TO: The Honorable Chief Justice and Justices of the Supreme Court

FROM: Judge Alexander F. Barbieri

The year 1975, my first year as your Court Administrator, was a year of planning and expansion of activities and programs in all areas in which the Administrative Office must function. Important new interests were developed during the year and new responsibilities were assumed and implemented. While details of all programs and activities are to be found in the report which follows, including the information and data previously distributed in three separate publications, I would like to briefly note here some of the new projects and programs initiated in 1975.

Recognizing that communications and information are vital keys to effective administration of statewide judiciary systems, a Director of Court Information Systems was appointed to head up a new Information Services Department. The Department is engaged in conducting pilot programs in several counties, and provides advice and assistance to county systems to improve and modernize record keeping, filing and reporting, with special assistance in judicial districts having or planning automated management systems.

When the Attorney General ruled early in the year in a formal opinion that his Office would discontinue legal services to Pennsylvania's Judiciary, a Legal Services Department was established, basically to provide litigation services and representation to judges and others in the judiciary systems. This new department, in addition, provides legal opinions and advice internally for the use and guidance of all Administrative Office departments.

With continuing education for all branches of the Judiciary as the anticipated goal, the Pennsylvania College of the Judiciary was founded. As in previous years, judicial education continued to be a joint product of this Office and the Pennsylvania Conference of Trial Judges, with new vitality provided to benefit all educational programs when the Court made orientation and indoctrination seminars. mandatory for a large class of new judges.

Legislature relations were made a separate and special area of concern and interest in 1975. Aside from daily attention paid by the Administrative Office to the flow of proposed legislation affecting the Judiciary, the Office was honored and pleased to serve as secretariat and staff for the innovative, nine-member liaison committee, established jointly by your Court and the Legislature.

Constable affairs and activities also received attention. Educational programs were planned and are being implemented. A Task Force, sponsored by this Office, is now studying proposals to improve and further professionalize these important aides to the Judiciary.

In concluding, I wish to acknowledge and extend thanks for the help I received during the first year of my service: to the Chief Justice for his patient and daily advice and other assistance, and to the entire Court for total support and encouragement; to my dedicated staff and supporting personnel, whose quality, high morale and devotion to duty are exceptional in my experience; and to the hundreds of judiciary officers and clerks at all levels for their cooperation in the work of this Office, and for providing the information that has made possible the presentation of statistical and other data in this report.

Respectfully submitted, .

PART I

Organization and Jurisdiction of the Unified Judicial System of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

PART I ORGANIZATION AND JURISDICTION OF THE UNIFIED JUDICIAL SYSTEM OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

On May 23, 1968 Pennsylvania voters approved the structure for a modern, revitalized consitution. While many parts of the 1874 Constitution were retained, four sections received major revisions. These sections were: Legislative apportionment, taxation and state finance, local government, and the judiciary.

Among the proposals adopted for judicial reform were a unified court system under the administration of the State Supreme Court, a major program to upgrade and decrease membership in the minor judiciary, merit retention of judges after election to their first terms, mandatory retirement at age 70 of all state judges and justices of the peace, a Constitutional guarantee of the right of appeal in all cases, and a judicial board of inquiry and review.

Article V, Section 1 of the 1968 Constitutional Amendment provides that "The judicial power of the Commonwealth shall be vested in a unified judicial system consisting of the Supreme Court, the Superior Court, the Commonwealth Court, courts of common pleas, community courts, municipal and traffic courts in the City of Philadelphia, such other courts as may be provided by law and justices of the peace. All courts and justices of the peace and their jurisdiction shall be in this unified judicial system."

THE SUPREME COURT

Organization: The Supreme Court, the Commonwealth's highest court and Court of last resort, has a membership of seven, six associate justices and a Chief Justice, who is the justice longest in continuous service. A justice is elected to a first term of office (ten years) in a partisan election, with retention election to subsequent terms until the mandatory retirement age of 70. Retention election is accomplished in a nonpartisan election in which the voter simply answers by a "yes or no" vote the question whether the justice should be retained. Justices may be appointed by the Governor to fill vacancies, but are required to run for reelection in the first judicial election ten or more months after such appointment.

The sixty-seven counties of the state, in fiftynine judicial districts, are divided into three Supreme Court Districts. The Western District is comprised of 22 counties with its prothonotary's (clerk's) office located in the City of Pittsburgh; the Middle District consists of eight counties with its prothonotary's office located in the City of Harrisburg; and the Eastern District consists of all the other counties of the Commonwealth with its prothonotary's office located in the City of Philadelphia.

Jurisdiction: Jurisdiction of courts has remained constitutionally a legislative matter, although the 1968 constitutional amendments conferred broad rule-making power upon the Supreme Court. The legislature acted to implement the new constitutional provisions with the comprehensive "Appellate Court Jurisdiction Act of 1970", one interesting feature of which is a form of veto power in the legislature, exercisable on the Supreme Court's power to assign or reassign "classes of actions or classes of appeals among the several courts. . . as needs of justice shall require."

- 1. Original Jurisdiction The Supreme Court has original, but not exclusive, jurisdiction of cases of habeas corpus, mandamus or prohibition to courts of inferior jurisdiction, and quo warranto as to any officer of statewide jurisdiction.
- 2. Direct Appeals from Courts of Common Pleas The Supreme Court has exclusive jurisdiction of appeals from final orders of the courts of common pleas in cases involving felonious homicide, the right to public office, probate or "orphans' court" matters, direct criminal contempt and other contempt relating to matters which are appealable directly to the Supreme Court; suspension or disbarment from the practice of law and disciplinary orders or sanctions relating thereto; supersession of a county district attorney by an Attorney General or by a court; matters involving a direct question as to the right or power of the Commonwealth or any political subdivision to create or issue indebtedness; "matters where the court of common pleas has held invalid as repugnant to the Constitution, treaties or laws of the United States, or to the Constitution of this Commonwealth, any treaty or law of the United States or any provision of the Constitution of, or of any act of Assembly of, this Commonwealth, or any provision of any home rule charter."

- 3. Appeals from the Commonwealth Court The Supreme Court has exclusive jurisdiction of appeals from all final orders of the Commonwealth Court entered in any matter which was originally commenced in that court, and which does not constitute an appeal from another court. an administrative agency or a justice of the peace, except that any final order of the Commonwealth Court entered in any appeal from a decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue is appealable to the Supreme Court, as of right.
- 4. Discretionary Allowance Appeals Final orders of the Superior Court and final orders of the Commonwealth Court, not appealable as of right, may be reviewed by the Supreme Court upon allowance of appeal by any two justices of the Supreme Court.
- 5. Extraordinary Jurisdiction The Supreme Court is also provided with certain extraordinary jurisdiction, in that it may, on its own motion or upon petition of a party, assume plenary jurisdiction and decide finally any matter pending before any court or justice of the peace, if it involves an issue of immediate public importance.

THE SUPERIOR COURT

Organization: The Superior Court, like all Pennsylvania appellate courts, is composed of seven judges, the longest in continuous service being the President Judge. These judges are elected for terms of ten years, with retention reelection permitted thereafter until the age of 70, as with Justices of the Supreme Court. Judges appointed to fill vacancies must also face election at the first election ten months or more after appointment.

The counties of the commonwealth are divided by the Superior Court into three districts approximating the Supreme Court alignments, with filings and arguments similarly in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

Jurisdiction

- 1. Original Jurisdiction The Superior Court has no original jurisdiction, except habeas corpus, and mandamus and prohibition to lower courts in matters within its regular appellate jurisdiction.
- 2. Appeals from Courts of Common Pleas The Superior Court has exclusive appellate jurisdiction in all appeals from final orders of courts of common pleas, regardless of the nature of the controversy or the amount involved, except the specified classes of appeals which are exclusively within the jurisdiction of the Supreme and Commonwealth Courts.

THE COMMONWEALTH COURT

Organization: The Commonwealth Court is composed of seven judges, the judge with the longest period of continuous service being its President Judge. This was a newly created court in 1970, with initial statutory terms of two, four, six and eight years. New terms that follow are for ten years, with subsequent retention terms as with other courts until age 70.

Regular sessions of the court are generally held at the seat of government in the City of Harrisburg, but meetings are also scheduled in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Jurisdiction: Basically, this innovative court, sometimes called "the government court", has jurisdiction in civil proceedings in which the state, or an official of that government, or of any of its subdivisions, or of any government agency, is involved.

- 1. Original Jurisdiction The Commonwealth Court has original jurisdiction in civil actions or proceedings involving the Commonwealth or any of its officers when acting in an official capacity, except such habeas corpus or post-conviction applications as are not within the appellate jurisdiction of the court. This original jurisdiction of the Commonwealth Court is exclusive, except that when the relief is sought by the Commonwealth or by an officer acting in his official capacity, the courts of common pleas have concurrent jurisdiction.
- 2. Appeals from Courts of Common Pleas The Commonwealth Court has exclusive jurisdiction of appeals in the civil, government areas previously noted, from the courts of common pleas, except in classes of appeals which are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. This includes criminal actions or proceedings for the violation of any rule, regulation or order of any administrative agency of the Commonwealth; appeals involving administrative agencies, when determinable initially in the common pleas; actions or proceedings arising under any county, institution district, city, borough, incorporated town, township, public school, planning or zoning code, or where a municipality or other political subdivision or authority is involved; or where a question is raised as to the application, interpretation or enforcement of (i) certain regulatory statutes, or (ii) any home rule charter or local ordinance or resolution. Specifically, the Commonwealth Court is given exclusive jurisdiction to hear certain appeals to it directly from state and local administrative agencies, without the prior intervention of any common pleas or other lower court. These appellate areas include such matters as public utility commission cases, workmen's and unemployment compensation cases, licensing cases, including motor vehicle and liquor licensing appeals, and appeals on certain tax questions.

COURTS OF COMMON PLEAS

The Constitutional Amendments of 1968 also made changes in the character and structure of Pennsylvania's courts of common pleas. In each judicial district there must be at least one court of common pleas. In the larger, multi-judge districts, there are divisions, with the number of judges in each as "provided by law". Each judicial district has a president judge. This role is ex officio in the many one-judge districts, is by seniority in districts having seven or fewer judges, and is elective by the courts which have more than seven judges.

The 1968 amendment abolished the ancient "courts of over and terminer and general jail delivery", "quarter sessions of the peace", and the separate orphans' courts. All types and divisions of the courts of common pleas, however, continue to exercise the jurisdiction and functions of the prior courts. All districts now have a Trial Division within the Court of Common Pleas. Philadelphia County and Allegheny County and most of the larger counties have other appropriate divisions, such as Family, Domestic Relations, Criminal, Juvenile Court, and Orphans' Court.

The Common Pleas Courts in Pennsylvania are the courts of general trial jurisdiction. Statewide, they exist in fifty-nine judicial districts, which include the State's sixty-seven counties. Eight of the districts contain two counties, with each of the counties constituting a branch of the district. These districts are: the seventeenth, which includes Snyder and Union Counties; the twenty-sixth, which includes Columbia and Montour Counties; the thirty-seventh, which includes Warren and Forest Counties; the thirtyninth, in Franklin and Fulton Counties; the forty-first, which are Perry and Juniata Counties; the forty-third, which includes Monroe and Pike Counties; the forty-fourth, which includes Sullivan and Wyoming Counties; and the fiftyninth, which includes Cameron and Elk Counties.

All other judicial districts consist of a single county. Each judicial district has a President Judge and such additional judgeships as authorized by the legislature. The Table below shows the number of judicial districts with the specific number of statutorily authorized judgeships in each. The number of common pleas judgeships per judicial district ranges from eighty-one in the Philadelphia Judicial District to one each in twenty-five of the rural judicial districts. Common pleas judges are selected, elected, and retained or rejected by retention election, as are Supreme Court justices, and all judges in other courts of record.

1. The Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia Under a "Schedule" to the Judicial Article of the Constitution, as amended in 1968, the Philadelphia common pleas courts were placed in divisions approximating prior separate court systems. These are three: the trial division, orphans' court division, and family court division. Courts of common pleas have unlimited original jurisdiction in all cases, except those exclusively within Commonwealth Court jurisdiction, and those Philadelphia cases assigned to the Philadelphia Municipal Court and Traffic Court. The Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas Trial Division, however, hears and determines appeals, allowed as of right from the Municipal Court and Traffic Court.

In other jurisdictional provisions in the 1968 package, there are the following:

(1) The Orphans Court Division continues to handle all probate, trusts and other matters traditionally included in the prior orphans' court jurisdiction.

) The family court division has broad jurisdiction in domestic relations matters, including desertion or nonsupport of spouses, children and indigent parents; matters involving children born out of wedlock; proceedings for custody of children; proceedings for divorce and annulment and the property matters relating thereto.

(3) In Philadelphia, the Family Court Division includes the Juvenile Court, in which are handled matters involving delinquent and deprived children; problems involving children under eighteen years of age; those suffering from epilepsy, nervous or mental defects; incorrigible, runaway and disorderly minors eighteen to twenty years of age; and all preliminary hearings in criminal cases where the victim is a juvenile. The Philadelphia Family Court Division, unlike all other court districts, has exclusive jurisdiction in adoptions and delayed birth certificates.

Each division of the court of common pleas is presided over by one of its members who serves as an administrative judge, being elected for a term of five years by a majority vote of the judges of his division. He assists the president judge in supervising the judicial business of the court.

- 2. Allegheny County Court of Common Pleas In Allegheny County, in which is located the City of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania's second largest city, the court of common pleas has four divisions: the Civil Division, the Criminal Division, the Family Division and the Orphans' Court Division. These divisions now handle all of the jurisdictional areas which were handled prior to 1968 by the Allegheny County common pleas courts and by the former County Court. With few differences, the divisions in the Allegheny County common pleas court are similar to Philadelphia's in jurisdictional scope. One major difference, of course, is that one division in Philadelphia, the Trial Division, handles all of the matters included in Allegheny's separate Civil and Criminal Divisions.
- 3. Common Pleas Courts Other Than in Philadelphia and Allegheny County Districts As has been seen, Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties have received special constitutional and legislative treatment. These counties are in the two major population centers, three hundred miles apart at opposite ends of the State, and the special treatment is traditional as well as in some respects justified. In any event, however, courts of all other districts have the same areas of jurisdiction and responsibility, whether or not they have divisional alignments.

