INTRODUCTION

This report presents key workload and performance statistics for each United States court of appeals and each district court for the fiscal years ended June 30, 1971 through 1976. These data are presented in a "statistical profile" format and all information pertaining to a particular court is contained on a single page.

Whenever appropriate, workload figures are in "per judgeship" terms obtained simply by dividing the court's total caseload figures by its authorized judgeships. This computation yields a double advantage. First, individual judges can match their experience against judge performance averages in their own and other courts, for both current and past years. Secondly, given this common denominator, caseload in different size courts can be compared — court size becoming almost irrelevant in the comparison. It should be noted that the "per judgeship" data for the courts of appeals understates the workload of an appellate judge, in that appeals are normally assigned to a panel of three judges. Please refer to page 13 for more discussion of this "per judgeship" concept.

On the last page are judiciary-wide caseload and performance averages for district courts. A similar national profile for courts of appeals is located on the last page of the circuit court section. The figures on these two pages can be regarded generally as helpful "norms" of federal judicial work at this time. However, in fairness, these averages should not be used to evaluate courts in which there are abnormal local circumstances such as long-term judgeship vacancies, an unusual number of long or difficult cases in process, or a relatively high number of senior judges augmenting regular judgeship strength.

While this report presents data for a six year period, comparisons of 1976 data with prior years should be made cautiously and with an awareness that certain changes occurred in the data base in 1976. There were three primary reporting changes, two in criminal and one in civil.

In the criminal area, minor offenses other than petty offenses are now required to be reported by the district courts pursuant to Section 3172 (2) of the Speedy Trial Act of 1974. Minor offenses are in large part disposed of by the U.S. magistrates. In previous years most of these minor offense cases were not reflected in the criminal statistics of the district courts.

The second change in the criminal statistics involved the reporting of superseding indictments or informations. Prior to 1976, superseding indictments or informations were reported and counted as new filings. However, these are no longer counted separately when the original case is dismissed on the government's motion. Instead, they are continued as a part of the original case.

In the civil area the change involved the reporting of land condemnation cases and actually occurred prior to fiscal year 1976; however, the full effect of the change was not reflected until this year. With the adoption by many districts of the March 1975 Judicial Conference Guidelines for filing land condemnation cases, tracts regarded as economic units are now filed as cases. In previous years a single "declaration of taking" often included numerous tracts in one case. The revised procedure would tend to increase the count of land condemnation cases without an appreciable increase in land condemnation activity.

In summary, any comparisons of 1976 data with prior years should be attempted only with a thorough knowledge of the reporting changes that occurred in fiscal year 1976. These changes had their greatest impact on the criminal statistics of all districts. The change in land condemnation reporting was a significant factor but was limited to only a few districts.

WHAT THE DISTRICT'S NUMERICAL STANDINGS MEAN

These show where a court's workload condition stands both in relation to other districts in the circuit and to all other districts in the country. All ninety-four districts have been mathematically arranged in a ranked order with respect to each of the indices of workload or performance found on the profile. For example, a given district -- on a per judgeship basis -- may have the nation's tenth highest number of filings but the 20th highest number of terminations and the 5th highest number of pending cases. If there is a tie at a particular standing, then each of the tied courts receives the same standing designation. All "workload" statistics are ranked in descending order (highest value receives rank of 1) and all other statistics are ranked in ascending order (lowest value is ranked first). In some cases fewer than 94 courts were ranked because some of the "profile" indices are not available for all courts.

ACTIONS PER JUDGESHIP

The figures shown under the "Actions Per Judgeship" caption were obtained by dividing the total workload statistics for the court by the number of authorized judgeship positions. Since appeals cases normally would be handled by a panel of three judges, a more accurate indication of the workload of an individual judge would be the number of "Actions Per Judgeship" multiplied by three with the exception of the data shown for "Opinions". Thus the figure shown in the national profile of 96 terminations after hearing or submission would be converted to 288 actions in which an appellate judge would possibly be participating.

TERMINATIONS AFTER HEARING OR SUBMISSION

In order to provide a greater measure of uniformity in the presentation of judicial workload, the selection criteria was revised in 1974 in respect to those cases considered terminated after oral hearing or submission. These criteria were the following:

1. filing of the complete record,
2. filing of briefs pursuant to Rule 28, Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure,
3. a reported date of either an oral hearing or submission, and
4. reported date of termination.

