U.S. COURTS OF APPEALS

Summary of Workload

During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1980, a total of 24,122 appeals were filed in the Courts of Appeals, an increase of 11.3 percent over the 21,680 cases filed in 1979. Case dispositions increased significantly during this period, rising 20.1 percent from 19,049 in 1979 to 22,886 in 1980. Despite the substantial increase in terminations, the pending appellate caseload continued to grow, rising 6.1 percent to 21,501 cases. Table 1 provides a comparison, by circuit, of the appellate caseload during the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1979 and 1980. Appendix tables B-1 and B-3 provide more detailed data on the appellate caseload in 1980.

Filings Up 11.3 Percent

Total case filings in the Courts of Appeals rose 11.3 percent during this twelve month period, up from 21,680 in 1979 to 24,122 in 1980. The largest increases in case filings were reported in the First and Second Circuits, 33.2 percent and 19.5 percent, respectively. The only circuit to experience a decline in the number of cases filed was the Fourth Circuit, where filings decreased 4.2 percent compared to the previous year. The Third Circuit reported no change in case filings over the previous twelve month period, maintaining a total of 1,874 filings in both 1979 and 1980.

Most of the increase in case filings can be attributed to a 16.3 percent rise in civil appeals over the previous year. Of these, the largest growth involved private civil appeals, rising 22.5 percent from 8,969 in 1979 to 10,986 in 1980. The number of administrative agency and original proceeding case filings also increased substantially during this twelve month period, rising 15.7 percent and 13.1 percent, respectively. Bankruptcy appeals declined 6.4 percent, from 425 in 1979 to 398 in 1980. Criminal appeals, which experienced an increase in 1979 after declining in 1978, dropped 5.6 percent during this twelve month period. Table 2 provides a comparison of the types of appeals filed during the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1979 and 1980.

Six Month Comparison

Table 3 provides a comparison, by circuit, of appeals commenced during each of the six month periods July through December 1975 through 1980. The 12,324 cases filed in the Courts of Appeals during the period July through December 1980 was 8.1 percent greater than the 11,402 cases filed during the comparable period last year. This 1980 total represents the highest number of cases filed during any of the preceding six month periods.

Dispositions Up 20.1 Percent

Total appellate dispositions rose a sizable 20.1 percent during this twelve month period, up from 19,049 in 1979 to 22,886 in 1980. The largest increases in case terminations were reported in the Ninth Circuit (35.9 percent), Sixth Circuit (33.3 percent), and First Circuit (28.5 percent). No circuit registered a decline in termination activity during this period. The most significant turnaround in case dispositions occurred in the First Circuit, where terminations increased 28.5 percent in 1980 after declining 9.3 percent during the previous twelve month period.

Pending Caseload Increases 6.1 Percent

During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1980, a total of 1,236 more cases were filed than were terminated in the Courts of Appeals. The pending appellate caseload rose from 20,265 in 1979 to 21,501 in 1980, an increase of 6.1 percent. Only the Third and Fourth Circuits were able to reduce their pending caseload, declining 6.1 percent and 4.2 percent, respectively. The most substantial growth in pending caseload was shown in the First Circuit (36.3 percent), Eighth Circuit (24.4 percent), and Second Circuit (20.2 percent).

Cases Disposed of After Oral Hearing or Submission Up 15.1 Percent

The total number of cases disposed of in the Courts of Appeals after oral hearing or submission on briefs rose from 9,605 in 1979 to 11,056 in 1980, an increase of 15.1 percent. Of all 1980 case dispositions, 48.3 percent were terminated in this manner, a slight decrease compared to the 50.4 percent for the same period a year ago. Cases terminated without oral hearing or submission on briefs increased 26.6 percent during this period, up from 6,665 in 1979 to 8,436 in 1980. The number of cases disposed of by consolidation increased from 2,779 in 1979 to 3,394 in 1980, a rise of 22.1 percent.

Cases Under Submission in the Courts of Appeals and Other Federal Courts

The total number of cases held under submission over 90 days in the United States courts of appeals and the Court of Claims for the quarter ended December 31, 1980 increased by 39.5 percent (or 169 cases) over the 428 cases reported for the same period in 1979. Cases awaiting the submission of additional memoranda or briefs, or awaiting an opinion in another case are not included.

Compared to the same quarter in 1979 only the District of Columbia and Seventh circuits reported reductions in the number of cases under submission. All other circuits reported increases ranging from one case in 1979 to three cases in 1980 in the Third Circuit, to an increase of 67 cases in the Fifth Circuit. The judges of the Ninth Circuit reported 161 cases, or 27.0 percent of all cases under submission. Similarly, judges in the Fifth Circuit reported 124 cases, or 20.8 percent of all cases under submission.

Table 4 provides, by circuit, the 597 cases reported under submission. Of these, 273 or 45.7 percent, were submitted for more than three but less than six months; 187, or 31.3 percent, were submitted for more than six but less than nine months; 71, or 11.9 percent, were submitted for more than nine months but less than one year; and 66, or 11.1 percent were submitted for more than one year.

The Court of Customs and Patent Appeals and the Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals reported no cases under submission over 90 days on December 31, 1980.

CIVIL

Summary of Calendar Year Civil Caseload

During the past 20 years, the number of civil cases filed in the U. S. district courts has risen at a rapid, but steady pace. This trend continued during the twelve month period ended December 31, 1980, when the number of civil filings rose 7.2 percent to 174,370 cases. A more substantial increase was experienced in termination activity, as the number of civil case dispositions rose to 171,037 during 1980, up 12.4 percent from the 152,147 cases terminated in 1979. The number of civil cases pending in the district courts reached 186,958 on December 31, 1980, the largest caseload ever. Table 5 provides a comparison of the civil caseload for the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1979 and 1980. More detailed data on the civil caseload in the district courts during calendar year 1980 is provided in Appendix Table C1.