SPECIAL COURTS

MUNICIPAL COURT OF PHILADELPHIA

Organization: The Philadelphia Municipal Court is the only one of its kind in Pennsylvania, and is a unique product of the 1968 constitution's Judicial Article. This court now has all of the regular justice of the peace jurisdiction for Philadelphia County, except the area assigned to the Traffic Court. The Philadelphia Municipal Court has 22 judges elected for terms of six years, sixteen of whom now are lawyers. All new judges must be lawyers, with remaining non-law judges being phased out under "grandfather" provisions. The President Judge of the Common Pleas Court appoints the president judge of the Municipal Court, but the Municipal Court is otherwise administratively managed as a separate judicial entity within the unified court system.

Jurisdiction: Municipal Court judges have jurisdiction to sit as committing magistrates in all criminal matters. The court, in its criminal jurisdiction, may adjudicate summary offenses, except those under the motor vehicle laws; all criminal offenses for which no prison term may be imposed or which are punishable by a term of imprisonment of not more than five years, and certain more serious offenses under the motor vehicle laws. In these criminal cases, the defendant has no right of trial by jury in this court, but has an absolute right of appeal to the common pleas for de novo treatment, including pretrial motions and the right to trial by jury there.

On the civil side, the Philadelphia Municipal Court has jurisdiction in landlord and tenant matters, and in assumpsit and trespass claims involving no more than one thousand dollars. In these cases, the parties have no right of trial by jury in this court, but, here again, have the right of appeal to the common pleas for a trial de novo, including trial by jury if desired. The purpose here, of course, is to provide an expeditious small claims procedure whereby employment of counsel might be avoided.

Municipal Court judges may also serve as commissioners to preside at arraignments, fix and accept bail, issue bail, issue warrants and perform duties of a similar nature.

In practice, the remaining non-law judges are seldom assigned to sit in the trial of cases, but do handle other routine matters, such as preliminary arraignments and preliminary hearings in all cases other than homicide and rape.

TRAFFIC COURT OF PHILADELPHIA

Organization: Pursuant to the "Schedule" to the 1968 Judicial Article of the Constitution, the Governor appointed six former magistrates to serve as judges of the new traffic court, and appointed its president judge for a term of five years.

Jurisdiction: Traffic court has exclusive jurisdiction of all summary offenses under the motor vehicle laws.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE (DISTRICT JUSTICE) COURTS

Organization: The 1968 Judicial Article to the Constitution established that justices of the peace be members of the bar of the Supreme Court or complete a course of training and instruction in the duties of their office and pass an appropriate examination. There are 562 justices of the peace now authorized. The term of a district justice is for six years, and like all other judgeships in Pennsylvania except the Pittsburgh Magistrates (discussed below), is elective, there being one justice judgeship for each "magisterial district."

Jurisdiction: District justices in all counties, (except Philadelphia where, as noted above, there are none), have jurisdiction over criminal cases involving offenses carrying a maximum potential sentence of up to 90 days imprisonment. Civil matters involving up to $1,000 may also be tried and adjudicated in such courts. In addition, district justices, like the Philadelphia Municipal Court, may hold preliminary hearings in most criminal cases (misdemeanors and felonies), to determine whether or not a prima facie case exists on the charges presented.

MAGISTRATES OF THE CITY OF PITTSBURGH

The Pittsburgh police magistrate courts are a unique component of the unified judicial system and exist as the only city courts in Pennsylvania. The judges, six in number, are appointed by the mayor of Pittsburgh to serve during his term. Thus, these judges are the only ones in Pennsylvania who are not elected to office. Although the "Schedule" to the 1968 Judicial Article of the Constitution "grandfathered" in the then members of the court, the court's continued existence is presently being challenged as to constitutionality in the courts.

Jurisdiction of this court roughly approximates that of district justices except that its functions are limited geographically within the boundaries of the City of Pittsburgh. The Court is apparently preferred by City law enforcement systems over those district justices who have concurrent jurisdiction within the City of Pittsburgh, and it is estimated that the Court's volume of criminal matters amounts to more than half of the total of criminal initial jurisdiction cases for the entire County. These judges also serve in the City's traffic and housing courts.

THE COMMUNITY COURTS

Provision for a Community Court was included in the 1968 Judicial Article. Whether or not a county should have such a court was made optional, the option to be exercisable by the general electorate of the county. The purpose was to provide for a court which would serve in areas now covered by justices of the peace and magistrates. In Philadelphia, such courts would have the jurisdiction which is now exercised by the municipal court and traffic court. In Pittsburgh, such court would have the jurisdiction of justices of the peace and police magistrates. No county has yet voted to have a community court.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF PENNSYLVANIA COURTS

The Judicial Article of the 1968 Constitution gave Pennsylvania a unified court system under the administration of the State Supreme Court, the highest court in the Commonwealth. The Judicial Article, Section 10(a), provides: "The Supreme Court shall exercise general supervisory and administrative authority over all the courts and justices of the peace, including authority to temporarily assign judges and justices of the peace from one court or district to another as it deems appropriate."

In addition, the Supreme Court was granted broad rule-making powers, with the authority to prescribe general rules governing practice, procedure and the conduct of all courts, including minor judiciary and officers serving process or enforcing orders, judgments or decrees. The area of substantive law remains with the Legislature. The supreme Court was authorized to suspend inconsistent laws by general rule within the procedure area, except for limitations on actions, but areas of the judiciary's jurisdiction remain within legislative authority.

COURT ADMINISTRATOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

Section 10(b) of the 1968 Judicial Article provides: "The Supreme Court shall appoint a court administrator and may appoint such subordinate administrators and staff as may be necessary and proper for the prompt and proper disposition of the business of all courts and justices of the peace". In implementing this constitutional mandate, the Supreme Court promptly appointed as Court Administrator of Pennsylvania former State Senator, A. Evans Kephart, who served with great distinction in the difficult and innovative years until his retirement in 1974. Judge Alexander F. Barbieri presently serves as statewide Administrator under an assignment to this duty by the Supreme Court in December of 1974.

The Supreme Court promulgated on March 15, 1972, the Pennsylvania Rules of Judicial Administration, which provide that the Court Administrator shall serve at the pleasure of the Supreme Court and shall be responsible for the prompt and proper disposition of the business of all courts and justices of the peace.

The Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts (AOPC) now has, under Judge Barbieri's supervision, three Deputy Court Administrators, two Assistant Court Administrators, some new heads of departments in such areas as Electro-data Processing, Law, Retirement and Benefits. Staffing in other departments and areas was under consideration at the end of 1975.

Within the over-all unified judicial system of Pennsylvania, the State Court Administrator serves as the administrative arm of the Supreme Court, with responsibility for the management of all of Pennsylvania's court systems. As the State's Court Administrator, he is responsible for collecting and interpreting statistical data from courts in all systems; for preparing certain court budgets; for assigning judges; while also acting as liaison between the courts, the legislature, and the public. Under recent separation of powers rulings, he must provide legal services to all components and personnel of Pennsylvania's judiciary structures, and he is responsible to provide planning and improvements of court procedures. In practice, the Court Administrator works closely with the president judge of each judicial district to improve the court systems within that district.

RULES OF JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION

The Pennsylvania Rules of Judicial Administration, promulgated by the Supreme Court in 1972, contain comprehensive provisions for management of Pennsylvania's judicial systems by the Court Administrator, with the aid of a Judicial Council. These rules are presently being reviewed by the Court.

SUPPORTIVE PERSONNEL AND SERVICES—PROTHONOTARIES AND COURT CLERKS

All litigation and individual case management procedures remain in the hands of the court clerks, generally known in Pennsylvania as prothonotaries. The Supreme Court prothonotary has over-all supervision of the three district offices of the State, located in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, each managed by a deputy prothonotary. The Superior Court has also retained the Prothonotary office for its litigation management, and the Commonwealth Court likewise has a prothonotary. Each appellate court has other clerical staff.

At the common pleas level, prothonotaries manage the civil litigation processes and "Clerks of Courts" manage criminal proceedings, and Clerks of Orphans' Courts manage Orphans' Court matters. Each category of court support officials is elected in Pennsylvania, except that in Philadelphia the Prothonotary is appointed by vote of the Common Pleas Court's Board of Judges.

COURT RULE MAKING

As previously noted, the 1968 version of the Pennsylvania constitution, grants to the Supreme Court broad rule making powers. Section 10(c) of the Judicial Article provides: "The Supreme Court shall have the power to prescribe general rules governing practice, procedure and the conduct of all courts, justices of the peace and all officers serving process or enforcing orders, judgments or decrees of any court or justice of the peace, including the power to provide for assignments and reassignment of classes of actions or classes of appeals among the several courts as the needs of justice shall require, and for admission to the bar and to practice law, and the administration of all courts and the supervision of all officers of the judicial branch, if such rules are consistent with this Constitution and neither abridge, enlarge nor modify the substantive rights of any litigant, nor affect the right of the General Assembly to determine the jurisdiction of any court or justice of the peace, nor suspend nor alter any statute of limitation or repose. All laws shall be suspended to the extent that they are inconsistent with rules prescribed under these provisions."

Prior to this, the Supreme Court had been granted extensive rule making powers by the legislature. The powers now became constitutionally recognized, with the authority to suspend acts of the legislature.

Rules committees, which preexisted the 1968 mandate, and others created since then, are appointed to advise and formulate rules in all areas as required by the judicial systems and as requested by the Supreme Court. Among the standing committees presently functioning are the Civil Procedural Rules Committee, Criminal Procedural Rules Committee, Orphans' Court Rules Committee, Minor Court Rules Committee, and Committee on Proposed Standard Jury Instructions. There is also a Juvenile Court Judges' Commission whose members are appointed by the Governor upon recommendation of the Chief Justice, which proposes rules on juvenile matters to the Supreme Court.

THE JUDICIAL INQUIRY AND REVIEW BOARD

The Pennsylvania Judicial Inquiry and Review Board was also first established in the 1968 Judicial Article of the Pennsylvania Constitution. The Board as spelled out in the Constitution has a membership of nine persons, consisting of five judges selected by the Supreme Court, three of whom are common pleas judges from different judicial districts, and two judges of the Superior Court. The four non-judges are selected by the Governor, two lawyers who are not judges and "two non-lawyer electors".

The Board keeps informed as to matters relating to grounds for suspension, removal, discipline or compulsory retirement of the justice or judge. It receives complaints or acts on its own initiative. It may investigate, hold hearings and recommend appropriate action to be taken by the Supreme Court including "suspension, removal, discipline or compulsory retirement of the justice or judge."

THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL

Under the broad administrative powers granted to the Supreme Court by the 1968 Pennsylvania Constitution, the Court, in its Pennsylvania Rules of Judicial Administration, established a Judicial Council. The Council has fifteen judicial and lawyer members, with the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court as Chairman and the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania as Secretary of the Council. The Council is authorized to make recommendations on how to insure the prompt, fair, and efficient administration of justice.

ORGANIZATIONAL CHART OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF PENNSYLVANIA COURTS (AOPC)

PART II REPORT FROM THE ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF PENNSYLVANIA COURTS

In its seventh year of operation, the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts (AOPC) has expanded its direct services to the courts of the Commonwealth and directly related personnel and agencies under Judge Alexander F. Barbieri, Court Administrator of Pennsylvania.

Efforts toward improving the quality of information and statistics were commenced in 1975 with the goal of providing better administrative and management services to the courts as well as providing more advanced bases for analyses of court operations.

The beginning of the AOPC's Pennsylvania College of the Judiciary were realized with approval of a grant amounting to $115, 275 from the Governor's Justice Commission. Plans were also under way to provide for Pennsylvania its first statewide constable training program.

Legal services were provided to personnel of the system on an increased level throughout the year. The legal staff of AOPC provided legal representation to judges, Justices of the Peace and other members of the judiciary, in litigation

The ensuing divisions of the Annual Report will present details of the organizations, activities, and functions of AOPC during the calendar year 1975.

INFORMATION SYSTEMS

Early in 1975, the AOPC recognized the need for Pennsylvania to develop a statewide court information system in an effort to coordinate and standardize collection, storage and dissemination of court information and statistics.

In order to accomplish this, the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania was awarded an LEAA subgrant to employ a Director of Court Information Systems for the purpose of studying existing systems throughout the Commonwealth and to design standard procedures that would satisfy the needs of the entire judicial system.

Also in 1975, the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania was named a member of the Governor's Task Force on the Comprehensive Data System, a statewide committee representing law enforcement, courts, corrections, probation/parole and the Governor's Justice Commission, which is the State Planning Agency. The purpose of this committee is to design and develop a Comprehensive Data System (CDS) for the Commonwealth which will encompass all agencies of the criminal justice system.

A policy committee, consisting of all involved agencies was formed by the AOPC to monitor a four county test project that would act as the initial State Judicial Information System (SIIS).

The four county test project will include counties of various sizes, locations, case volumes and record keeping systems. Tests will include data collection, data integrity, general systems design, and output needs.

In December, 1975, an application was filed with the national association SEARCH GROUP, Inc., in an effort to include Pennsylvania in the nationwide State Judicial Information System (SJIS) project. At that time, there were eleven states under this project, and Pennsylvania sought to become one of the five new states to be added. Since then, the Pennsylvania application has been granted.

EVALUATION OF TRIAL COURT ADMINISTRATION

The Pennsylvania Rules of Judicial Administration charge the Administrative Office with the responsibility and duty of reviewing the operating efficiency of the judicial systems and of all offices relating thereto, and to formulate and submit to the Supreme Court recommendations for the improvement of the system.

The Administrative Office, in 1973, under a federal subgrant from the Governor's Justice Commission, conducted in-depth analyses of administrative practices in seven judicial districts. This program was considered most helpful, and the counties surveyed have now implemented most, if not all, of the recommendations made by the evaluation team.

A similar study was undertaken in 1975, again funded through the Governor's Justice Commission. Surveys are conducted at the specific request of the president judge of the judicial district. The present program includes surveys in fourteen counties. The survey teams are composed of experienced trial court administrators who are recognized as leaders in the field of court administration. Under established procedures, evaluators meet with members of the court and interview all of the court-related personnel, including the district attorney, public, defender, clerks of courts, prothonotaries, secretaries, probation and parole personnel, county commissioners, and members of the bar. An evaluation report is prepared, presented to the president judge, and distributed by the Administrative Office to members of the judiciary and court administrators in judicial districts of similar size.

The Administrative Office works closely with the trial court administrators in the research and development of programs to shift the major administrative burdens from the judges to professional managers. The basic purpose of the evaluation is to achieve more effective court administration through the coordination of the various divisions of the court and the offices affecting the judicial system.