If a case reported terminated included the above data, it would be included in the "after hearing or submission" category. Any record deficient in any of the above would be included in the "without hearing or submission" group.

CASE PARTICIPATIONS

The data shown in this report under the "Case Participations" caption for 1975 and 1976 include participations in both orally argued appeals and appeals submitted on briefs. Prior to 1975 the data reflect only participations in orally argued cases.

For the purposes of the statistics in this report, a case participation by an individual judge is defined as an appeal in which the judge hears oral argument or where the appeal is submitted on briefs. Thus, where a single appeal is heard before a panel of three judges, the number of participations would be three.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURTS - NATIONAL STATISTICAL PROFILE

WEIGHTED FILINGS

The statistics shown under the "Weighted Filings" caption should be used with caution. The changes in the criminal statistical system and the changes in the reporting of land condemnation cases, both of which were mentioned in the introduction of this report, will have an effect on the weighted filings index. In addition, the weights which are used to compute the index are becoming increasingly out-of-date. The weights were developed on the basis of a 1969 time study and many changes have occurred in the court system since that time. The Federal Judicial Center is now exploring the possibility of revising the weights; however, until this is accomplished the weighted filings should only be used with a full knowledge of their limitations.

TRIAL DEFENDANTS IN PENDING CRIMINAL CASES

This is the first year that the Administrative Office has maintained data on the status of every criminal defendant pending at the end of the year. The data for 1976 show the number of defendants considered triable; i.e., available for final plea or trial by judge or jury as of June 30, 1976 and the percentage of the total pending caseload accounted for by these defendants. The figures exclude defendants awaiting sentence, those committed for observation and study, and fugitive defendants. Also excluded are defendants who cannot be tried under applicable provisions of 18 U.S.C. 3161(h) of the Speedy Trial Act of 1974. These provisions result in a non-triable status often brief in nature.

Data for fiscal years 1971-1975 represent only defendants pending in criminal cases which were more than one year old at the end of the year. Therefore figures for these years are not comparable to the 1976 data.