Summary of July through December (Six Months) Civil Caseload

During the six month period July through December 1980, a total of 87,335 civil cases were filed in the district courts, an increase of 6.8 percent over the same period last year. This increase is almost identical to the 7.2 percent increase for the entire twelve month period. Terminations during the six month period increased 14.1 percent, compared to only 12.4 percent for the twelve month period. This reflects the acceleration of termination activity in the district courts as more of the judgeships, authorized by the Omnibus Judgeship Act of 1978, are filled. Table 6 provides a comparison of the caseload for the six month periods July through December, 1972 through 1980.

Civil Filings Up 7.2 Percent Over 1979

The 174,370 civil cases filed during 1980 represents the largest influx of cases into the district courts during any twelve month period. Civil filings have doubled in the last ten years. The rate of increase, however, declined from 12.5 percent in 1979 to 7.2 percent in 1980. This overall rise in filings in 1980 is reflected in the fact that 73 districts experienced increases compared to 1979. The most substantial increases were in West Virginia, Northern (up 89.1 percent); Guam (up 78.7 percent); Maine (up 56.9 percent); and New Hampshire (up 48.2 percent). The significant rise in filings in West Virginia, Northern was the result of increases in U.S. contract actions and state prisoner petitions filed in the district. Despite the increase in overall civil filings, 22 districts experienced declines in new cases. The largest declines (excluding the Canal Zone, where the court is being phased out) were in Florida, Southern (down 37.9 percent); North Dakota (down 20.5 percent); and Idaho (down 17.2 percent). The decline in Florida, Southern resulted primarily from a drop in land condemnation filings from 3,945 in 1979 to 1,243 in 1980. Additional data on the number and type of civil filings in each district during 1980 is provided in Appendix Table C3.

Civil Filings by Basis of Jurisdiction

The overall increase in civil filings in the district courts during 1980 is highlighted by an increase of 16.4 percent in the number of Diversity of Citizenship cases filed. These cases now represent 24.4 percent of all civil filings compared to 22.5 percent a year ago. As indicated in Table 7, increases also occurred in Federal Question (up 6.8 percent) and U.S. Plaintiff cases (which increased only 4.3 percent compared to a 46.7 percent increase in 1979); the number of civil cases filed against the U.S. remained relatively constant.

Table 7

U.S. Defendant	24,253	24,234	-0.1
Private Cases
Federal Question	63,923	68,299	6.8
Diversity of Citizenship	36,551	42,551	16.4
Local Jurisdiction	1,048	796	-24.0

The only area of decline was Local Jurisdiction cases which dropped 24.0 percent, largely due to the phasing out of the District Court in the Canal Zone. Additional data on filings by jurisdiction is provided in Appendix Table C2.

Civil Filings by Nature of Suit

The 174,370 civil cases filed in the district courts during 1980 represents an increase of 11,692 cases over 1979. This rise in filings is largely the result of increases in cases involving negotiable instruments (up 66.1 percent); recovery of overpayments and enforcement of judgments (up 15.3 percent); and civil rights (up 11.4 percent). Among the case types declining from 1979 were land condemnation cases (down 51.3 percent); cases involving the Freedom of Information Act (down 26.4 percent); and fraud cases (including truth in lending) (down 22.0 percent). More detailed information on civil case filings by nature of suit is provided in Appendix tables C2 and C3.

Prisoner Petition Filings - Twelve Month Period Ended June 30, 1980

Table 8 provides a summary of prisoner petitions filed, by district and type, during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1980. Corresponding tables on prisoner petitions filed for the twelve month periods ended June 30, 1969 through 1977 were published in the Federal Judicial Workload Statistics for the twelve month period ended December 31, 1977. Corresponding data for the period ended June 30, 1978 and 1979 were published in the December 31, 1978 and 1979 editions of the Federal Judicial Workload Statistics.

Civil Terminations 14.1 Percent Higher Than Last Year

During 1980, the number of civil cases disposed of by the district courts increased by 18,890 over 1979 to 171,037, the largest number of cases ever terminated during a twelve month period. This increase in termination activity is, in part, a result of the Omnibus Judgeship Act of 1978, which increased the number of authorized district court judgeships from 399 to 516. Significant increases occurred in the termination activity for several case types. Among cases where the U.S. was a party, the largest increases were in cases involving contract actions (up 52.7 percent); tort actions (up 41.9 percent); and forfeiture and penalty suits (up 22.2 percent). Among cases not involving the U.S., the largest increase was in state prisoner civil rights suits, which rose 15.8 percent.

The overall increase is reflected in the fact that 72 districts terminated more cases than in 1979. The largest increases in dispositions were in Michigan, Western (up 113.3 percent); West Virginia, Northern (up 70.0 percent); Oregon (up 67.5 percent); Texas, Western (up 65.4 percent); and Maine (up 63.9 percent). Despite the substantial overall increase in dispositions, several districts experienced declines in activity, most notably the Canal Zone (down 30.6 percent); Florida, Southern (down 29.1 percent); and Guam (down 28.3 percent). Additional data on termination activity by case type is provided in Appendix Table C4.