JUDICIAL EDUCATION

In 1968, under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Conference of State Trial Judges and the Pennsylvania Bar Association, the first orientation course was conducted for newly elected and appointed trial judges in Pennsylvania. Two years later, the Administrative Office obtained federal funds through the Governor's Justice Commission to offset the expenses of such educational programs. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court endorsed the concept of judicial education, and Chief Justice Benjamin R. Jones has recently directed that attendance at such orientation courses shall be mandatory for new judges. These conferences are held in April of each even-numbered year, approximately three months after the commencement of the new judges' elective term of office. Attendance includes approximately eighty new judges, and fifteen to twenty veteran judges who participate in the conference as group leaders during their unstructured discussion periods. The faculty primarily consists of experienced jurists who have acquired expertise in their assigned areas, but includes some practicing attorneys, educators, and others who are nationally prominent in the judicial field. The comprehensive curriculum covers such subject matters as trial techniques, charging juries, sentencing procedures, substantive criminal law, evidence, search and seizure, and post-conviction problems. Included are indoctrination matters, such as judicial ethics, public relations, and personnel practices.

The Administrative Office, in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Conference of State Trial Judges, initiated a prison visitation program, it being essential that each judge should be fully informed as to the kinds of programs and the prevailing conditions in institutions to which he is sentencing offenders. An evaluation is made after each visit, highlighting the disadvantages as well as the strengths of the institutional programs and facilities. During part of the visitation the judges are divided into small groups so as to be able to talk separately, on a one-to-one basis, with both the inmates and staff personnel.

In 1974, the Judicial Council of Pennsylvania approved the establishment of a judicial training center, and in 1975 the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts (AOPC) established the Pennsylvania College of the Judiciary. Judge Ernst John Watts, dean of the National College of the State Judiciary, addressed members of the Supreme Court, encouraging the Court and the Administrative Office with the Pennsylvania Conference of State Trial Judges, to combine their efforts in developing the new judicial college into an educational institution, not only responsible for indoctrinating new judges, but available to provide continuing educational courses for all state trial judges.

The Administrative Office, in January, 1976, obtained financial support for the new Pennsylvania College of the Judiciary when the Governor's Justice Commission approved federal funding in excess of $100,000 for the first year of the college. The Administrative Office will, over the next several years, gradually absorb the costs of this educational program into its fiscal budget. In 1976 it is planned to conduct four two-day conferences in the following areas: (1) Juvenile Court Problems and Procedures, and Orphans' Court Problems and Procedures, to be conducted separately but concurrently at Pennsylvania State University; (2) Criminal Court Techniques, at Carlisle; (3) Civil Court Techniques, at Pennsylvania State University; and (4) Sentencing Practices and Procedures, also at Penn State.

It is also planned that trial judges will be permitted to go outside of Pennsylvania to attend, on a selective basis, regular, graduate and special courses conducted by the National College of the State Judiciary, at Reno, Nevada, hopefully to broaden the scope of their learning achievements.

The Pennsylvania College of the Judiciary is also designed to operate as a clearing house for the judiciary in the dissemination of judicial education material to meet the needs created by new laws and court decisions. The college will, eventually, provide training programs for court administrators, district justices of the peace, and other court-related personnel.

While the faculty will continue as in the past, to be drawn primarily from experienced jurists in the state, plus administrators, prosecuting attorneys and educators, the Administrative Office plans to provide a full-time, trained and competent staff to plan and manage arrangements and the administrative details of operating the college.

It is contemplated that a board of trustees will be appointed, consisting of the Chief Justice, the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania, and members of the appellate and trial benches to assist in planning future education and training programs.

The Supreme Court, the Administrative Office, and the Conference of State Trial Judges, all recognize the need to develop and maintain comprehensive programs of continuing education for members of the judicial systems. Through their combined efforts, it seems assured that training and education will be made available to maintain at satisfactory levels the professional competence of Pennsylvania's judiciary and of its court-related personnel.

DISTRICT JUSTICE OF THE PEACE COURTS

The District Justice of the Peace Courts are under the supervision of the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOPC). District Justices of the Peace jurisdiction is handled in Philadelphia County by Philadelphia Municipal and Traffic Courts, with Police Magistrates having some concurrent jurisdiction in the City of Pittsburgh.

On December 31, 1973, there were 576 magisterial districts in existence. As a result of consolidation, mergers, and realignments, 568 existed at the end of 1975. The processing of all requests for changes in magisterial district boundaries is initially handled by the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts.

The salary of a District Judge is established by the Legislature and is computed "... by adding to six thousand dollars ($6,000.) the product of the population of his magisterial district times forty cents (40¢), but in no event shall the salary exceed sixteen thousand five hundred dollars ($16,500.) or be less than seven thousand five hundred dollars ($7,500.)". The population of each magisterial district is computed on a certification submitted by the President Judge of each judicial district to the State Treasurer. If the salary of a magisterial district is to be changed due to population increases or decreases, the President Judge can recertify the populations on a subsequent Federal census without prior approval from the Supreme Court. However, if the basis for the recertification is other than a Federal census, prior Supreme Court approval must first be obtained. The processing of all such requests for recertification is handled by the Administrative Office.

Since the large majority of the members of these Courts are not lawyers, it is important for all such individuals to be well informed in those areas of the law which affect their functions and jurisdiction. As a regular procedure, the Administrative Office sends to such judges copies of statutes and rules of law of current interest. During the past two years, the office has conducted many conferences in an effort to upgrade the knowledge and skills of the district justices. Beyond this recent period, and for the past several years, programs have been conducted by AOPC at Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pennsylvania. These programs are presented in one-week seminars, in which are included such subjects as Rules of Evidence and Search and Seizure. Extensive use is made of videotaped simulated trials, during which each participant is given an opportunity to rule on evidentiary matters. Approximately 104 district judges attended the 1974 sessions, and 226 the 1975 sessions. In addition, this Office annually conducts a seminar for the Administrators of our District Justices of the Peace. These programs are also held at University Park, and are designed to promote communication among Court Administrators and to provide an opportunity to discuss common problems and solutions for those problems.

In addition to the educational programs conducted at Penn State, regional programs are presented on such important subjects as the Crimes Code and Substantive Law pertaining to Bail, Sentencing, and Security. Each District Justice is directed to attend a regional seminar on the subjects previously mentioned. These seminars are held in strategic locations throughout Pennsylvania.

In April, 1974, this Office, in cooperation with the Department of Justice and the Office of Criminal Justice Statistics, initiated a judicial statistics program to collect aggregate data from each district justice of the peace. The reports required in this program are prepared in the offices of the District Justices and are submitted monthly to the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts. They are summarized in another section of this report.

Prior to 1974, no program existed for the systematic collection of data regarding defendants processed through this District Justice Court. The Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts recognized that there was a need for data on all defendants including those processed by these courts; and that this information represents a vital link in the comprehensive data system, as well as a valuable tool for overall court management.

Initial reporting forms have now been revised and simplified to more accurately reflect activity in the offices of district justices of the peace. Although the reports are not intended to measure all of the work that is performed by these judges, the information thus gathered plays a major role in the analysis of the performance and needs of the unified Pennsylvania judicial systems.

An additional new device in the State's comprehensive judicial data system is a uniform docket transcript form. This form, which is now used by all district justices throughout Pennsylvania, will help identify and locate defendants who are, or have been, processed through the State's judicial systems. In addition, the form reduces the amount of paper work formerly required to be completed by district justices and Clerks of Courts. The new docket transcript form contains a preprinted number which is assigned to a defendant when he enters the criminal justice system and remains with him until his case is disposed. In addition, an effort will be made to fingerprint and assign a classification number to each set of fingerprints. It is contemplated that in the near future computerized criminal history records of all defendants will be available for all components of the criminal justice system, including the State's district justice courts.

CONSTABLES

An important auxiliary to our District Justice Courts is the constable system in Pennsylvania. This ancient system has received very little attention, until recently. It is deemed necessary by this Office that the constable system be materially upgraded, and that the laws and rules pertaining to constables be clarified, to the end that constables may more ably carry out their functions. Under Supreme Court rules, the President Judge of the Common Pleas Court of each judicial district is charged with the general supervision and control over constables within his judicial district.

In order to properly evaluate the needs of constables, and the need for these officials in the judicial systems of Pennsylvania, it is necessary that a thorough study be made to determine at the outset just what functions constables are now performing, with consideration given to the determination of what functions they should be performing. Obviously, the functions of constables should be standardized and made more uniform. In order to effectuate this objective, this Office has filed an application for a grant with the Governor's Justice Commission to help fund this project.

Also, in an effort to identify constables and deputy constables, the AOPC is working to obtain a complete list containing the names and addresses of all constables and deputy constables. Furthermore, a pending application filed with the Governor's Justice Commission, if approved, would provide funding for a sorely needed education program for constables. Finally, AOPC is working on the preparation of a manual of instructions and legal guidelines which will aid constables in the performance of their duties. In the past, constables have had little or no input in matters that define their duties and functions. In order to improve communications and seek to eliminate possible problems affecting the relationships between constables and other units of the judicial systems, a new committee is being sponsored by AOPC, including in its membership representatives of the constables, district justices, court administrators, and others who are associated in the administration of justice. It is hoped that this committee will aid in achieving more efficient management of, and performance by, District Justices in Pennsylvania.

FISCAL AFFAIRS

The Court Administrator of Pennsylvania is required by statute to prepare, supervise, or delegate preparation of budgetary and funding requisitions for the Judicial Department. By order of the Supreme Court dated July 27, 1973, the Office of Deputy Court Administrator of Pennsylvania for Fiscal Affairs was authorized, and, effective September 4, 1973, the Office was opened in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, with implementation of the requisition process entrusted to the Deputy Court Administrator for Fiscal Affairs.

The Court Administrator of Pennsylvania prepares the fiscal year budget request for the unified judicial systems. Under the supervision of the Court Administrator, the Fiscal Office prepares budgets for the Courts of Common Pleas, Philadelphia Municipal and Traffic Courts, the District Justices of the Peace, and the Offices of the Court Administrator. Legislative appropriations for reimbursement to the counties for county court expenses, and for county offices of resident appellate justices and judges, are allocated and disbursed by the Court Administrator. Budgets prepared by the Supreme, Superior, and Commonwealth Courts are forwarded through the Fiscal Office to the Budget Secretary of the Commonwealth. Upon approval by the Chief Justice and the Court Administrator, the unified budget for the Judicial Department is also transmitted to the Secretary of the Budget for submission to the General Assembly as a part of the Governor's Budget. If there is a disagreement as to the amounts requested for the various segments of the Judicial Department, then the Court Administrator is compelled to take the requests directly to the General Assembly.

The Fiscal Office prepares and administers the judicial and judiciary personnel payroll for approximately 1100 persons, processing all vouchers, and maintaining complete accounting records for all components of the Judicial Department.

The new Retirement Code, approved March 1, 1974, provides that each department within the Commonwealth governmental complex provide retirement counseling to those within the department. As a result, the Fiscal Office of the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts was required to school and train selected staff personnel in the many varied and complicated laws and formulae pertaining to retirement of judges, district judges and other judiciary employees in the judicial systems in order to provide retirement services and counseling as to entitlement and benefits. These very time consuming services have been provided without serious interference with the normal operations of the Fiscal Office. The situation has been improved by employment of a full time, trained and experienced Retirement Counselor to fill the role now mandated by the legislature.

In July, 1975, the Fiscal Office was moved to new quarters in City Towers, 301 Chestnut Street, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, to better accommodate the ever increasing work load of the office, to provide more adequate filing

LEGAL SERVICES

In February, 1975, the Attorney General of Pennsylvania, in a formal opinion, ruled that the Department of Justice could not continue to provide legal representation for members of the Pennsylvania judicial systems when they might be sued in their official capacities. The Attorney General reasoned that our Constitution provides for a clear and definite separation of powers among the three coordinate branches of government in Pennsylvania—executive, legislative and judicial—and that, as an appointed official of the executive branch answerable to the Governor, he should not provide legal services to a separate and independent judicial branch in whose courts he must also appear. To fill the need, a Law Department was created within the Office of the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania.

State Judicial

System

The Law Department of AOPC has been assigned several functions. First, it provides legal representation for trial judges, appellate judges, and justices of the peace when they are sued in their official capacities in either the state or federal court systems. Second, the Department is required to monitor legislation as it is introduced in the General Assembly, both in terms of its effect on the judicial branch and its relationship to the present statutory law. In this latter mission, the Law Department provides day-to-day liaison with committees of the General Assembly as well as with agencies and departments of the executive branch. Such liaison fosters a close working relationship to exist between the judiciary and the two other branches of government to the end that unnecessary conflicts among the branches may be avoided. In appropriate instances, the views of the judicial branch are positively expressed to the Legislature under the authority of the Court Administrator, with the approval of the Supreme Court. Third, the Law Department acts as in-house counsel to the Court Administrator and to individuals within the judicial branch to provide legal advice and research support.

Since April 1, 1975, when the Law Department came into being, the staff of one chief attorney, one staff attorney and several parttime law students has provided legal representation in over one hundred and fifty individual cases. The state court cases have most often been in mandamus or prohibition, challenging the procedures by which an individual judge or justice of the peace conducted a proceeding before him. Many of these actions have been patently frivolous, brought by disgruntled litigants, but several have brought to light questions as to procedures laid down in the various rules of court. Generally, the more substantial cases are brought in federal district courts, most frequently as civil rights actions. These often challenge and question traditional and fundamental operations of our systems of jurisprudence in Pennsylvania, threatening the delicate balance between state and federal court systems.

The dynamic relationships which now exist among the three branches of government require constant attention, and the AOPC Law Department has been charged with keeping a close and alert watch on these relationships. Fortunately, this department's staff includes a lawyer who has had previous service in the Legislature. Recently, a legislative liaison committee has been formed, with membership that includes three members from each body of the General Assembly with bipartisan representation and three members of the Supreme Court. The aim of this committee is to insure regular and official discussions of areas of impact between legislative and judicial functions, with the hope that confontations between the two branches may be avoided. The AOPC and its Law Department serve as staff, to provide planning, legal support and a secretariat for the Committee.

The AOPC Law Department looks forward to continuing to provide efficient and capable legal services to all members of the judicial branch, and to ever improving communications with other branches of government.

PENNSYLVANIA CONFERENCE OF STATE TRIAL JUDGES

The Pennsylvania Conference of State Trial Judges was formed in 1964 as a non-profit association, its purpose being to promote the interests of justice throughout the Commonwealth by gathering, studying and disseminating to its members information of interest to the judiciary; by presenting and conducting programs at meetings attended by persons interested in the law and its procedure; by fostering and promoting the passage of desirable legislation; by cooperating with bar associations, law schools and other groups in worthwhile projects designed to improve the administration of the law; by cooperating with the Chief Tustice of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in any judicial conference, and in general to do such other things as may be necessary to implement and accomplish its general objectives.