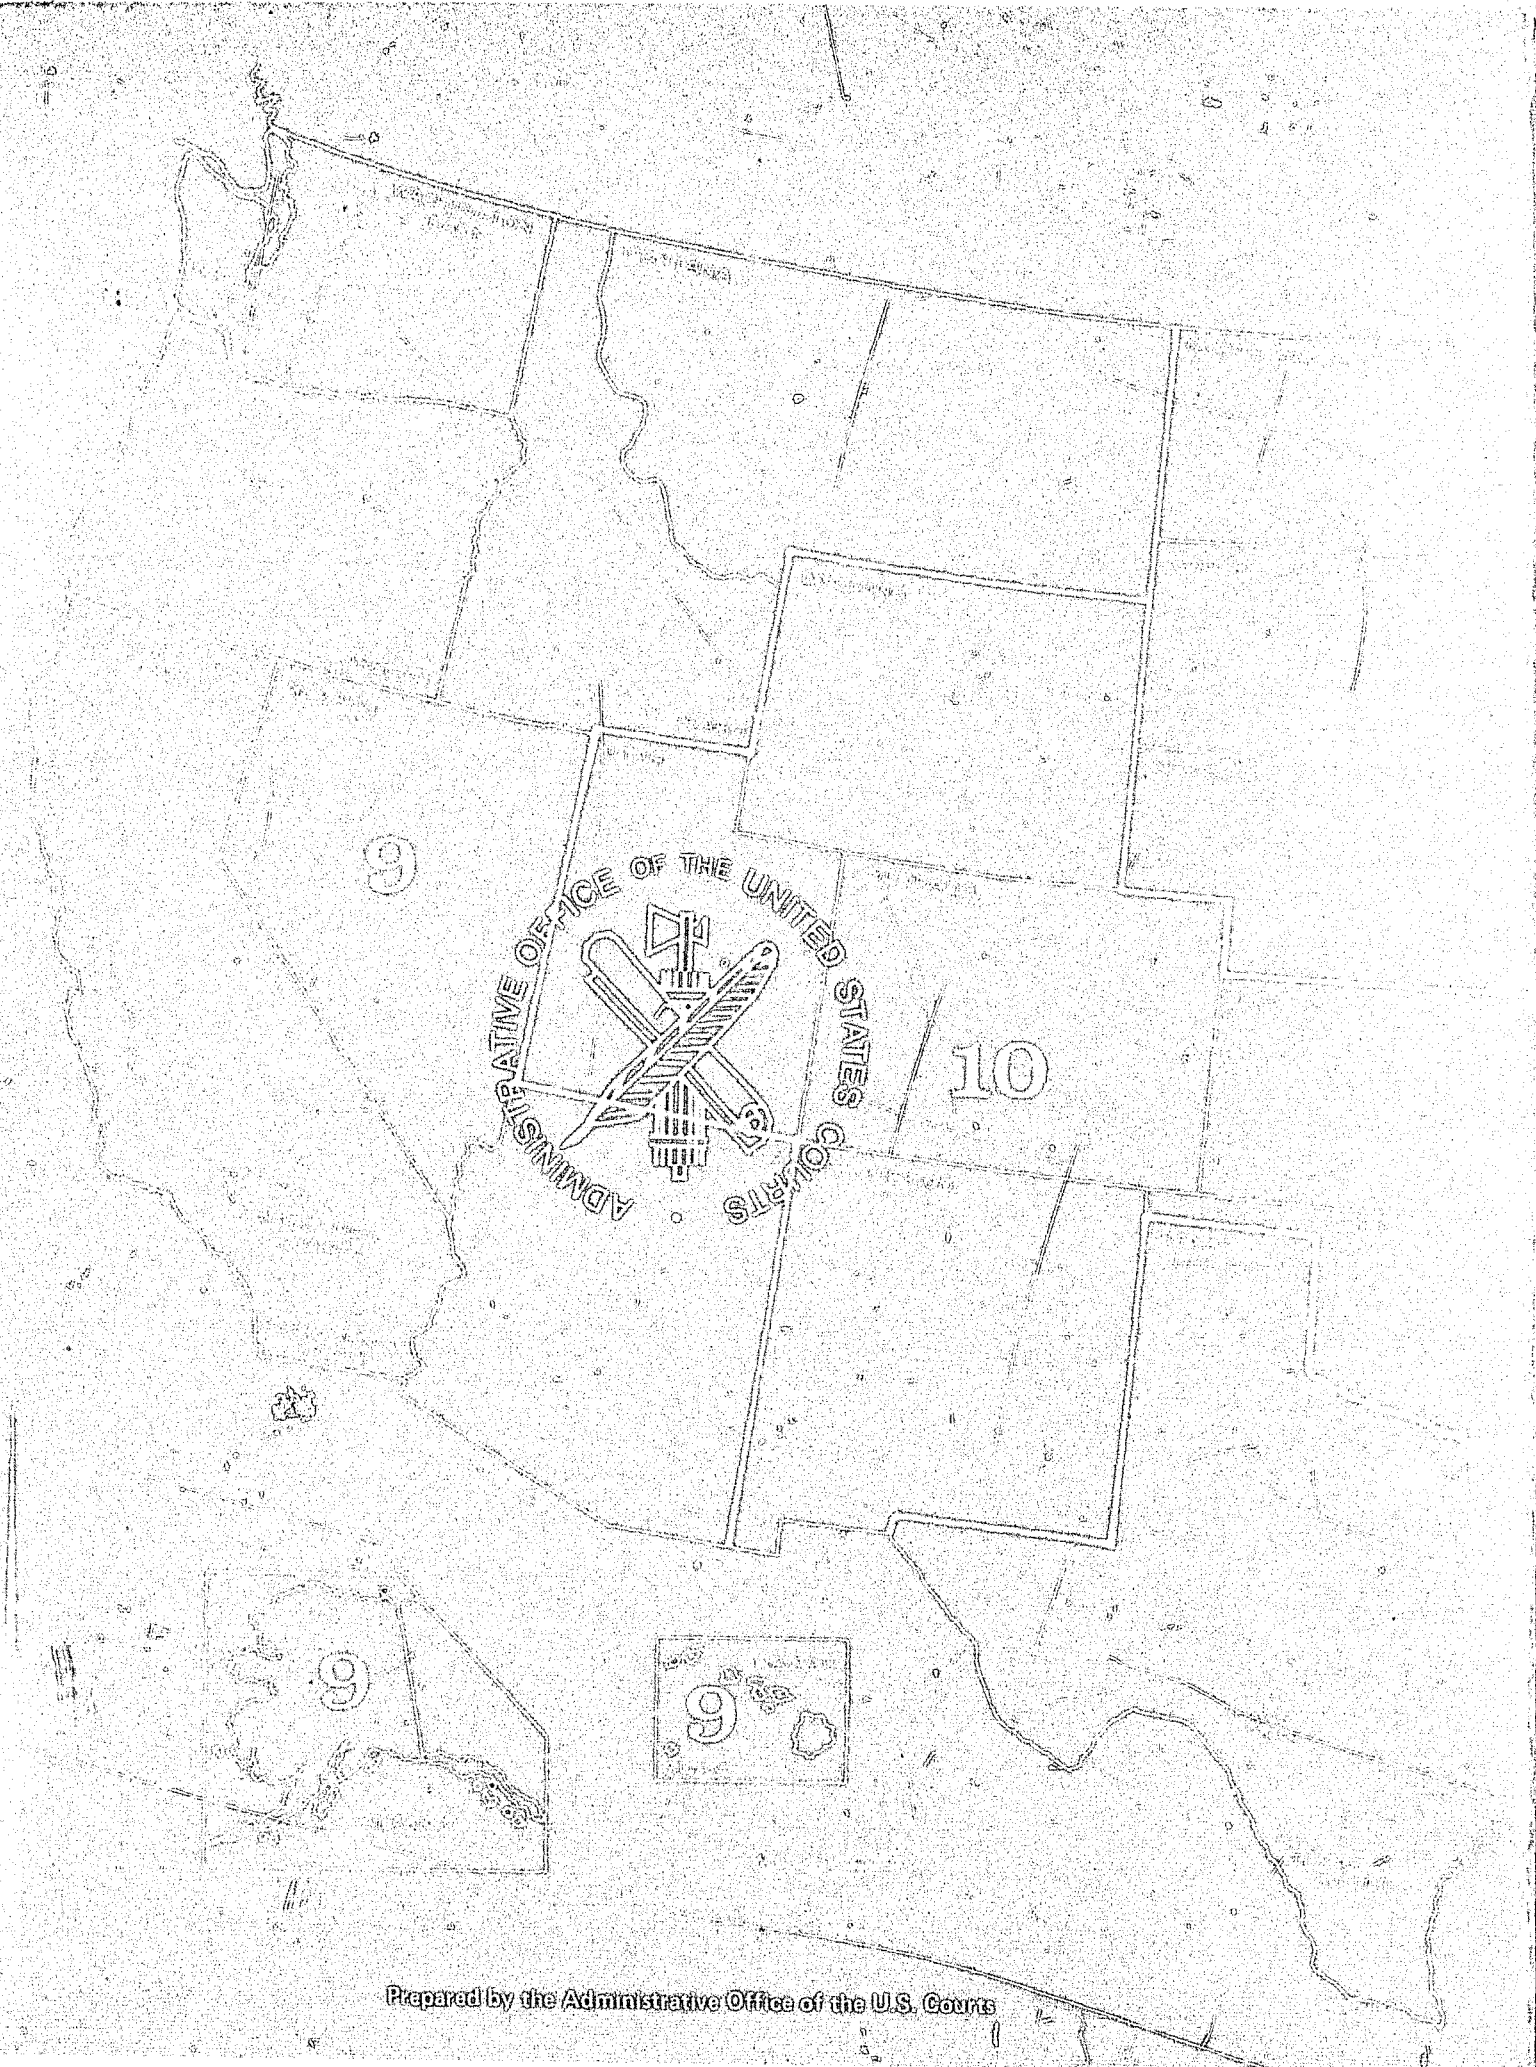

MINOR OFFENSES AND LAND CONDEMNATION CASES

The changes in the statistical reporting of criminal minor offense cases and civil land condemnation cases, both of which were discussed in the introduction of this report, had a significant effect on the statistics of several districts. Where minor offenses, land condemnation cases or both represented more than 10% of a districts case filings in 1976 an asterisk has been placed next to the district name on the statistical profile.