Civil Pending Caseload Continues to Rise

On December 31, 1980, the number of civil cases pending in the district courts was 186,958, the largest number pending to date and an increase of 3,333 cases above the level of a year ago. This increase occurred despite a record disposition rate during 1980. This rise in pending caseload is highlighted by an increase of 20.4 percent in pending private personal injury suits (other than marine or motor vehicle). The most significant reduction was in Interstate Commerce Commission cases, which declined by 72.2 percent, largely due to a concerted effort by the District of Massachusetts which resulted in disposition of 4,402 such cases in 1980.

Despite the overall increase, 25 districts were able to successfully counter the trend of constant growth and reduce their pending caseloads. The most notable decline, other than the Canal Zone, was in Massachusetts (down 41.4 percent). As indicated previously, this reduction was the result of a drop in pending I.C.C. cases from 5,261 in 1979 to 868 in 1980. Among those districts experiencing substantial increases in their pending caseload were Alabama, Middle (up 41.7 percent); Louisiana, Middle (up 31.3 percent); Florida, Northern (up 31.2 percent); and Guam (up 30.2 percent).

Civil Cases Pending Three Years Or More Represent 10.3 Percent of Caseload

Since 1973, the number of civil cases pending three years or more in the district courts has grown steadily from 8,395 cases in 1973 to 21,661 in 1979. Through a concerted effort by the district courts, the number of civil cases pending three years or more was reduced to 19,227 cases on December 31, 1980, a reduction of 11.2 percent from the previous year. This overall reduction was achieved despite a doubling of the number of pending three-year-old land condemnation cases. Because of this significant reduction, three-year-old cases represented 10.3 percent of the pending caseload on December 31, 1980 compared to 11.8 percent a year ago. Table 9 provides a comparison of the age of civil cases pending on December 31, 1971 through 1980.

During 1980, a total of 50 districts were able to reduce their three-year-old pending caseload. The most significant reduction was in Massachusetts, where the number of civil cases pending three years or more declined from 5,259 in 1979 to 1,414 in 1980, a reduction of 73.1 percent. The majority of this reduction was in pending I.C.C. cases. The most significant increase was in Florida, Southern, where the three-year-old pending caseload rose 226.1 percent to 1,888 cases. This was largely the result of an increase in pending land condemnation cases, which rose from 357 to 1,624 in 1980. Additional data on civil cases pending three years or more is provided in Appendix tables C6A and C6B.

Cases and Motions Under Advisement in U.S. District Courts

The number of cases and motions held under advisement over 60 days by United States district judges increased 16.0 percent from 1,565 matters on December 31, 1979, to 1,816 matters on December 31, 1980. Of the 568 district judges who reported, including 111 senior judges, 358 judges (63.0 percent) reported having no matters held under advisement over 60 days as shown in Table 10. The number of active judges who did not report increased from 17 in 1979 to 29 in 1980.

A total of 554 cases and 1,262 motions were held under advisement over 60 days by a total of 210 district judges. The average was approximately 8.6 matters per judge. The Circuit averages ranged from 1.9 matters for the nine judges in the District of Columbia Circuit to 31.6 matters for the 17 judges in the Seventh Circuit.

In the First, Fourth, Eighth, and Ninth Circuits the number of cases and motions held under advisement decreased from last year. The First Circuit showed the most significant decrease in pending matters, from 112 in 1979 to 68 in 1980, a decrease of 44. All other circuits reported increased numbers of pending cases and motions. The Seventh Circuit showed the largest increase in matters from 337 in 1979 to 538 in 1980, an increase of 201 matters.

There were 339 cases and 755 motions held under advisement more than 60 days but less than six months; 102 cases and 370 motions held more than six months but less than one year; and 113 cases and 137 motions held more than one year.

Of the 1,816 total matters reported, 250 (or 13.8 percent) were held under advisement more than one year. The Seventh Circuit reported the greatest number of matters in this category with 96, while the Ninth Circuit did not have any matters pending more than one year. Cases and motions held under advisement over 60 days on December 31, 1980, excluding those matters reported as decided, were distributed by circuit as shown in Table 11.

CRIMINAL CASELOAD

Summary

Criminal case filings in the U.S. district courts decreased slightly during the twelve month period ended December 31, 1980, as 29,856 criminal cases were filed, 0.8 percent fewer than the 30,106 filings reported during 1979. Case terminations decreased by 6.4 percent, from 30,763 cases in 1979 to 28,807 in 1980. The case filings exceeded the case terminations by 1,049 cases, resulting in a rise in the pending caseload from 14,349 on December 31, 1979 to 15,398 at the end of this year, an increase of 7.3 percent.

The total number of criminal cases filed, terminated, and pending for the six month periods from January through June and from July through December, beginning with reporting year 1965, are shown in Table 12.

Six Months - July Through December Statistics

During the period July through December 1980 (shown as reporting year 1981 on the table), the number of cases filed, terminated, and pending all increased over the number of cases for the same six months in 1979 (reporting year 1980). This increase was the first rise in cases filed or in cases terminated for the six months July through December since reporting year 1977, and the first increase in the number of cases pending on December 31, since reporting year 1972. Case filings for the time period July through December 1980 exceeded the same time period a year ago by 10.2 percent, while terminations increased by only 2.3 percent, with a 7.3 percent increase in cases pending.

During the six month periods of July through December 1980 (reporting year 1981) and January through June 1980, case filings exceeded terminations. Prior to 1980, the number of terminations had consistently been greater than the number of filings since 1973. The reasons for the increase in the termination rate during those years were the closing of a large number of Selective Service violations that had been pending, and the implementation of the Speedy Trial Act of 1974 which caused a strict review of the pending caseload to determine triable cases.