Initially the Pennsylvania Bar Association served as the secretariat for the Conference, handled its business matters, and arranged periodic meetings. Judges attending Conference meetings were required to pay their own expenses for travel, room and meals. Active participation was limited. In 1970, at the direction of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts became the Conference secretariat; and also at that time, with financial assistance from the Governor's Justice Commission, judges became able to obtain reimbursement of their expenses incurred in attending seminars and Conference meetings. In 1973 these costs were included in the budget prepared by the Administrative Office for the courts of common pleas. At the present time, with the exception of less than half a dozen, all of the 285 common pleas court judges, all of the active senior judges, and all of the law-trained Philadelphia Municipal Court judges, are dues-paying members of the Conference and enthusiastic supporters of its programs. The 21 justices and judges of the appellate courts are honorary members, who participate in the Conference business and attend many of the seminars.

The Conference conducts annually a fourday summer meeting to discuss the many and varied changes in current law and procedures. Prominent speakers address the Conference on matters of national scope and interest, but basically the programs are presented by trial judges, and occasionally lawyers, having particular expertise in special fields. The Conference also meets during the late winter for a day and a half for discussions on specific major issues of a timely nature affecting the judicial system. It is at this meeting that the Pennsylvania Conference of State Trial Judges hosts the members of the federal bench at the traditional dinner for both federal and state judiciary. Probably the most significant aspect of these combined meetings is the opportunity they afford of providing a forum for all trial judges from various parts of the Commonwealth to meet and express their views and philosophies, and to present possible solutions to the perplexing problems facing our judicial systems today...

The Conference is managed by its elected officers and an executive committee, whose meetings also include the chairperson of each of the three separate Conference sections (Juvenile Court, Orphans' Court and Senior Judges), as well as the chairpersons of the 26 special committees appointed annually by the president. The names of the present officers are set forth in the appendix hereto.

The Conference supports the annual meeting of president judges and trial court administrators, which is conducted by the Administrative Office each September. In addition, the Judicial Education Committee of the Conference has been instrumental in AOPC planning of orientation seminars conducted biennially for the newly elected and appointed judges. This committee has advocated a policy of continuing education and training for all personnel in the judicial system. Its members have served as faculty advisers and lecturers at various educational seminars. The Judicial Reference Manual used at each orientation seminar is authored by trial judges possessing knowledge and experience in special areas and has provided valuable source material for all members of the bench. The Conference also has cooperated in the publication of abstracts of recent decisions of importance rendered by both trial and appellate judges, especially those which reflect significant changes in the law. Also, with the support of AOPC, visitations by trial judges to state and federal correctional institutions, for the purpose of evaluating their facilities and programs, have been sponsored by the Pennsylvania Conference of State Trial Judges.

TRIAL COURT ADMINISTRATORS

The Constitution of Pennsylvania, as amended in 1968, provided for the appointment by the Supreme Court of a state court administrator and such subordinate administrators and staff as "necessary and proper for the prompt and proper disposition of the business of all courts and justices of the peace." At that time only six trial court administrators served the courts of common pleas in Pennsylvania. Today there are 39 persons who have been appointed, in 42 judicial districts, to act in an administrative capacity. The Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts early recognized, as one of its primary functions, the necessity of acting as a liaison between and among the various trial courts as a means of fulfilling the constitutional mandate for a "unified judicial system."

The Administrative Office, in 1971, supported the establishing of a statewide association, the Pennsylvania Council of Trial Court Administrators. The purpose of this organization is to increase the proficiency of court administration through improved court management techniques, to promote innovative procedures, to formulate standards, and, most importantly, to furnish a forum for the interchange of information relating to court administration.

The Council has conducted numerous statewide conferences and seminars, and arranged their fifth annual meeting to take place in March of 1976. The Council's programs cover the gamut in all areas of current interest and concern to the members. The Council has been instrumental in assisting the Administrative Office in an annual conference of president judges and trial court administrators.

Many members of the Pennsylvania Council also belong to the National Association of Trial Court Administrators (NATCA). Rita E. Prescott, former court administrator in Delaware County, served in 1974 as NATCA's president, and has recently been elected to the bench of the court of common pleas of Delaware County for a ten-year term.

The Pennsylvania Council of Trial Court Administrators appointed a committee to define the functions and responsibilities of trial court administrators in Pennsylvania. Their findings were submitted to the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania, and, based upon his recommendation, Chief Justice Benjamin R. Jones, on December 9, 1975, promulgated the following order:

(U)pon the recommendation of the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania... the duties and responsibilities of a District Court Administrator should be, but not be limited to, those set forth below:

- 1. Implementation of policies set by the State Court Administrator.
- 2. Assistance to the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts in setting statewide policies.
- 3. Preparation, submission and management of the budget for his court or courts.
- Recruiting, hiring, training, evaluating and monitoring personnel of his court or courts.
- 5. Management of space, equipment and facilities of his court or courts.

- 6. Dissemination of information concerning, or of interest to, his court or courts.
- 7. Procurement of supplies and services for his court or courts.
- 8. Custody and disbursement of funds for his court or courts.
- 9. Preparation of reports concerning his court or courts.
- 10. Jury management.
- 11. Study and improvement of caseflow, time standards, and calendaring.
- 12. Research and development of effective methods of court functioning, including in districts where feasible the mechanization and computerization of court operations.
- 13. Preparation and administration of trial calendars for all civil and criminal cases, including daily trial lists.
- 14. Responsibility for the assignment, listing and disposition of all arbitration matters.
- 15. General supervision of the minor judiciary system of the Judicial District.

COURT REIMBURSEMENT PROGRAM

Since 1971, the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania has been designated by Acts of the General Assembly as the administrator of the court reimbursement program under which counties are reimbursed by the State for direct costs incurred in the administration and operation of all courts as reported in the counties annual financial reports.

The Court Administrator of Pennsylvania is responsible for making the allocations and payments to the counties and to exclude all costs which are not properly reported.

Since 1971, the amount of appropriations has significantly increased for reimbursement purposes, although the total granted has never been sufficient to cover all of the direct costs incurred by counties for court costs.

The Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts has requested the Legislature to increase

BAIL PROGRAMS

In 1975, the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts commenced a study to determine the similarity of bail procedures employed in selected Pennsylvania counties; whether or not the procedures were in compliance with state and local Rules of Court; how cash bail was used; how it was authorized; what procedures existed for handling balances over and above cash deposits; and how sureties supported by real estate were handled.

Three large counties having similar demography, but dissimilar bail programs were selected for the study, which was conducted over a period of four months. The types of bail studied included R.O.R.; nominal bail; cash deposit bail programs; property bonds; and surety bond programs.

The study revealed that the administration of bail programs varied in each county. In one county, the only acceptable forms of bail were bonds provided by professional surety, real estate, government bonds, R.O.R. and total cash bail. The bail bond form utilized complied with the form authorized by Supreme Court rules, but this county did not have a percentage cash bail program. In a second county, a percentage cash bail program was established. As such, the bail agency acts as surety for the defendant if he deposits the percentage of cash bail required by local rules. Collection of the bail is carried out under Supreme Court rule. In this county ten percent of the cash amount fixed is automatically the amount to be collected. The county rule provides no power to act upon oral (e.g. telephone) authorizations, and the rule is silent on whether or not a defaulting defendant forfeits the entire amount of the bail over and above the ten percent paid in cash. This county also accepts real estate security bonds, cash bail, government bonds and has an R.O.R. program. The county bail agency provides a comprehensive and equitable bail system which enables deserving individuals to be released on bail,

This county's program also provides an interview procedure whereby the recommendation, or lack thereof, by the interviewer is given weight in bail determinations in the defendant's case. In effect, the system in this county functions almost automatically, in the sense that with predetermined assurances that they will be present at all stages of the judicial proceedings.

established specific guidelines provide uniformity in recommendations and decisions for those charged with specific crimes.

In the third county, the rules governing the administration of bail stipulate that upon arrest, bail shall be established at a preliminary arraignment by a judge. Where nominal bail has been set by the court or issuing authority, a court bail agency may be designated as surety for the defendant. The defendant is thus construed to be subject to the regulations of the court bail agency. The county also has a provision for the payment of a 10 percent cash bail, though not less than $25. Only the person for whom bail has been set may execute the bond. No surety or fidelity company or professional bail bondsman may act as the personal representative of the defendant. Upon payment of the 10 percent, the court bail agency is assigned supervision of the defendant.

The study showed that in the two counties having a cash bail program, the total number of defendants making bail "through some other means" is traditionally about 7% of those arrested. In the other county, because of the nature of its bail system, 27 percent to 30 percent of all those making bail did so through the use of professional bondsmen.

The evaluation study took into account structural distinctions within programs, noting that the differences largely reflected the philosophy of each county. The investigator noted that percentage cash bail served to limit the use of professional bondsmen; and that experiences with one county's bail system indicated that a great deterrent to bail jumping was imposed on the defendant when his cash bail was paid either by himself or by a family member or friend, since there was the expectation that most of the cash would be returned at the conclusion of the case.

In the three counties studied, as noted, one of them did not implement a percentage cash bail program, and adoption thereof was recommended as part of the study. Since the conclusion of the study, however, the court in that county has adopted local rules establishing this program.

FEDERAL GRANTS

The Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts has utilized Law Enforcement Assistance Administration funds received through the Governor's Justice Commission for a number of programs. These monies have permitted a variety of programs to be initiated in the Commonwealth. The following projects are currently in operation.

COURT PLANNER-COORDINATOR

The Planner-Coordinator is responsible for the daily operation of all grants awarded to the Administrative Office, including fiscal operations and programmatic implementation.

The Planner-Coordinator works on a daily basis with the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania and his Deputy Court Administrators in the administration and execution of present projects and in developing plans for future projects.

COURT INFORMATION SYSTEM

The Court Information System Program represents the first step toward achieving a statewide automated data base for court management information. The State system, when developed, will coordinate the activity of the various county based court information systems. The criminal activities division of the proposed Court Information System will become an integral part of the State Criminal Justice Information System, which is planned to provide computerized communications and coordination of the criminal information activities of all of the Criminal Justice Agencies in the Commonwealth.

The Court Administrator represents the Pennsylvania judiciary on the Governor's Task Force on Criminal Justice Information Systems and the AOPC Director of Data Processing represents the court systems on the Inter-Agency Working Group of the Task Force.

COURT OPINION CIRCULARIZATION

The Court Opinion Circularization Project, under the direction of Dean Burton R. Laub, of the Dickinson School of Law, provides a monthly bulletin of recent case abstracts to all judges in the Commonwealth, covering decisions of appellate and trial courts which are likely to be of special interest to the trial bench. This program has the active support of the Pennsylvania Conference of State Trial Judges.

DISTRICT JUSTICE ORIENTATION

There are at present 562 District Justices in Pennsylvania, most of whom have not gone through formal legal training prior to their elections. Educational programs are provided by the AOPC for all district justices, consisting of a basic forty hours training program, supplemented by in-depth seminars on specific topics. Special attention is givn to criminal procedure and the rules governing the admissibility of evidence in criminal proceedings. Attention is also given to topics which aim at improving the professional image of the district judge, including lectures on standards of judicial conduct and on the collection of case flow data to assure compliance with the Statistical Reporting Program for District Justices of the Peace.

JUDICIAL PRISON VISITATION

The Prison Visitation Program is intended to implement the recommendation of the National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals that judges visit all institutions and facilities to which criminal offenders may be sentenced. Judges are made familiar with the physical circumstances of imprisonment in order to provide a sounder basis for sentencing decisions, it being felt that no person has a greater responsibility or burden in the criminal justice apparatus than that of the judge in his decisions as to sentences. This program has also served to foster greater cooperation and understending between the judiciary and those who carry out correctional programs.

AOPC STATISTICAL PROGRAM

The Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts carries out a Statistical Program whereby it compiles the reports of the Courts of Common Pleas and the District Justices in a uniform system in order to avoid duplicative efforts and save costs. Monitoring this information provides indications of changes in trends and caseload buildup in particular areas. These areas are then addressed through internal management analysis as part of the ongoing process of determining how the AOPC can best serve the judicial system.

PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE OF THE JUDICIARY

The Pennsylvania College os the Judiciary has been created to serve all components of the judicial systems. Such training has been spelled out in Standard 7.5 of the National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals which recommends that each state develop its own State Judicial College.

The American Bar Association Commission on Standards of Judicial Administration has pointed out that continuing training and education for judges is essential to maintaining a high level of professional competence in the judiciary

Pennsylvania has many nationally recognized legal scholars on and off the bench, including court administrators who provide expertise in the programs now being presented by the College.

JUDICIAL TRAINING PROGRAM

The Judicial Training Program provides training and refresher courses for members of the judicial systems at nationally recognized schools and colleges. These programs are offered in addition to regularly scheduled programs offered throughout the Commonwealth. The AOPC believes that a major benefit derived from these out-of-state training sessions is the interchange of ideas among persons from all regions of the nation. This prevents provincialism in thinking and affords participants the opportunity to deal with problems of judicial administration in a more eclectic manner.

TRIAL COURT EVALUATION

The Trial Court Evaluation Program provides an in-depth analysis and evaluation of the functions, needs, and requirements for administrative policies, practices and procedures at the trial court level. Survey teams, headed by John B. Cutler, a retired veteran Trial Court Administrator, make on-site visits to selected judicial districts and conduct interviews with all court related personnel, including judges, district attorneys, clerks of courts, prothonotaries and court administrators.

Substantive reports are issued relative to each evaluation, addressing on a point-by-point basis all aspects of management of the judicial district. The reports are issued in final form to the Administrative Office and to the President

Judge and Court Administrator of the judicial district.

STANDARD JURY INSTRUCTIONS

The Standard Jury Instructions Committee has as its mission the preparation of jury instructions for use by trial judges in criminal cases, in the hope that errors which may lead to reversals can be avoided. The program is intended to help prevent costly and time consuming appeals and reversals which often require new trials. By thus expediting the proper trial of cases, the use of Standard Instructions should result in reduced backlogs and more rapid clearing of court dockets, allowing additional time for other phases, in the processing of criminal cases, thereby improving the overall administration of criminal justice.

DISTRICT JUSTICE STATISTICAL REPORTING UNIT

The Statistical Reporting Unit for District Justices of the Peace Courts refines all input forms and collects case volume statistics from every District Justice of Pennsylvania. This information is coded and input to the Administrative Office computer for comparative analysis. The Administrative Office has developed a new docket transcript form for statewide use. The statistical reporting staff is responsible for receiving and processing the court information section of the docket transcript.

