courts, and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

There is an administrative office of the Supreme Court of Appeals, whose administrative officer is appointed by the court and has general direction of all offices of justices of the peace, examines the dockets of various courts, prepares statistical data reports and makes recommendations when requested by the Supreme Court of Appeals.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General, who is elected, advises other State agencies and officials and, when requested to do so, assists local prosecutors on criminal appeals to the Supreme Court. The office of the Attorney General has also provided in-service training programs for prosecutors.

All criminal cases are originally prosecuted by the county prosecuting attorneys. Each county elects a prosecuting attorney for a four-year term. The enumerated duties of each prosecuting attorney are broad in scope and include prosecution of violations of any penal law, appeals from lower courts, and attending to civil suits in which the State and/or the county are interested.

Violations of city ordinances are prosecuted in municipal courts by the arresting officer or a city attorney (also known as the city solicitor). Appeals brought to the circuit or statutory courts are prosecuted by the county prosecuting attorney.

Public defender agencies

Defense counsel for indigents is provided by court-appointed attorneys in the circuit or statutory courts. Indigent defense is not provided in justice or municipal courts, but there are plans to establish three public defender projects in areas of high crime incidence.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Division of Correction is responsible to the Commissioner of Public Institutions for the programs and operation of the Penitentiary, State Prison, correctional centers, industrial schools and forestry camps.

The Commissioner of Public Institutions is responsible for the custody of juveniles and for the establishment of specialized programs and the movement of the appropriate juveniles into those programs.

All counties have at least one local adult detention facility, and there are some city or county-operated juvenile detention facilities and group homes.

Probation and parole agencies

On the State level, the Division of Correction in the Department of Public Institutions is responsible for adult probation and parole services and juvenile parole. The Division of Child Welfare in the Department of Public Welfare administers and provides for juvenile probation services. The probation and parole officers of these two State agencies are normally assigned to a circuit or statutory court. Some county governments provide probation services for adults and/or juveniles, supplementing the State services.

Parole for adults is granted, denied, or revoked by the Board of Probation and Parole.