Among Major Offense Groups, Drug Cases Up 18.4 Percent

The number of criminal cases filed in the U.S. district courts (exclusive of transfers) during the twelve month period ended December 31, 1980 declined by 0.8 percent. This was a much slower rate of decline than the 9.9 percent decrease in filings that occurred in 1979 and the 11.9 percent decrease in 1978.

Although there was an overall decrease of 0.8 percent in cases filed, there were significant increases in case filings in certain major offense groups. All of the offenses that showed a large increase this year are offenses that have been decreasing in numbers during the past several years. Cases filed under the Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act increased from 2,987 to 3,536, a gain of 549 cases or 18.4 percent. This increase is a reversal of the trend from 1976 through 1979 when there were significant decreases each year in cases filed under the Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act. A similar change occurred for liquor violation cases which had been consistently declining in number each year, from 169 cases in 1976 to 26 cases in 1979. This year, prosecutions for liquor violations increased to 37 cases, a 42.3 percent increase over the 26 cases in 1979. Embezzlement cases rose from 1,476 to 1,724 cases, an increase of 248 cases or 16.8 percent. In the prior two years, filings for this offense decreased. New prosecutions for weapons and firearms violations rose from 867 cases in 1979 to 1,112 cases in 1980, a 28.3 percent increase. There was a substantial increase in weapons and firearms cases from 1976 to 1977, followed by large declines in 1978 and 1979. Last year, weapons and firearms filings decreased by 1,323 cases or 60.4 percent.

The largest decrease in case filings in a major offense category occurred in forgery and counterfeiting. Cases filed for this offense decreased from 2,527 cases in 1979 to 1,882 forgery and counterfeiting cases this year, a reduction of 645 cases or 25.5 percent. Appendix Table D2 shows the total number of cases filed during 1980 by major offense groups.

Criminal Filings by Type of Proceeding - Indictment Waived Up 49.5 Percent

Appendix Table D2 shows the number of criminal cases filed according to the method by which they were commenced in the U.S. district courts for the twelve month period ended December 31, 1980. Table 13 compares cases (exclusive of transfers) by the nature of the proceedings for the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1979 and 1980.

* This data was not separately recorded prior to August 1979.

Criminal cases that were commenced by an information, when an indictment was waived by the defendant, increased by 49.5 percent from 388 cases in 1979 to 580 in 1980. Cases heard on consent before a magistrate showed a large increase from 1,183 to 1,694, which is 511 more cases or a 43.2 percent increase over last year.

Indictment remains the most common method for commencement of a criminal case in the district courts. Cases brought to the courts by indictments declined by 3.4 percent in 1980; however the 16,632 cases commenced by indictment accounted for 57.6 percent of the total cases commenced. In 1979, indictments made up 59.1 percent of all the types of proceedings.

Criminal Filings Drop by 0.8 Percent

Table 14 provides the number of cases filed, terminated, and pending (inclusive of transfers), by district, for the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1979 and 1980, along with the percent change. Nationally, criminal cases filed dropped by 0.8 percent in 1980, a considerably smaller decline than the 10.3 percent decline during 1979.

Forty-four districts recorded decreases in the number of cases filed this year. Of these, the largest percent decrease occurred in the Canal Zone. Criminal prosecutions dropped from 183 cases in 1979 to 14 in 1980, a decrease of 92.3 percent. This decline was due to the Panama Canal Treaty of 1977 and the passage of the Panama Canal Act of 1979 (P.L. 96-70). The Act reduced the jurisdiction of the district court allowing only the filing of criminal informations against U.S. citizens until the court is ended on June 30, 1982.

NOTE: Includes transfers.

Districts that reported a decrease of more than 30 percent in filings were:

The largest increase occurred in North Carolina, Eastern where filings rose from 184 cases to 471, a change of 287 cases or 156.0 percent. The additional cases were primarily misdemeanors, with traffic, larceny, and marihuana accounting for the largest segments. Criminal filings in Louisiana, Middle rose by 111.1 percent, from 36 cases in 1979 to 76 this year. The increase was due primarily to 36 misdemeanors filed under Migratory Bird Laws.

There were 50 districts that recorded increases in the number of cases filed, and one that recorded no change. The following districts had increases greater than 35 percent:

Criminal Terminations Drop 6.4 Percent

Nationwide, criminal case terminations decreased by 6.4 percent in 1980. Among the 95 district courts, the largest decrease in cases terminated occurred in the Canal Zone, which dropped from 246 cases to 23. This 90.7 percent decline in terminations, along with the Canal Zone's 92.3 percent drop in case filings, are attributed to the phasing out of the district court.

Fifty-five districts reported decreases in the number of cases terminated during the twelve months. Of these, eight districts showed a decrease of more than 30 percent. These were:

District	1979	1980	Percent Decrease in Terminations
Canal Zone	246	23	90.7
Iowa, Southern	223	86	61.4
Colorado	647	308	52.4

Guam	91	54	40.7
West Virginia, Southern.....	183	122	33.3
Pennsylvania, Western	277	187	32.5

Forty districts experienced increases in terminated cases during the current year. Comparatively, in 1979 there were 26 districts that recorded increased terminations, and in 1978, only one district reported an increase. North Carolina, Eastern had the largest increase in case terminations, rising from 197 to 457 terminations, a change of 132 percent. This district had a similar rise in case filings due to an increased number of misdemeanor cases, particularly traffic, larceny, and marihuana misdemeanors.

The following districts reported increases of more than 30 percent in terminations:

District	1979	1980	Percent Increase in Terminations
North Carolina, Eastern	197	457	132.0
Louisiana, Middle	41	71	73.2

Pending Caseload Increased 7.3 Percent

The number of case filings exceeded the number of case terminations by 1,049 in 1980, resulting in an increase of 7.3 percent in the pending caseload.