PART III

Reports of Supreme Court Committees and Related Court Agencies

PART III REPORTS OF SUPREME COURT COMMITTEES AND RELATED COURT AGENCIES

CIVIL PROCEDURAL RULES COMMITTEE

The past year has been one of unparalleled activity. Most of it has been engendered by the procedural due process, equal protection and consumer revolution which has engulfed the judicial system, requiring extensive changes in civil practice and procedure.

There have been eight major revisions or amendments submitted to and approved by the Court, three proposed recommendations for Amendment Nos. 40, 41 and 42 have been circulated or are being prepared for circulation to the Bench and Bar for comment and suggestion before submission to the Court, and three major revisions of important civil procedural subjects are under active review. A summary of these activities follows:

1. Rule 3129 governing Notice of Execution Sale of Real Estate

Rule 3129, prior to its amendment, provided for notice of sale by posting and publication only. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in its initial opinion in Luskey v. Steffron, Inc., .461 Pa. 305, 336 A.2d 298 (1975) held the absence of a separate notice of sale to the defendant in the execution violated the due process clause of the United States Constitution. The rule was amended to correct this deficiency. It applies only to writs of execution issued after November 6, 1975.

2. Rules 2981 to 2986 governing the Action Required by Section 407 of Act No. 6 of 1974 (41 P.S. §407)

Section 407(a) of Act No. 6 of 1974 provides that, as to a residential mortgage, a plaintiff shall not have the right to execute on the basis of any judgment on confession until he follows the procedures provided by the Rules of Civil Procedure. He must file an appropriate action and proceed to judgment as in any original action.

3. Rule 1018.1 governing the Notice to Defend Rule 1018.1, effective July 1, 1975, requires a Notice to Defend on all complaints other than complaints in confession of judgment. The notice contains relevant information as to the defendant's rights together with specific reference to the agencies which can make available legal assistance if needed.

4. Rule 1009(f) governing the form of Notice to Defend in Service by Publication

Rule 1009(f), effective August 1, 1975, adapts the Notice to Defend required by Rule 1018.1 to apply to service by publication and provides the mandatory content of the publication.

5. Amendments to Rules 2039, 2051, 2064, 2206 and 76 governing Minors, Incompetents and Wrongful Death

These amendments, effective June 23, 1975, incorporate into the Rules important changes in the Probate, Estates and Fiduciaries Code made by Acts 293 and 295 of 1974. These changes include an increase to $10,000.00 in the amount which can be paid for the benefit of a minor or incompetent without the appointment of a guardian, including actions for wrongful death; the introduction of the "sequestered deposit" account up to the insured limits in insured savings and loan associations and an enlarged definition of incompetent.

6. Rules 1071 et seq. governing Replevin and Rule 3001 governing Transfer of Judgments

Rules 1071 et seq. governing the action of Replevin, effective October 1, 1975 were completely rewritten to meet the requirements of due process as stated by the United States Supreme Court in Fuentes v. Shevin, 407 U.S. 67, 92 S. Ct. 1983, 32 L. Ed. 2d 556 (1972) and Mitchell v. W. T. Grant Co., 416 U.S. 600, 94 S. Ct. 1895, 40 L. Ed. 2d 406 (1974). Writs of replevin are abolished. The rules provide for notice and hearing before any seizure of goods is authorized. Normally the seizure follows a hearing after the action is commenced but prejudgment seizure in certain-limited situations without prior notice is provided.

The definition of "judgment" in Rule 3001 was amended to permit the transfer of a judgment in replevin to another county if the goods are in that county.

7. Amendment to Rule 3123(a) governing Debtor's Exemption

Rule 3123(a) was amended effective June 23, 1975 to conform to the opinion of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in Mayhugh v. Goon, .460 Pa. 128, 331 A. 2d 452 (1975) invalidating contractual waivers of a debtor's exemption.

8. Amendments to Rules 1 to 13, 51, 52, 76, 202, 283, 223, 1044, 1461 and 2231 and to various Committee Notes

These amendments are "technical" in nature. Except for Rules 1 to 13 they involve no substantive changes. Obsolete references in Rules and Notes to now non-existing courts which were abolished by the new Judicial Article were deleted. Statutory references were made current. Rules 1 to 13 were deleted since appeals from administrative agencies covered by these Rules now go to the Commonwealth Court.

9. Amendments to Rules 1092, 1112, 1503 and

These amendments, governing venue, effective June 24, 1976, "technical" in nature, made necessary by the transfer of exclusive jurisdiction in certain instances to the Commonwealth Court in actions against the Commonwealth or its agencies. The amendments remove obsolete references to the Dauphin County Common Pleas Court in which such actions were originally brought before the establishment of the Commonwealth court.

10. Recommendation No. 40, Proposed Amendments to Rules of Civil Procedure 205.1, 221 and 227.1

These important revisions being circulated to the bench and bar for comment and suggestion make significant changes in present practice as follows:

(a) New Rule 205.1 is added authorizing filing by mail with the prothonotary, sheriff or other officers of papers not requiring prior action by or signature of the judge. It is designed to facilitate the statewide practice authorized by Rules of the Supreme Court and to suspend local rules requiring personal presentation.

(b) Rule 221 is amended to authorize the court to achieve a fair distribution of peremptory challenges where the number of parties on each side entitled to the present four peremptory challenges are unequal.

(c) Rule 227.1

This proposed new rule provides a uniform 10-day period for filing post-trial motions after non-jury and equity trials. No uniform time limit exists under present local rules and the time varies from four to twenty days in various counties.

11. Amendments and Revisions in Process

(a) Rules of Civil Procedure Governing Class Actions.

Proposed rules providing a complete procedure for the commencement and conduct of class actions are in process of final preparation for circulation to the Bench and Bar prior to their submission to the Court. They are designed to provide the procedure for the flood of class actions expected in our courts following recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court. That Court has limited such actions in the Federal Courts to cases in which there is both diversity of citizenship and each individual member of the class has a claim in excess of $10,000.

> (b) Revision of the Rules of Civil Procedure Governing Deposition and Dis-

Proposed amendments completely revising the rules on deposition and discovery adapting the Pennsylvania procedure to the recent amendments of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure are in process of completion for circulation to the Bench and Bar prior to their submission to the Court.

12. Future Work

The Committee presently has an enormous workload and in addition to its regular work has under active consideration the following major subjects:

> (a) Revision of the Rules Governing Foreign Attachment.

The United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit in a unanimous decision, Jonnet v. Dollar Savings Bank, et al., 530 F. 2d 1123, (1976), declared the historic practice in foreign attachment unconstitutional. Our rules must be amended to correct the due process deficiencies pointed out by the court.

(b) Declaratory Judgments.

The addition of a new chapter of rules on declaratory judgment which is presently not governed by rule is under active consideration.

(c) Appeals from Local Administrative Agencies.

The Local Administrative Agency Law of 1968 which provides generally for appeals from local administrative agencies where no appeal is specifically provided by statute contains no procedural provisions. These must be provided by rule. Further, where appeals are authorized by statute there is a lack of uniformity among the multitude of statutes as to time for appeal and as to methods of procedure. This has led to suggestions for a uniform set of rules, drafts of which are under active consideration.

> (d) Medical Malpractice Arbitration. The Health Care Services Malpractice Act of 1975 left to the Civil Procedural Rules Committee the implementation of procedures for appeals to the common pleas court from the malpractice arbitration panel. The Committee is working in conjunction with the Health Care Administrator, so that rules governing appeals can be issued in connection with the proposed regulations to be issued by the Health Care Administrator for Arbitration Procedures.

In addition to the activities noted above, the Committee, also during the course of the year, has considered numerous suggestions for amendments from the Bench and Bar, answered innumerable inquiries concerning the Rules of Civil Procedure and has carried out a number of miscellaneous assignments from the Supreme Court dealing generally with judicial administration as distinguished from specific rules of civil procedure.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURAL RULES COMMITTEE

During the calendar year 1975, the Criminal Procedural Rules Committee continued to analyze and expand the Rules of Criminal Procedure and to propose reviews in response to need. In addition to particular rule revision, the Committee undertook broader general studies of the areas of preliminary and pretrial proceedings, A.R.D., prompt trial, and the institution of proceedings in summary and court cases. Numerous additional studies are in progress.

The following Rules and amendments were promulgated by the Court upon the recommendation of the Committee:

1. Instituting Proceedings in Summary Cases (Chapter 50)

These Rules, representing a total restructuring of the citation and summons system, were promulgated by the Court in 1974; however, in order to provide for substantial preparation time by law enforcement and court administration personnel, the effective date was extended until September, 1975. Amendments also were made in response to changes in the substantive law.

2. Instituting Proceedings in Court Cases (Chapter 100)

Amendments were made in this Chapter to parallel the Chapter 50 amendments (above), and for substantially the same reasons. The amendments also take into consideration changes in arrest powers made by substantive law.

3. Preliminary Hearings (Rule 141) Rule 141 was amended to address the interpretation problem noted by the Court in Commonwealth v. Mullen, 460 Pa. 336, 333 A:2d 755 (1975).

4. Examination and Challenges of Trial Jurors (Rules 1106, 1108)

Former Rules 1106 (Voir Dire in non-capital cases) and 1107 (Voir Dire in capital cases) were combined substantially and restructured to provide for one Rule with two separate voir dire options-an Individual Challenge System and a List System of Challenges. In addition, Rule 1108 (relating to alternate jurors) was restructured to allow for more than two alternates, if these became necessary in the judgment of the trial court.

5. Sentencing Proceedings (Chapter 1400) After careful study, certain portions of the Sentencing Code of 1975 deemed procedural in nature were suspended as inconsistent with this Chapter. At the same time, Rule 1406 was amended to delete a paragraph felt to be more properly statutorily covered by Section 1357 of the Sentencing Code.

Rule 1401 was amended to allow, in certain instances, sentences to be imposed by a judge other than a trial judge.

In view of new appellate rules on the subject, the Supreme Court, on its own motion and after communication with the Committee, suspended Chapter 1600 (In Forma Pauperis) and amended Rule 6001 (relating to transfer of cases from Municipal Court to Common Pleas, in Philadelphia).

A major aspect of the Committee's function is its liaison with other organizations and individuals in the criminal justice system. The Committee is not empowered to render advisory opinions interpreting the Rules, but with that limitation, does attempt to further understanding of the Rules.

The Committee has had various occasions to work co-operatively with the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts and other Committees of the Supreme Court. Committee representatives have continued to meet with particular individuals and court group representatives in order to discuss matters of concern and viewpoints. Additionally, extensive correspondence has continued with the many interested persons throughout the Commonwealth who have offered helpful suggestions and constructive criticism. Finally, where appropriate, the Committee has tried to maintain contact with those individuals in the Executive and Legislative branches responsible for implementing and initiating action in the area of criminal justice, in an attempt to avoid duplication of efforts.

The Committee maintained its analysis and supervisory project relating to local court rules, compiling a complete record and catalogue of such rules. More extensive efforts are planned to review the local rules for compliance with the statewide Rules of Criminal Procedure, Throughout 1975, the full Committee met seventeen meeting days. Additionally, subcommittee meetings and extensive regular Staff meetings were held. The Committee's practice of extensive preparation for each meeting was continued by the Staff preparation of extensive written research materials on each agenda item.

In 1975, Joanna K. Weinberg, Esquire, previously Staff Counsel, was named as Staff Counsel and Director of Research and Mark Lipkowitz, Esquire, joined the Staff as Staff Counsel. In February, 1976, Stanford Shmukler, Esquire, became Secretary after serving ably as Secretary and Executive Director for several years.

Membership remained unchanged in 1975; during the first half of 1976, terms were set for all committee members and four new members were appointed by the Committee. It must be noted that the Committee suffered a tragic loss upon the death of Vice-Chairman Martin Vinikor in March, 1976. His dedicated service to the Committee and the Court extended from 1962 to his death.

MINOR COURT CIVIL PROCEDURAL RULES COMMITTEE

Pennsylvania district justices of the peace, like all other classes of judges, are under the supervision of the Supreme Court through its administrative arm, the Office of the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania, known as the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts (AOPC). Litigation rules are prepared by rules committees and submitted to the Court, usually on its request. The Criminal Procedure Rules Committee provides this service as to criminal procedure matters handled by the district justices. The Minor Court Civil Procedural Rules Committee, on the Court's request, has provided suggested texts for promulgated civil rules since 1969, including also Rules governing Standards of Conduct of Justices of the Peace.

On February 27, 1975, the Committee sent to the Supreme Court a recommended amendment to Rule 308 of the Rules of Civil Procedure Governing Actions and Proceedings before Justices of the Peace. Rule 308 deals with service upon individuals in trespass and assumpsit cases. This action was taken by the Committee by mail ballot, as an emergency matter, to accommodate a change in the United States Postal regulations, effective March 1, 1975, whereby registered or certified mail could no longer be marked by the legend "deliver to addressee only", a new "restricted delivery" system having been adopted which would permit delivery to an agent of the addressee as well as to the addressee personally. This amendment was adopted by the Supreme Court on March 26, 1975, to become effective March 31, 1975.

At a regular meeting of the Committee on March 21, 1975, the Committee recommended amendments to Rules 4, 7, 15, 101, 112, 305, 314, 315, 318, 324, 481, 504, 506, 508, 517, 1004, 1005 and 1011 of the Rules of Conduct, Office Standards and Civil Procedure for Justices of the Peace. These amendments were adopted by the Supreme Court on October 17, 1975, to become effective ninety (90) days after that date. While some of these amendments were of a technical nature, many of them were to make marked improvements in the justice of the peace system. For example, the amendment to Rule 4 required the wearing of judicial robes by justices of the peace while conducting hearings and trials, thus enhancing the dignity of these proceedings. The amendment to Rule 15 contained provisions governing the political conduct not only of justices of the peace but also candidates for that office. The amendment to Rule 314 permitted reinstatement of complaints in trespass and assumpsit cases which had been dismissed without prejudice because of failure of service in the time required by the rules. The amendment to Rule 315 required that a crosscomplaint in a trespass or assumpsit action be filed at least five (5) days before the date set for the hearing, thus giving the justice of the peace time to notify the plaintiff or his attorney of the new hearing time and date set because of the cross-complaint so that the plaintiff will not arrive at the office of the justice of the peace only to find that the original date of the hearing will be changed to a later date. The amendments to Rules 318, 324, 1005 and 1011 required (Rules 318 and 324) or permitted (Rules 1005 and 1011) certain notices and documents to be given to attorneys of record of the parties.

By mail ballot, as an emergency matter, the Committee decided to propose to the Supreme Court amendments to Rules 407, 409, 481 and 482 of the Rules Governing Actions and Proceedings Before Justices of the Peace. These proposed amendments transmitted to the Supreme Court on May 1, 1975, were approved by the Court on June 30, 1975, to become effective immediately. Although the changes to Rules 481 and 482 were technical, the amendments to Rules 407 and 409 were in response to the case of Mayhugh v. Coon, 460 Pa. 128, 331 A. 2d 452 (1975) which held that a debtor's statutory $300 exemption (12 P.S. § 2161) cannot be waived by the debtor, either expressly or by implication.

expressly or by implication.

At a regular meeting on December 19, 1975, the Committee recommended amendments to Rules 307, 315, 402, 403, 412, 506, 507, 508, 801, 808, 816 and 1009 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for Justices of the Peace. These amendments were approved by the Supreme Court on January 29, 1976, to become effective thirty (30) days after that date. The amendment to rule 307 permits the justice of the peace to effect out-ofcounty service in trespass and assumpsit cases by sending a copy of the complaint for service to a justice of the peace in the county in which service is to be made, instead of restricting such service to deputized service by a sheriff as was previously the case, although deputized service by a sheriff may still be used if thought desirable. The amendment to Rule 402 clarified the procedure for entering a justice of the peace judgment in the court of common pleas. The amendment to Rule 412 requires the sheriff or constable, upon an execution sale of personal property, to mail a copy of the handbill to the defendant at his last known address, in addition to the methods of giving notice of sale otherwise required by the rule. The amendment to Rule 506 requires that service of the complaint in landlord and tenant cases be made both by first class mail and by service upon the tenant or an adult person in charge of the premises, or, if no such person is found, by posting. This amendment was intended to obviate constitutional objections raised as to the sufficiency of service under the former rule. The amendments not specifically referred to above are generally of a technical nature.

At its December 19, 1975 meeting, the Committee also proposed a set of thirteen rules to govern the standards of conduct for constables. Rules on this subject obviously being authorized under the authority of § 10(c), Article V, of the 1968 Constitution of Pennsylvania, the Committee felt that the time had come to provide a definite set of standards for constables, who are the most commonly used enforcement arm of the minor court system. These new constables' rules were adopted by the Supreme Court on January 29, 1976, to become effective ninety (90) days after that date. On April 15, 1976, the effective date was deferred until November 15, 1976 to allow further time to consider suggestions and recommendations by legislators and constables' associations.

THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON APPEL-LATE COURT RULES

The Advisory Committee on Appellate Court Rules was created by the Supreme Court in October, 1973. The Committee was charged with the responsibility of making a complete review of the practice in the Supreme, Superior and Commonwealth Courts. In May, 1975, the Committee submitted to the Supreme Court a proposed draft of Pennsylvania Rules of Appellate Procedure. As a result of consideration by the Court and questions raised by it, revisions to the draft were submitted in September, 1975. By order of November 5, 1975 the Supreme Court promulgated the new appellate rules, effective July 1, 1976. Many suggested changes are still being received and considered.

The new rules represent the first general revision of Pennsylvania appellate practice since the enactment of the Practice Act of 1897. It is noted that Rule 5107 allows for transitional problems to be dealt with until July 1, 1977.

JUDICIAL INQUIRY AND REVIEW BOARD

The Judicial Inquiry and Review Board was created constitutionally by amendments to the Judiciary Article adopted by the voters in 1968. This Board is the Supreme Court's instrumentality for managing all disciplinary and competency matters involving members of the Judiciary. As noted elsewhere in this report, the Board is constitutionally defined and contains nine members, of whom there are judges of the common pleas from different judicial districts, and two are judges of the Superior Court, all of the judge members being selected by the Supreme Court. In addition, there are four nonjudge members, two members of the Bar, and two non-law electors. The four non-judge members are selected by the Governor. All of the functions and prerogatives of this Board are minutely spelled out in Section 18 of the Judiciary Article.

The following is a report of activities of the Judicial Inquiry and Review Board for the year 1975:

During 1975 the Supreme Court ordered action on six cases which are now closed. The Court ordered admonishments in two matters involving district justices and removed a third district justice from office. Three judges were admonished on orders from the Supreme Court and were directed to turn over to the treasury of the Commonwealth monies representing cash gifts received by them at testimonial dinners given in their honor.

Two testimonial cases remain open. The judges were admonished on orders from the Supreme Court and have paid some of assessments levied, with balances being paid off in installments.

Two district justices charged with criminal offenses are under interim suspensions entered by the Supreme Court on the Board's recommendation.

The Board instituted formal proceedings in 1975 against certain district justices and judges. Hearings were held during the year and oral argument was heard before the Board in some of these cases. The Board, in such matters files its Report, Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law with the Supreme Court.

Of the many open cases, two matters concerning district justices and one matter concerning a judge are awaiting hearing. Formal charges are being prepared in one case involving a district justice and in one case involving a judge. Findings of Fact and Recommendation are being prepared for filing with the Supreme Court in a case involving a district justice. One case concerning a district justice is awaiting decision by the Supreme Court and a case concerning a judge is being held in abeyance awaiting outcome of criminal proceedings. In this latter case the judge has, on his own request, been granted leave without pay and is performing no judicial function.

Early in the year the Board determined that its Rules of Procedure adopted June 27, 1969 should be reviewed. As a result of a Board study, proposed amendments were submitted to the Supreme Court and adopted by the Court on June 30, 1975, effective July 1, 1975. Among the changes was the creation of an investigating committee empowered to compel attendance and testimony of witnesses. No member who has served on an investigating committee may thereafter sit as part of a hearing committee on the same case. Another addition is the allowance of the taking of testimony by deposition or by commission under special circumstances. The review of Board procedural rules is part of the ongoing policy on reviewing policy and procedures to assure the fairness and effectiveness of operations.

Preliminary investigations and investigations in the field have been stepped up during the reporting period. Personal communications between the investigator and complainants, and between witnesses and judges has improved the quality of the Board's work. However, one investigator cannot cover the state. Consequently, the Board is compelled to be selective with its very limited facilities. The Board is forced to refer certain investigations to the Pennsylvavania Department of Justice, the office of the State Court Administrator, and to others. The Board is increasingly feeling the need to expand its investigative staff.

The Board is continuing to meet excellent cooperation from judges, including district justices. However, occasionally there are unseemly reactions to Board investigations. Most of these arise from a lack of appreciation of the vital importance of a single agency commissioned to receive complaints and to process them to the proper conclusion. Admittedly the number of judges who should be deprived of office by compulsory retirement, suspension or permanent removal is small. However, such action is essential to improve the administration of justice. Informal admonishments and censures have proved to be useful implements toward the same purpose. Every judge meting out justice in the public forum of the courtroom must realize that he should consider himself accountable to answer for his conduct to this Board, the constitutionally designated agency to investigate and report to the Supreme Court. Most members of the judiciary accept this with a proper spirit of cooperation and realize that the Board is an effective agency for the protection of judges unfairly accused.

Another area of misinterpretation arises out of a misunderstanding as to the limited authority of the Board. It is apparently not completely understood that the Board only investigates, hears and makes recommendations to the Supreme Court and that the Court may accept, reject or modify such recommendations, or may order further investigation.

There appears to be a need for broader dissemination of information to the judiciary so that the judges may more fully understand Board procedures and realize that Board questions, addressed to them in preliminary investigations, are only for the purpose of getting the facts and do not per se imply wrongdoing. The Board is undertaking some educational measures such as the publication of articles for the Philadelphia Bar Association's Retainer and the Pennsylvania Bar Association Quarterly.

THE LAWYERS' DISCIPLINARY BOARD

The Disciplinary Board of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, since 1972, has had exclusive jurisdiction, subject to Supreme Court review, to manage all disciplinary matters involving lawyers in Pennsylvania. This Board and its complex and regionalized systems were created by a comprehensive set of rules promulgated by the Supreme Court on March 21, 1972, pursuant to constitutional power granted to the Court in the Judiciary Article as amended in 1968. This innovative Board, although its members are appointed by the Supreme Court, maintains a separate status, free from all branches of the State Government. Indeed, it accepts no State funding, but derives its operating funds solely from registration fees paid by the lawyers annually as licensing charges.

During 1975 there were 1,761 complaints received and 1,716 which were disposed of by a number of types of dispositions such as dismissals, informal admomitions, private reprimands, or imposition of public discipline (i.e., public censure, suspension or disbarment). As of December 31, 1975 there was a total of 901 active complaints on hand requiring further action. New complaints averaging around 150 in number continue to be received each month. On a cumulative basis over the period of The Disciplinary Board's active operational existence from November 1, 1972 through December 31, 1975, there have been 5,467 complaints received of which 4,566 have been finally disposed.

The following tabulation presents a summary of disciplinary actions for the various periods indicated:

(A) Disciplinary Cases: 1. Informal Admonitions 12-31-73 12-31-74	75 Total 189 14
	14
2. Private Reprimand 0 6 8
3. Public Censure 0 2 5	7
4. Suspensions 3 12 12	27
5. Disbarments 3 4 6	13
Total of Disciplinary Actions 43 105 102	250
(B) Reinstatement Cases:
1. Petitions for Reinstatement Granted 1 2 2	5
2. Petitions for Reinstatement Denied 1 2 2	5

11-1-72

In addition to the above a total of 20 disciplinary matters prosecuted were dismissed after hearing and review by the Board.

As of December 31, 1975 there were 69 cases in various stages of formal proceedings which had not finally been determined and an additional 20 matters where formal prosecution of charges was determined necessary but on which filing of petitions for discipline were pending.

The burden of considering complaints going through formal proceedings by the hearing committees, the Disciplinary Board and the Supreme Court continues to be a significant one in terms of numbers and hours dedicated to this task. To alleviate somewhat this burden, three additional hearing committees were appointed to serve in District IV (western 1/3 of the Commonwealth). There are now 108 hearing committee members serving on 36 hearing committees. Hearing committee members also serve individually as "Reviewing Members" in the initial determination of probable cause warranting formal prosecution in the determination of informal admonition as the appropriate discipline in the disposition of a case. The raw statistics presented above, however, do not present the complete story.

In this day of "consumerism" it is imperative that persons with complaints have some forum for the presentation, consideration and disposition of their grievances. In many cases, it was apparent that there had been a bona fide misunderstanding or a breakdown in communications between the client and his attorney or there had been some slight neglect by the attorney and the filing of the complaint activated the attorney in taking appropriate action which satisfied the client. In such situations, the Disciplinary Board Staff serves as both ombudsman and catalyst and renders a valuable service to the public and the profession. Many expressions of appreciation have been received from complainants who previously experienced a sense of frustration and futility.

Several positive steps have been taken in an effort to reduce the Board's nagging backlog. During the summer three law students were engaged to assist the staff, and the permanent staff has been augmented. The Rules of Disciplinary Enforcement and the Board Rules are being reviewed in an effort to ascertain possibilities of expediting the process without infringing on due process requirements. The time lag, particularly in cases involving serious charges, between the filing of the complaint and ultimate disposition by the Board and the court is a particularly disturbing item. While there had been tremendous improvement in this respect as contrasted to the inordinate delays which were inherent in the old system, nevertheless the time consumed in disposing of some of the cases remains continually vexing.

On the encouraging side of the ledger, it is a pleasure to report that the docket of The Disciplinary Board is completely current.

In summary, the disciplinary system, after initial "growing pains", is maturing as all had hoped to a point of increasing effectiveness. The Disciplinary Board, viewed nationally as a model system, and its members, have assisted other jurisdictions by sharing rules, procedures, forms and experience.

STATE BOARD OF LAW EXAMINERS

The activities of the State Board of Law Examiners during the year 1975 follows:

For the Bar examination in February, 1975, 370 examinees took the examination and 237 passed, or a passing rate of 64%. For the July Bar examination 1,649 examinees took the examination and 1,389 passed or a passing rate of 84%.

Anthony S. Minisi, Esq., of Philadelphia was appointed a member of the Board in the place of Judge Abraham Lipez, who after fifteen years of faithful service requested the Supreme Court not to reappoint him.

Due to the increasing mobility of lawyers, particularly those employed in the Legal Departments of corporations, there has been an increase in the number of lawyers seeking admission to the Bar on motion.

Two actions were brought against the Board (1) by a patent attorney in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. He is a patent lawyer employed in Pennsylvania by a corporation. He contends that his practice before the U.S. Patent Office in Washington, D.C., constitutes practice of the Law outside of Pennsylvania and should qualify him for admission on motion, and (2) a complaint of discrimination filed by a Philadelphia attorney on behalf of certain black and Puerto Rican examinees who failed the February, 1975 Bar examination. The Complaint was filed with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in Philadelphia on the theory that the Board is "an employer" under Title VII of the Act. The Board contends that it is not "an employer" and that the E.E.O.C. has no jurisdiction over the Board.

COMMITTEE FOR PROPOSED STANDARD JURY INSTRUCTIONS

The Supreme Court's Committee for Proposed Jury Instructions submitted the following report:

1. Civil Instructions Subcommittee

On February 9, 1975, the Civil Instructions Subcommittee met to consider a number of drafts prepared for the meeting. Eight instructions on agency law were reviewed and generally approved. However, the reporter was requested to rewrite the notes to these instructions in accordance with decisions taken at the meeting. Also reviewed was an instruction on res ipsa loquitur drafted in accordance with Gilbert v. Korvette, 457 Pa. 602, 327 A.2d 94 (1974). The instruction was approved, but it was determined that the note should be revised.

At its meeting on June 1, 1975, the Subcommittee looked again at the agency instructions and approved eleven of them. A draft instruction on the imputation of a driver's negligence to a passenger was discussed, and the decision was made to rewrite it in accordance with the directions of the Subcommittee. The doctrine of assumption of the risk was debated, and it was determined that this doctrine probably was now of very limited application, and a "negative" instruction was to be prepared consisting of a note explaining the matter. A draft instruction on reckless and wilful misconduct was reviewed, but a different theory was adopted by the Subcommittee calling for a redraft. A draft instuction on impeachment by inconsistent statements was adopted. At the conclusion of this meeting it was determined that the instructions previously adopted on products liability would have to be reconsidered in light of the decision in Berkebile v. Brantly Helicop-__ Pa. ___ ter Corporation,_ A.2d 893 (1975). The Subcommittee also decided to take another look at the instructions on professional negligence of physicians which had previously been considered.

At its meeting on December 14, 1975, the Subcommittee approved ten instructions on products liability, subject to a change in the note to the first instruction. Nine instructions on professional negligence of physicians were tentatively approved subject to an examination of the Health Care Services Malpractice Act to see if the Act required any changes or additions. The Subcommittee approved an instruction on imputation of a driver's negligence to a passenger, one on the loaned servant doctrine, an instruction on the duty of care of an owner/occupier of land, and a draft of the concluding instructions to be given to the jury. A "negative instruction" on assumption of the risk, consisting of a note on the subject, was reviewed, but some question remained as to whether the note was sufficiently complete. It was decided to examine the No-Fault Motor Vehicle Insurance Act to see if that Act required changes or additions to the instructions on damages or their notes that had previously been approved by the Subcommittee.