Fifty-seven districts recorded a rise in their pending caseload. Of these, 20 districts showed an increase of more than 30 percent. Districts that had increases of more than 50 percent in their pending caseload were:

District	1979	1980	Percent Increase in Pending Cases

Iowa, Southern	31	63	103.2
Mississippi, Southern.....	35	63	80.0
Alabama, Middle	37	56	51.4

Thirty-one districts showed a decrease in the number of cases pending, and seven districts had no change. Only five districts had a decrease in their pending cases of more than 25 percent. These were:

JUROR USAGE

(Report for the Six Month Period - July 1 through December 31, 1980)

Grand Jury Activity Increased

As shown in Table 15, grand jury activity increased in virtually all categories during the six month period ended December 31, 1980. The total number of grand jury sessions convened increased from 4,689 in 1979 to 5,352 in 1980, a 14.1 percent increase. The number of jurors in session increased by 13,284 jurors (or 14.3 percent) and the number of hours in session increased by 3,492 (also 14.3 percent). The requirements of the Speedy Trial Act of 1974 partially account for these increases due to courts' efforts to reduce the time between a defendant's arrest and subsequent indictment.

Appendix Table J-1 shows, by district, the number of grand juries in existence, sessions convened, jurors in session, hours in session, average number of jurors per session, and average number of hours per session.

The number of grand juries in existence increased 8.1 percent from 528 juries reported in existence in 1979 to 571 in 1980. Thirty-six districts reported more grand juries in existence this year than last year. New York, Eastern reported the largest number of grand juries in existence, with 43 juries, followed by New York, Southern with 40 juries. Sixteen of the 93 districts with grand jury activity reported only one jury in existence during the six month period. The Virgin Islands and the Canal Zone reported that no grand juries were in existence in the six month period.

Between 16 and 23 grand jurors must be present to conduct a grand jury session. The district with the largest number of sessions convened was the Southern District of New York with 542 sessions. This district also reported the largest number of jurors in session (10,724) and the highest number of hours in session (2,634). Excluding the Virgin Islands and the Canal Zone, the district that experienced the least amount of grand jury activity was the Northern Mariana Islands with two convened sessions, involving 45 grand jurors for a total of six hours.

The nation's average number of jurors per session was 19.9, and the average for individual districts ranged from 17.5 in the Middle District of Alabama to 22.6 jurors in Montana. The national average number of hours per session remained unchanged from 1979 at 5.22 hours per session. Washington, Eastern and the Northern Mariana Islands reported the lowest averages - 3.00 hours per session, while the Southern District of Indiana reported the highest average of 8.17 hours per session.

Table 16 compares the number of cases commenced by indictment in the period July through December during the years 1976 through 1980. Prior to 1980, the number of cases and defendants commenced by indictment declined consistently from year to year. The 1980 statistics, however, indicate that these categories increased by 3.3 and 9.5 percent, respectively, over last year. In 1979, 7,841 cases were commenced by indictment while 8,097 were reported in 1980. The number of defendants proceeded against by indictment also increased from 11,960 in 1979 to 13,093 in 1980. The average number of defendants indicted per grand jury session in 1980 was almost unchanged at 2.45.

Petit Jurors Available for Service Up 13.5 Percent

Table 17 provides a breakdown of petit juror usage for the six month periods ended December 1976 through 1980. A total of 302,322 jurors were available to serve during this six month period, compared to 266,408 jurors available during the same period in 1979. The total increased by 13.5 percent from last year due in part to the increased number of judges available to conduct trials resulting from the 1978 Omnibus Judgeship Act (P.L. 95-486). The percent of jurors selected or serving increased slightly to 60.7 percent; the percent challenged also rose slightly to 15.3 percent.

While the proportion of jurors selected or serving and percent of jurors challenged showed slight increases, the percentage of jurors not selected, serving, or challenged decreased slightly from 24.8 percent in 1979 to 24.0 percent in 1980. This category is further classified to show that 0.8 percent of the available petit jurors were traveling to the place of holding court on the day(s) prior to trial or returning home following jury service.

Table 17 also shows that the number of jury trial days increased from 13,786 in 1979 to 16,359 in 1980; however, for the first time in several years the majority of jury trial days was civil, not criminal.

Appendix Table J-2 provides a district-by-district breakdown of total available jurors. In the category of jurors selected or serving, the districts of North Carolina, Western and New York, Western reported highs of 85.4 percent and 83.9 percent, respectively. Lows of 23.7, 34.8 percent and 43.1 percent were reported in the Northern Mariana Islands, the Canal Zone, and Louisiana, Middle, respectively. Sixty districts reported 60 percent or more of the available jurors in this category.

* Due to rounding, percent sum of the categories of available jurors and percent sum of criminal and civil jury trial days may not total to 100.0.
 The jurors in travel status are included in the category of jurors not selected, serving, or challenged.

The Western District of Virginia reported the highest percent of jurors challenged either for cause or peremptorily at 41.0 percent, while New York, Western reported only 6.4 percent of its jurors in this category. Nationally, 15.3 percent of all available jurors were reported as challenged.

Of the jurors not selected, serving or challenged, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands and the Canal Zone reported the greatest percents. Guam experienced jury activity on only one day during the six month period, when 22 jurors appeared for instructions only. This activity resulted in the highest proportion (100.0 percent) of jurors in this category. The Northern Mariana Islands and the Canal Zone reported 58.0 percent and 53.6 percent, respectively. Hawaii, on the other hand, reported only 1.6 percent of its jurors in this category. Twenty-two of the forty-nine districts reporting jurors in travel status recorded less than one percent in this category.

Nationally, civil trials account for 53.5 percent and criminal trials account for 46.5 percent of all jury trial days. The percentage of criminal jury trial days ranged from a high of 100 percent in West Virginia, Northern to a low of 7.1 percent in Tennessee, Eastern. The percentage of civil jury trial days ranged from 100 percent in the Canal Zone to 4.6 percent in Nevada.

The Juror Usage Index (J.U.I.) is the average number of jurors on hand for each jury trial day. The index is obtained by dividing the total number of available jurors by the total number of jury trial days. The national J.U.I. for the six month period ended December 31, 1980 was 18.48 compared to 19.32 in 1979. Fifty-five districts reported improvements in their J.U.I. compared to 1979 figures. Wyoming reported a J.U.I. of 10.43 while the Northern Mariana Islands reported a J.U.I. of 33.80.

FEDERAL PUBLIC/COMMUNITY DEFENDERS

As of December 31, 1980 there were 33 federal public defender and seven community defender organizations in operation, an increase of two public defender organizations over the previous year. The federal public defender office in Massachusetts opened on June 1, 1980, while Arkansas, Western (a branch office of Missouri, Western) began reporting in October 1980. Tables 18 and 19 summarize the number and type of cases opened, closed, and pending in the defender organizations during the last three years. Appendix tables K-1 and L-1 provide detailed statistical information on the case activity of each office during the six month period ended December 31, 1980. The information is classified into three major categories of representations: criminal, appeals, and other. The last category includes habeas corpus, parole/probation revocation, witness, and motions to correct or reduce sentence. The statistics in this report cover only those representations provided by federal public/community defenders and, therefore, exclude representations by private panel attorneys under the Criminal Justice Act of 1964. Those statistics are available in the Report to the United States Judicial Conference Committee to Implement the Criminal Justice Act.

Federal Public Defenders

For the second consecutive year, the number of cases assigned to federal public defenders increased during the six month period ended December 31, 1980. The 7,263 cases opened represented a 5.7 percent increase over the 6,872 cases opened a year ago. Criminal cases increased by 16.3 percent to 4,825 (66.4 percent of the total), while appeals rose 7.1 percent to 241 (3.3 percent of the total).

The number of other representations declined by 12.1 percent. Much of this decrease is attributable to the continuing decline in court-directed representations of inmates at the U.S. Medical Center for Federal Prisoners at Springfield, Missouri. These representations decreased from 318 in 1979 to 205 in 1980. Since 1978, these representations have declined by 49.8 percent.

Of the 32 offices in operation during the entire six month period (excludes Arkansas, Western), the organization reporting the largest number of case openings was Florida, Southern with 1,003. This represented a 105.5 percent rise over the 488 cases opened in 1979. This increase was primarily due to the rise in immigration cases (created by the influx of Cuban refugees) from 16 in 1979 to 580 in 1980. California, Central and Texas, Southern were assigned 687 and 452 cases, respectively. The least number of case openings were recorded by the Illinois organization (45) and West Virginia, Southern (52).

Sixteen offices reported declines in the number of cases they were assigned. The largest decrease was experienced by Georgia, Southern from 232 in 1979 to 79 in 1980, a sharp drop of 65.9 percent. Much of this decrease is due to the decline in the number of traffic cases handled by this office. The number of cases opened in Pennsylvania, Western and Washington, Western declined by 52.6 percent and 51.9 percent, respectively. Florida, Southern, however, opened 105.5 percent more cases in 1980 while the incoming caseloads of Florida, Northern and Ohio, Northern rose by 102.0 percent and 80.3 percent, respectively.

Federal public defenders also recorded 7,039 cases closed, an increase of 6.4 percent. Criminal dispositions rose by 15.3 percent to 4,675 accounting for 66.4 percent of the total. Closings of appeals cases increased 37.3 percent, while other case dispositions declined by 11.3 percent. Florida, Southern closed the most cases at 801. West Virginia, Southern closed the least, reporting only 42 case dispositions.

Seventeen federal public defenders reported increases in the number of cases closed, with Florida, Northern experiencing the largest rise of 118.8 percent. Ohio, Northern and Florida, Southern reported increases of 116.7 percent and 102.3 percent, respectively. The largest decline, however, was shown by Georgia, Southern which closed 60.2 percent fewer cases than a year ago. Large decreases in dispositions were also recorded by Pennsylvania, Western (50.4 percent) and Washington, Western (35.9 percent).

The average number of hours in court per closed case increased from the 1.6 reported in 1979 to 2.2 in 1980. Missouri, Western recorded the highest average of 5.2 hours per closed case, while Maryland and New Mexico recorded the lowest average at 1.0 hours. The high average hours in court in Missouri, Western is the result of two extortion cases which accounted for 1,630 hours of court time. Excluding these two cases, Missouri, Western had an average of 0.9 hours per closed case.

The pending caseload in the federal public defender organizations rose by 14.2 percent from 3,370 in 1979 to 3,847 in 1980. Florida, Southern experienced the largest increase at 59.6 percent, due to the large number of immigration cases still pending. Washington, Western recorded the largest reduction in their pending caseload at 51.5 percent.

Community Defender Organizations

The seven community defender organizations opened a total of 4,039 cases during the six month period ended December 31, 1980. This represented a substantial increase of 23.4 percent compared to the 3,273 cases opened a year ago. The majority of this increase involved criminal matters which rose 29.8 percent to 3,073 cases, accounting for 76.1 percent of all community defender representations. Appeals representations dipped slightly to 98, or 2.4 percent of the total, while other representations rose by 9.3 percent to 868 (21.5 percent of the total).