In addition to the matters still under review mentioned above, the Civil Instructions Subcommittee intends to prepare instructions on warranty and punitive or exemplary damages. This will complete the work of the Subcommittee

2. Criminal Instructions Subcommittee

On February 8, 1975, the Criminal Instructions Subcommittee met to consider reporters' drafts on the following subjects: Murder (all degrees and penalty instructions); Voluntary Manslaughter (as a lesser included offense to murder and when charged alone); Arson (various kinds); Burglary; Bribery (various kinds); Threats in Official or Political Matters; Retaliation for Past Official Actions; and a revised instruction on the defense of insanity. After considerable discussion and a number of changes, these instructions were approved by the Subcommittee.

On June 7, 1975, the Subcommittee met to consider the following draft instructions; revised instruction on Presumption of Innocence, Burden of Proof, Reasonable Doubt; Justification (11 instructions); Criminal Trespass (various kinds); offenses under Chapter 29 of the Crimes Code (Kidnapping, False Imprisonment, etc.,—16 instructions); offenses under Chapter 31 of the Crimes Code (sexual offenses—8 instructions); offenses under Chapter 49 of the Crimes Code (Perjury and Other Falsification in Official Matters—16 instructions). After a number of changes were made, these instructions were approved by the Subcommittee.

On December 13, 1975, the Subcommittee reviewed the following draft instructions submitted by the reporters: Arson (intent to collect insurance); Indecent Assault and Exposure; Official Oppression; Speculating or Wagering on Official Action of Information; offenses under Chapter 39 of the Crimes Code (Theft and Related Matters—26 instructions); offenses under Chapter 43 of the Crimes Code (Offenses Against the Family—10 instructions); offenses under Chapter 51 of the Crimes Code (Obstructing Governmental Operations—20 instructions); offenses under Chapter 55 of the Crimes Code (Riot, Disorderly Conduct, and Related Offenses—14 instructions). These instructions were approved by the Subcommittee after changes were made in a number of them.

The Criminal Instructions Subcommittee will prepare instructions on all important offenses and matters in the Crimes' Code for which instructions have not yet been completed.

3. Socio-Legal Subcommittee

In 1975, the work of the Socio-Legal Subcommittee consisted of a review by the research director of the Subcommittee, a psychologist specializing in communications, of draft instructions prepared by the reporters of the Civil and Criminal Subcommittees. This review was for understandability of the instructions by the average jury member. Some of the resulting suggestions were adopted by the General Reporter and later by the respective Subcommittee. In 1976, the research director will be assisted by another psychologist, and it is expected that this will enable the Socio-Legal Subcommittee to broaden the scope of its functions.

4. Funding and Administration

The Supreme Court Committee for Proposed Standard Jury Instructions is funded in part by an LEAA subgrant from the Governor's Justice Commission. As in the past, the project is administered, except for funding matters, by the Pennsylvania Bar Institute.

THE JUVENILE COURT JUDGES' COMMISSION

The Commission noted the following activities in 1975:

Distribution of $1,232,108 to the fifty-six Juvenile Courts of Pennsylvania that follow the Juvenile Court Judges' Commission employment and program standards.

The Commission also distributed $75,357 to twenty-two counties for special projects. These projects involved assisting the local juvenile courts to program innovative activities to improve juvenile probation services.

The Juvenile Court Judges' Commission sponsored eleven training programs ranging from two to four days duration for juvenile probation officers. Three hundred and fourteen juvenile probation officers were trained in treatment, rehabilitation and the law.

The Commission staff conducted forty nine field visits. These staff visits included providing advisory services to probation personnel and judges and conducting comprehensive evaluations of probation departments and preparing recommendations for program.

The Commission promulgated the Caseload Classification and Supervision Approaches report to juvenile probation officers, judges and other interested parties. This report systematically analyzes the juvenile court process and identifies the critical decision-making points, and provides systematic and objective standards to help the court and the juvenile probation officer in the decision-making process.

Studies of volunteers in probation programs, juvenile court intake process, and the use of Masters in Juvenile Court were initiated to formulate standards and recommendations to improve the operation and services of these critical areas.

Programs were also commenced to analyze the training needs of juvenile court judges, and provide for judicial visitation of facilities for the commitment of juveniles adjudicated delinquent.

PART V

COURTS OF COMMON PLEAS JUDICIAL CASE VOLUME

The number of new cases filed with courts of common pleas in 1975 was 290,757 for an increase of 27,398 or 10.4 percent over 1974. This was the largest number of cases filed in the system since 1970. Case filings per authorized judgeships were 1.0201 in 1975.

judgeships were 1,020<sup>1</sup> in 1975.

There were 277,812 cases disposed of in 1975 or 16,083 or 6.1 percent more than 1974. As with filings, this was the largest number of dispositions since 1970 and represents 975<sup>1</sup> case dispositions per authorized judgeship.

The inventory of cases increased to 96,597 at the end of 1975. This was the largest inventory of cases reported since 1972 when 96,986 cases were pending. The inventory change in the 1974-1975 period was 7,412 cases for an increase of 8.3 percent. Total inventory of pending cases amounts to 339<sup>1</sup> cases per authorized judgeship. Based on the 1975 disposition rate of all cases, this amounts to approximately 4.2 months of judicial work.

The law trained judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia have jurisdiction to try without a jury certain classes of criminal offenses which are punishable by imprisonment of not more than five years, including some misdemeanor offenses under the Motor Vehicle Code, with the right of appeal for de novo treatment, and jury trial if desired, in the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County. There are currently 16 law trained Municipal Court judges. There were 31,753 criminal cases filed in Municipal Court in 1975, and 32,275 cases disposed of. The inventory of cases at the end of 1975 was 4,258 cases.

If the criminal case volume of the Municipal Court is added to total case volume of courts of common pleas, the total case volume is markedly changed.<sup>2</sup> Total cases filed in 1975 then becomes 322,510 (1,071 per authorized judgeship); 310,087 disposed of (1,030 per authorized judgeship); and inventory of 100,855 cases (335 per authorized judgeship). The inclusion of Municipal Court cases for statistical purposes increases filings per judge by 51 cases; dispositions by 55 cases and decreases the inventory by four cases.<sup>3</sup> No attempt has been made to fix an acceptable limit on filings and dispositions per judgeship.

Indictable criminal, domestic relations, juvenile court and divorce cases accounted for 67.7 percent of total new cases filed in 1975 and 66.9 percent of total cases disposed of.<sup>3</sup> While these cases account for a substantial percentage of new cases and dispositions, they make up 57.7 percent of pending cases. On the other hand, civil trial and arbitration cases comprise 16.8 percent and 17.1 percent of total new cases and total dispositions respectively and account for 21.0 percent of the total inventory of pending cases. This points up the fact that criminal cases in high volume are disposed of in a more timely manner than are civil matters.

Criminal Case Volume: Criminal case input exceeded dispositions in 1975 by 5,957 cases. At the end of 1975, the inventory of criminal cases was 27,238 reflecting the first increase in criminal inventory since 1972. There was an increase of 10,257 or 16.9 percent in new criminal cases filed in 1975 over 1974. There was also an increase in dispositions of 4,518 cases or 7.5 percent in the same period.

Even though there was a significant increase in new cases and a lesser increase in dispositions, the inventory of cases grew by 434 cases or 1.6 percent in the 1974-75 period. This was the result of adjustments for the termination of inactive cases, fugitives, etc. By adjusting criminal cases, an accurate inventory of the status of active defendant records is presented as shown below:

	1971	1972,	1973	1974	1975	Change 1974/75
New Cases	60,125	61,086	56,995	60,638	70,895	10,257	16.9%
Dispositions	54,978	57,035	57,492	60,420	64,938	4,518	7.5%
Inventory	28,941	32,829	27,853	26,804	27,238	434	1.6%

STATUS OF ACTIVE UNDISPOSED DEFENDANT RECORDS

	1974		1975
Defendants Not Indicted	10,223	38%	9,894	36%
Defendants Indicted—Not Tried	13,238	49%	14,044	52%
Defendants Tried—Not Sentenced	3,343	13%	3,300	_12%
	26,804	100%	27,238	100%

In the 1974-1975 period, the status of defendants not indicted decreased by 2 percent while defendants indicted—not tried increased by 3 percent. This indicates that defendant records are being processed faster prior to grand jury action and on information filed, which means that more defendants are in the trial stream. The quicker processing of defendants may also have an impact on the increased number of dispositions in the same period.

A breakdown of the status of all active undisposed defendant case records for all counties is shown for comparative purposes. It should be pointed out that, in addition to reflecting at what point each defendant record is being processed by each county, the chart indicates how local jurisdictions manage their criminal calendars.

Disposition of Criminal Cases: Although there was an increase in the number of criminal cases disposed in 1975, the percentage of cases disposed by manner of disposition showed little change in the 1974-1975 period. Most cases (47%) were disposed of by guilty pleas, while jury trials accounted for 5 percent of the total dispositions, with trials without jury, at 12 percent.

There has been a noticeable trend in the increased utilization of the Accelerated Rehabilitative Disposition (ARD) program, and continued limited application of disposition in lieu of trial. This trend in ARD dispositions is also apparent in the Philadelphia Municipal Court System, which handles the majority of ARD cases in Philadelphia County.

Abolition of Indicting Grand Jury: In 1974, the citizens of Pennsylvania approved an amendment to the Pennsylvania constitution providing each Court of Common Pleas with the option to abolish the indicting grand jury and authorize process by information. Common pleas courts desiring to abolish the indicting grand jury in a county may do so by petition to the Supreme Court for approval. At the end of 1975, 36 courts had received Supreme Court approval.

Since 1972, the number of grand jury dismissals has shown a decline on a statewide basis. In 1975, less than 5 percent of total state dispositions were grand jury dismissals. It is anticipated that abolition of indicting grand juries will speed the processing of criminal cases and also provide a significant cost benefit to the counties.

Juvenile Court: Juvenile court cases are "counted" when a petition or complaint has been filed with the court, and as "disposed" after a disposition is made by the court. The number of juvenile cases filed with courts has increased in the 1971-1975 period, while dispositions have not kept pace with filings, dispositions have increased by 9,552 cases or 33.2 percent in the period. Inventory of juvenile cases reached a high peak of 5,920 cases in 1975, which is a 34.9 percent increase over 1974.

Civil Cases: There were 19,959 new civil cases filed in 1975, for a slight increase of 362, or 1.8 percent over 1974. The number of new civil cases entering the system remained stable in the 1973-1975 period. In that same period, however, there was a slight increase each year in the number of new arbitration cases placed at issue.

The number of civil case dispositions in 1975 declined by 505 cases, or 2.6 percent over 1974.

In the 1973-1975 period there has been a slight decrease in dispositions each year with a corresponding increase in the inventory. The number of arbitration dispositions also decreased from 30,392 cases in 1974 to 28,770 cases in 1975 (by 1,622 cases or 5.3 percent less than 1974). There was an increase of .9 percent in the 1975 inventory of arbitration cases.

Reflects a transfer of 10,655 cases in Philadelphia from the civil trial list to arbitration as the result of the increase to $10,000 in arbitration limits.

As in past years, most (58 percent) civil trial cases are settled either before trial or verdict. Settlements are often the result of pre-trial conferences in which judges spend long hours with parties in an attempt to reach an agreement. The percent of cases disposed of by jury trial (10%) and trial without a jury (12%) in 1975 accounts for virtually the same percentage of dispositions in the 1971-1975 period except for a notable deviation in jury trials in 1971. It appears on the basis of this analysis that the number of cases disposed in any year, in the 1971-1975 period, has had little effect on the percentage in each category of dispositions to total dispositions.

Arbitration Cases: Compulsory arbitration is an alternative program which is designed to encompass every civil controversy imaginable from the court systems and to submit select classes of civil matters within certain dollar limits to boards of arbitrators. This program having its beginning in 1836 in Pennsylvania has been very successful. It permits courts to devote their time and attention to the more complex and difficult matters. Presently, jurisdiction in compulsory arbitration is fixed at $10,000 in counties of the first, second, and second class A, and at $5,000 in all other counties. Courts in their counties do not have to set arbitration limits at the statutory limit. In 1975, Adams and Lackawanna Counties adopted local rules for arbitration. Forest, Sullivan and Susquehanna Counties have not adopted local rules providing for arbitration. In these counties, judges must hear all civil cases, regardless of the amounts at issue.

In 1975, new arbitration cases accounted for 59 percent of civil cases placed at issue and 61 percent of civil case dispositions. Obviously, without this program, the court systems statewide would be overwhelmed by impossible civil caseloads.

Divorce Cases: Divorce cases account for a substantial number of cases filed and disposed of each year. In 1975, 38,313 divorce cases were filed (cases are "counted" when master in divorce is appointed) and 36,332 cases were disposed (final decree entered). In the 1974-1975 period, there were increases comparable to other increases in the number of cases filed and disposed; however, the inventory of such cases increased by 1,981, or 14.5 percent.

In the 1971-1975 period, the number of divorce cases filed increased by 9,739 cases, or 34.1 percent, while the number of cases disposed increased by 10,026 cases or 38.3 percent. The use of masters is optional. They are in general use, however, and have proved to be an effective practice for diverting cases. This procedure has been authorized by Pennsylvania Statutes since 1815 (Act of March 13, 1815, P.L. 150, 6 Sm.L.286 52 as amended). In 1948, the statutory provisions were suspended absolutely by Pennsylvania Rules of Civil Procedure. Presently, Rule 1133 contains the controlling provisions for the appointment of masters in divorce proceedings.

Methodology for Reporting Common Pleas Courts Statistics: The Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts collects statistics from Courts of Common Pleas on three monthly reporting forms which are filed with the Administrative Office by the tenth day of the following month. The statistics are compiled by representatives in each of the 67 counties. These forms are prepared by court administrators, clerks of courts, prothonotaries and their staffs. Much of the information, however, is obtained from other related personnel, such as juvenile court officers, adult probation personnel, district attorneys, domestic relations court staffs, judges' secretaries, and frequently from the judges themselves. It is through the cooperative efforts of these many individuals that the report of common pleas court statistics is made possible. The purpose of the statistical gathering program is to reflect the case volume of the Courts of Common Pleas. The unit of measure must, of course, be uniform, and provide for the time a case is initiated and when it is terminated must be in accordance with standard established reporting procedures. The methodology used for preparing the three monthly reporting forms—criminal, civil and miscellaneous—is explained as follows.

Criminal Cases: The criminal report form designed by the Administrative Office does not require detailed information. It is intended to reflect only the numbers of defendants charged with misdemeanor and felony offenses, brought into the judicial system, the manner in which their cases are disposed, and the inventory of active defendant case records at the end of each month.

The unit of count used for tabulation is the defendant. Each defendant involved in a single trial is a separate unit of count, regardless of the number of indictments or charges. The inception of the case for reporting purposes is the docketing of the transcript in the Clerk of Courts' office. The case is reported as a disposition when the defendant is sentenced, or when the defendant is acquitted, or has his case dismissed by the grand jury, or nolle prossed. The sentence is reported solely as a disposition; and the report form is intended to reflect the manner in which the defendant was tried, not the result. Information as to trial dates, offenses, representation, prior record, fines and costs, probation, commitment, and the like, is contained in the individual defendant disposition report filed monthly whth the Bureau of Criminal Justice Statistics (Form JCJS-301) by Clerks of Courts.

If during the month the same defendant is brought into the system under separate transcripts and counted as two cases, but subsequently both cases are disposed in a single trial, the adjustment is made on the report. Adjustments are also used to remove defendants who cannot be indicted, tried or sentenced within a reasonable period of time (including those who are fugitives, in military service or committed to mental institutions, and thus periodically removed from the inventory of "active" open undisposed cases. (See Pa. R.J.A. 1901 and Pa. R. Crim. P. 1100).

At the end of each month the number of undisposed "active" defendants is divided into three categories: (a) defendants not indicted, (b) defendants indicted but not tried, and (c) defendants tried but not sentenced.

The monthly criminal report form also reflects the number of judges in the report month who were assigned to try criminal cases, as well as the number of visiting or senior judges so assigned. Each county is required to report the number of "trial days" in the report month, a trial day being an evidentiary hearing of record, as distinguished from judicial time spent on arguments, motions, pre-trial and post-trial petitions and sentencing. The report is not intended to reflect total judicial time spent.

Civil Cases: The only statewide compilation of civil caseloads is the one made by the Administrative Office. The Office's monthly civil report form covers specific types of actions, such as assumpsit, general trespass, trespass involving motor vehicles, equity and includes other less numerous types of triable civil actions, civil actions such as ejectment, condemnation, mandamus, and statutory civil appeals. In addition, cases usually "tried" through masters, such as arbitration and divorce actions, are included on this form.

Since the vast majority of civil actions commenced never reach the trial stream, docketed cases are not counted until praeciped, or certified as being ready for trial. Once a case has been so placed at issue, however, it remains open and part of the "active" case inventory until it is tried, settled or transferred to an inactive status. The report reflects only the manner in which the case was disposed: settled, tried by jury, stricken, or tried by court without jury. A case initially counted as ready for trial and transferred to an arbitration panel is considered as a "disposed" civil matter and reentered as a "new" arbitration case.

Pa. R.J.A. 1901 requires all cases in which there has been no action for a period of two or more years to be terminated pursuant to local rules of court. Thus if a civil case is placed at issue and no action is taken after a prescribed period, it is removed from the "active" inventory. Docketed cases so removed which were never "at issue" have no effect on the inventory since they were not counted initially.

The civil report form also reflects the number of judges assigned and the civil trial days in the same manner as provided in the criminal report form

Miscellaneous Cases: This form covers postconviction proceedings, juvenile court cases, domestic relations court cases, custody court cases, mental health and adoption petitions, orphans' court audits and other miscellaneous court actions, including criminal appeals from district justices. While the form and reporting procedure is simple, the application and interpretation by several reporting counties has proved to be not entirely satisfactory for comparison purposes. A new case or defendant is counted when the matter is scheduled for an evidentiary court hearing. It is only counted once, despite the fact that there may be other related ancillary proceedings.

The Bureau of Criminal Justice Statistics, in cooperation with the Juvenile Court Judges' Commission, has been collecting and compiling data on juveniles since January 1969. This program reflects the activities of each juvenile court division of the courts of common pleas. It includes "unofficial" cases as well as "official" cases. The Administrative Office reporting procedure, however, includes only "official" cases, those instituted by petition, and which require an evidentiary hearing and a final adjudication hearing. Each such proceeding is considered and counted as one case.

The same reporting procedure applies to other miscellaneous actions and, likewise, each case is reported when first scheduled for a court hearing. The local county probation offices—adult, juvenile and domestic relations—are encouraged to maintain detailed statistics and information regarding their internal operations, but only the judicial caseload is reflected in this report.

The miscellaneous form also requires that the number of judges assigned to hear "miscellaneous" matters be reported each month along with the total number of "court days".

PART VI

Case Volume for District Justice Courts

PART VI CASE VOLUME FOR DISTRICT JUSTICES OF THE PEACE

INCLUDES PHILADELPHIA TRAFFIC COURT

In April, 1974, the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts began the collection of case volume statistics from district justice of the peace courts and, in 1975, the first full year of data was available. This was the first time in the history of the Pennsylvania minor judiciary that comprehensive, statewide, uniform annual statistical information concerning the activities of these important courts was compiled. The Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts does not collect statistical data from Pittsburgh Police Magistrates, nor from the Philadelphia Traffic Court.

As noted in Part I of the Report, it is estimated that about 50 percent of all the cases processed in the City of Pittsburgh are handled by the Pittsburgh Police Magistrates. There is no evidence that the Pittsburgh Police Magistrates prepare statistical reports on case volume. The Philadelphia Traffic Court does submit statistical information on traffic violations, and is included in this report for comparison purposes. Statistics of the Philadelphia Municipal Court are included in the Common Pleas Courts section of this report.

Pennsylvania's district justices of the peace process the largest number of cases in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, excluding the Philadelphia courts. Their jurisdiction covers summary offenses punishable by not more than a $500 fine, or with a jail sentence not exceeding 90 days; and civil complaints involving amounts up to $1,000. District justices also determine whether a prima facie case of a defendant's guilt is established in misdemeanor or felony complaints. While these courts do not have authority to try cases by jury, they may determine guilt or innocence in cases involving summary offenses and summary appeals, and may make and enter judgments in civil matters.

TOTAL CASES FILED - 1975

There were 1,677,426 cases filed in the district justice courts in 1975. Of this total, 1,092,775 cases, or 65.1 percent, were traffic citations; 196,247 non-traffic citations, or 11.7 percent; 132,566 summary complaints, or 7.9 percent; 112,196 misdemeanor/felony complaints, or 6.7 percent; and 143,642 civil complaints, or 8.6 percent of the cases.

Summary cases comprised 84.7 percent of total cases filed in these courts in 1975, amounting to 1,421,588 cases; with civil cases next in volume, at 143,642, or 8.6 percent of total cases filed. These case volume statistics clearly illustrate the enormous workload managed by district justices.

In 1975, there were 1,909,193 traffic violations issued in the City of Philadelphia, which amounts to 816,418 or 74.7 percent more traffic citations than were filed in all district justice of the peace courts throughout the state. When the number of traffic violations filed in the City of Philadelphia are added to those filed in district justice courts in the state, the total "traffic" filings amount to 3,001,968 cases.

DISPOSITION OF CASES — 1975

There were 1,500,810 cases disposed during 1975. Of this total, 993,429 were traffic citations, or 66.2 percent of the total; 164,616 were non-traffic citations, or 11.0 percent; 110,630 summary complaints, or 7.4 percent; 99,374 misdemeanor/felony complaints, or 6.6 percent; and 132,761 civil cases, or 8.8 percent of all cases disposed.

Dispositions in each category did not keep pace with the number of cases filed during the year. Obviously, there will always be undisposed cases pending, simply because of inevitable time constraints required for the orderly processing of cases. The biggest gap between filings and dispositions in 1975 occurred in the summary complaints category. There was a difference of 21,936 cases, or 16.5 percent of summary dispositions to filings; 31,631 nontraffic citations, or 16.1 percent dispositions to filings; 10,881 civil actions, or 7.6 percent; 99,346 traffic citations, or 9.1 percent; and 12,822 misdemeanor/felony complaints, or 11.4 percent of dispositions to filings.

The Philadelphia Traffic Court disposed of 6,212,217 traffic violation records in 1975. The large number of traffic dispositions over filings was the result of a considerable effort by the Traffic Court to review and dispose of pending cases which were not processed because of partial payments, police errors, cancellations, and deaths. Additionally, the court initiated a program to process scofflaws. If added to traffic dispositions in district justice courts, the combined total of traffic dispositions amounts to 7,205,646 cases.

The following table illustrates the manner in which citations or complaints were disposed in the district justice courts during 1975, and the volume of these dispositions in each category.

99,374	6.6
132,761	8.8
1,500,810	100.0%

From the above, it can be seen that 1,043,647, or 69.5 percent of all cases were disposed of by guilty pleas in 1975. Although most cases demand judicial time, it is noted that approximately 15 percent of all cases were disposed by less time-consuming actions, such as withdrawn, dismissed, discharged, declared fugitive or closed. It should also be noted that 35,182 misdemeanor/felony complaints, or 35.4 percent, were withdrawn by the prosecution or dismissed by district justices, while waivers of preliminary hearings were filed in 19,392 cases, or 19.5 percent. The handling of misdemeanor/felony complaints is of great importance, since the manner of such dispositions may have a significant impact on the case volumes of common pleas courts. The information received and reported here clearly indicates that district justices are conscientiously accepting and meeting their judicial responsibilities in the handling of these more serious cases.

Since the program to collect statistics on the case volume processed through the district justice courts was not commenced until April in the year 1974, it is not feasible to compare the full year 1975 statistics with the incomplete 1974 data, nor can we draw valid conclusions concerning trends in case volume by such comparison. However, by projecting available data collected from July to December in 1974, estimates can be formulated as to the number of cases filed and disposed during that year. The projected totals for 1974 can then have some value for comparison with the actual data collected in 1975, in order to show estimated percentages of change in case volume over the two-year period. The following tables illustrate these estimates.

METHODOLOGY FOR REPORTING STATISTICS FOR DISTRICT JUSTICE COURTS

In April, 1974, the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts, in cooperation with the Department of Justice, Office of Criminal Justice Statistics, initiated a judicial statistics program to collect aggregate data from each of the 5631 district justices of the peace within the Commonwealth. Statistics were originally collected on the Report of Proceedings forms (200-74, 201-74, 202-74 CIJ forms), which have been expanded and revised into the present Monthly Statistical Report<sup>2</sup> (Form 200/75). The reports are prepared in the offices of the district justices, by either the district justice or the district justice's staff, and are submitted monthly to the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts. The Administrative Office is appreciative of the fine efforts and cooperation by district justices and their staffs in submission of the monthly reports. Prior to the origination of the Report of Proceedings in the offices of the district justices of the peace, no program existed for the systematic collection of statistics regarding defendants processed in such courts. Programs had been in effect for some years for the collections and analysis of statistics of the other components of the criminal justice system (correctional institutions, probation and parole, common pleas courts), while statistics for district justice courts which process the largest number of defendants' records outside of Philadelphia had not been given attention by any state agency.

Since its inception, the Monthly Statistical Report has become a major base in the Pennsylvania State Judicial Information System (PSJIS). Through these reports the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts is better able to study the functioning of Pennsylvania's judicial systems. Thus, the Monthly Statistical Report serves as a vital management tool, providing a basis for better understanding of caseloads and administrative problems encountered by district justices throughout the Commonwealth. It is hoped that, through this basis for analysis, a more effective allocation of resources and improved efficiency may be achieved with an improved communications to and among these district justice courts.

It must be noted that the Monthly Statistical Report is designed to reflect the caseloads actually processed through the offices of the 563 district justices of the peace. The report is not intended to reflect total office workload, but only to provide a record of cases filed in the district justices offices, and dispositions thereof.

The report is designed to cover five categories of actions within the jurisdiction of District Justices of the Peace: (1) Traffic Citations; (2) Non-Traffic Citations; (3) Summary Complaints; (4) Misdemeanor/Felony Complaints; and (5) Civil Complaints. Each category contains two sections, namely, number of citations/complaints filed and disposed. A case is reported as filed when it is officially presented to the district justice on a citation or complaint.

An"adjustments" line is used to correlate filings and manners of dispositions as follows: to remove, for statistical purposes, multiple citations or complaints which have been disposed at one trial; to remove (for statistical purposes only) cases over six months old; and to remove summary cases within a Misdemeanor/Felony case when filed with common pleas court. If the case is reactivated at a later time, it is added as a new case filed and shown disposed on the proper line at time of adjudication.

A case is reported as disposed at the conclusion of the case, or when adjudication has occurred. The dispositions listed under each category vary with each type of offense. All categories contain the disposition "other" which records dispositions not otherwise listed on the report. The following are examples of cases reported as "other": cases where the defendant or affiant dies; cases where the statute of limitations has expired; cases dismissed on affidavit; cases sent directly to juvenile court; misdemeanor/felony complaints involving fugitive from justice cases; non-support cases; civil cases dismissed without prejudice; misdemeanor/felony cases reduced to summary offenses; cases settled at/or before trial/hearing.

The report does not record pre-trial and post-trial/hearing activity, such as the payment of fines and costs, imposition of bail, continuances, and appeals; nor does it request defendants' names and specific charges.

The reporting procedures require that a case be counted as filed during the month in which it is presented to the district justice on a citation or complaint. Cases which are filed with a district justice while on 24-hour assignment are counted as filed in the office of the district justice who will ultimately hear the matter.

At the conclusion of each case, the disposition of the case is recorded on the proper disposition line on the report. It is required that dispositions be reported in the month in which prosecution of the charge ceases, and not when fines and costs have been satisfied.

Identical disposition nomenclature is used in categories where the district justice has summary jurisdiction. Thus, recordings for Traffic Citations, Non-Traffic Citations, and Summary Complaints are in categories as follows: guilty plea; not guilty by trial; guilty by trial; withdrawal of prosecution; substantive defect on citation; unable to locate by warrant (fugitive); and other.

The following kinds of dispositions appear in the category Misdemeanor/Felony Complaints: dismissed at preliminary hearing; bound to court at preliminary hearing; withdrawal of prosecution; declared fugitive waiver of preliminary hearing; and other.

The following Dispositions appear in the category Civil Complaints: trial; settled before trial; judgment by default; closed—no service; withdrawal of complaint; and other.

&lt;sup>1</sup>There were 562 district justices serving, as of February 15, 1976. <sup>2</sup>This report does not include defendants processed by the Philadelphia Municipal Court, Philadelphia Traffic Court and Pittsburgh Police Magistrates.