California, Southern recorded the largest number of case openings with 2,029, an increase of 44.2 percent over the same period last year. Since 1978, case openings in California, Southern have risen by 249.8 percent. Much of this increase is due to the overwhelming rise in petty offense cases from 115 in 1979 to 833 in 1980. This same district accounted for 50.2 percent of all community defender openings in the six month period ended December 31, 1980, while the New York organization opened 952 cases or 23.6 percent of the total. Pennsylvania, Eastern and Oregon reported the smallest number of case openings with 202 and 144, respectively.

Four of the seven community defender offices experienced increases in their case openings. In addition to the increase in openings in California, Southern; Georgia, Northern (50.0 percent); Illinois, Northern (15.7 percent); and the New York organization (7.8 percent) reported increases. Oregon recorded the largest decline at 10.6 percent.

Although five of the seven community defender organizations closed fewer cases than a year ago, there was an overall rise of 14.5 percent in the number of cases disposed of during this reporting period. Of the 3,962 cases closed, 3,027 (76.4 percent) were criminal matters, 109 (2.8 percent) were appeals, and 826 (20.8 percent) were other representations.

California, Southern was primarily responsible for the increase in closed cases, reporting 2,081 cases closed, a rise of 46.1 percent. Petty offense case dispositions in this district grew 617.4 percent from 115 in 1979 to 825 in 1980. California, Southern and the New York organization accounted for 76.1 percent of all the cases closed by community defenders.

The largest decrease in case closings was reported by Michigan, Eastern, which closed 250 cases during the six month period ended December 31, 1980, 25.1 percent fewer than the 334 closed a year ago. Both Illinois, Northern and Georgia, Northern reported a 14.7 percent drop in their case closings.

The average number of hours in court per closed case was 2.0. Georgia, Northern recorded the highest average at 8.6 hours, primarily because of one lending institution fraud case which required 712 hours of in-court time. Excluding this case, Georgia, Northern's average would be 3.2 hours and the average for all community defender dispositions would be 1.8 hours. California, Southern spent the least time in court per closed case with a 1.0 hour average due to the short amount of in-court time necessary to dispose of the many petty offense cases handled by this office.

The 14.5 percent increase in terminations was offset by an even larger increase (23.4 percent) in case openings, resulting in a 13.2 percent rise in the pending caseload. Georgia, Northern and Oregon experienced the largest rises in their pending caseload at 127.9 percent and 51.4 percent, respectively. At the other end of the scale, California, Southern's pending caseload declined by 10.2 percent.

U.S. BANKRUPTCY COURTS

Summary of Calendar Year Workload

During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1980, there were 472,400 bankruptcy estates filed in the bankruptcy courts, an increase of 80.4 percent over the 261,818 estates filed during the same period last year. The number of bankruptcy estates terminated rose by 16.8 percent from 199,792 to 233,442 in 1980. The termination figures include 104,538 estates filed prior to October 1, 1979 (hereinafter called Bankruptcy Act Estates) and 128,904 estates filed on or after October 1, 1979 (hereinafter called Bankruptcy Code Estates). The number of bankruptcy estates filed during 1980 was more than double the number terminated. As a result, the pending bankruptcy caseload increased to 544,737 estates as of December 31, 1980, a rise of 78.1 percent over a year ago. This pending caseload is comprised of 126,661 Bankruptcy Act Estates and 418,076 Bankruptcy Code Estates. Table 20 compares the bankruptcy caseload during the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1979 and 1980. Table 21 provides a comparison of bankruptcy estates filed and pending during the six month periods January through June and July through December, 1975 through 1980. Additional data on the bankruptcy caseload during the twelve month period ended December 31, 1980, is provided in Appendix tables F1, F2BC, and F3BC.

Adversary Proceedings Continue to Increase

In addition to the original bankruptcy cases filed in the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, adversary proceedings may arise out of any of these cases and, as such, can be filed with the bankruptcy court. During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1980, a total of 70,762 such cases were filed. Table 22 provides the number of adversary proceedings filed, by district, during the twelve month period ended December 31, 1980.

FEDERAL PROBATION SYSTEM

Summary of Workload

During the past year, the Federal Probation System received 29,848 persons for active supervision (excluding inter-district transfers), a decline of 1,950 or 6.1 percent from last year. Removals from supervision, on the other hand, decreased by only 197 or 0.6 percent from 33,778 last year to 33,581. The number of persons reported under supervision on December 31, 1980, therefore, was down 2,390 or 3.7 percent from last year to 62,759. Appendix Table E1 shows persons received and removed during the year by type of supervision. Table 23 gives a comparison of this year's figures to last year's. (See the technical note below.)

¹ Revised

² Special parole granted under provisions of the Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970.

³ Also referred to as deferred prosecution or "Brooklyn Plan."

Technical Note

Since some records pertaining to a specific reporting period are received after that period has closed, the number of persons reported under supervision on a particular date changes in ensuing reports. Appendix Table E-1, therefore, shows a different figure for persons under supervision at the beginning of this year than was reported at the end of last year. Comparisons in the text are based on the ending figure reported last year.

Persons Received for Supervision Continues to Drop

Probationers received on new or reinstated terms imposed during the year by district court judges numbered 11,818, a decrease of 876 or 6.9 percent from last year. The rate of decline, however, was sharply lower than the 18.4 percent decrease reported last year. The 4,749 probationers received on U.S. magistrate-imposed terms was a slight increase of 47 or 1.0 percent from last year. This increase was, again, in sharp contrast to the decline of 17.5 percent in magistrate probation cases received during 1979.

Parolees received for supervision declined slightly by 101 or 1.4 percent to 6,993. Substantial increases in parolees received had been reported in the last several twelve month reports.

There were 2,196 mandatory releasees received this year, a significant decrease of 748 or 25.4 percent from the number received last year. The 1,798 persons received on special parole terms was also a reduction of 207 or 10.3 percent from last year's figures. A decline in special parolees received was first reported last year, after several years of steady increases.

Persons received under conditions of pretrial diversion fell by 9.5 percent to 1,993, while military parolees received increased by 145.

Table 24 is a display of the number of persons received during the six month periods July through December 1979 and 1980.

Table 24
Persons Received for Supervision
(Excludes Transfers)
Six Month Periods July - December 1979 and 1980

Type of Supervision	1979	1980	Percent Change
Total.....	14,790	13,990	-5.4

Mandatory Release.....	1,384	980	-29.2
Military Parole.....	104	176	69.2
Special Parole.....	959	747	-22.1

The six month figures indicate a modest increase of 288 or 3.4 percent in persons received from the district courts that is contrary to the decline of 5.3 percent shown in the twelve month comparison. Accenting this difference is the increase of 347 or 17.8 percent in probationers received from U.S. magistrates, which is considerably greater than the 1.0 percent increase for the twelve month period.

In the opposite context, the decrease of 14.5 percent in the number of parolees received during the last six months differs markedly from the decline of 1.4 percent reported for the year. The rate of decline in mandatory releasees and special parolees received during the last six months is also more pronounced than the rate in the twelve month figures.

Persons Removed from Supervision Drops less than 1.0 Percent

Although there was only a 0.6 percent reduction in the total number of persons removed from supervision (excluding transfers), removals from specific categories of supervision showed larger variances compared to last year. There were declines of 7.7 percent (1,190) in court probationers removed and 5.6 percent (292) in magistrate probationers, as opposed to increases of 16.2 percent (950) in the number of parolees removed and 56.3 percent (996) in special parole term removals. The increase in special parole term removals was largely a result of persons removed from supervision in accordance with the Supreme Court decision in Bifulco vs. U.S., as reported in the twelve month report of September 30, 1980.

There were 428 or 13.9 percent fewer mandatory releasees removed from supervision and the number of persons removed from pretrial diversion terms decreased by 257 or 11.2 percent. Military parolees accounted for 166 removals this year, an increase of 24 or 16.9 percent from the number removed last year.

Persons Under Supervision Declines by 3.7 Percent from 1979

The 65,149 persons under supervision on December 31, 1980 was 2,390 or 3.7 percent below the 65,149 under supervision at the end of last year. Persons on probation or serving under conditions of pretrial diversion numbered 44,003 or 68.5 percent of the caseload, while the number of persons under supervision after release from an institution was 19,756 or 31.5 percent of the total.

Probationers serving terms imposed by district court judges fell to 33,778, a reduction of 1,812 or 5.1 percent from last year. This reduction accounted for the largest part of the overall decline in the caseload.

The number of mandatory releasees actively supervised on December 31 was 1,474, down 386 or 20.8 percent and the number of persons serving special parole terms was 3,441, a decrease of 808 or 19.0 percent. The latter reduction was caused by the significant increase in the number of special parolees removed from supervision.

The recent trend of increases in the number of parolees continued, with 14,456 reported under supervision on December 31, 1980, a rise of 332 or 2.4 percent from last year. This increase, however, was more moderate than has been reported in the past. An increase was also reported in persons serving probation terms imposed by U.S. magistrates (up 143 or 2.1 percent) reversing the decline in this category reported last year. The number of military parolees under supervision continued to grow (up 142 or 58.4 percent) while the number of persons serving pretrial diversion terms remained constant.

Persons Under Supervision by District at Year's End

Appendix Table E2 shows persons under supervision on December 31 by district and type of supervision. Table 25 presents the change within each district in the number of persons under supervision on December 31 of this year and last. Sixty-four of the 94 districts (Northern Marianas not reporting) registered declines with the 21 districts listed below reporting reductions of 50 or more.

Only four districts reported increases of 50 or more in their caseload at year's end. They were: Illinois, Northern (74); Tennessee, Middle (64); Texas, Southern (57); and Maryland (50).

Persons Under Supervision by Offense

Appendix Table E3 presents persons supervised at year's end in each district by the major offense in which they were involved. The following chart shows the number in each category on probation or serving pretrial diversion terms and the number supervised on release from institutions.

Nearly 13 of every 14 persons (92.6 percent) under supervision for embezzlement or fraud were serving probationary terms. Their total of 12,620 accounted for 29.3 percent of all persons whose supervision was controlled by the district courts. Persons supervised for larceny and theft represented 13 percent of the probation or pretrial diversion terms, and those involved in forgery or counterfeiting accounted for another 10.4 percent.

Three out of every four persons under supervision for homicide, robbery, assault or burglary, on the other hand, had commenced their supervision upon release from an institution. These 4,241 offenders accounted for 21.5 percent of all institutional releasees.

The number of insitutional releasees who were drug offenders was 8,610 or 43.6 percent of the total, including all of the 3,441 persons serving special parole terms imposed under the Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970. Because of the reported decrease in special parolees under supervision, this figure was a decline of 704 from last year. Persons whose offenses involved marihuana or non-narcotic controlled substances were divided somewhat equally between those serving probationary terms and those who had been released from institutions. Of those persons whose offense involved narcotics, however, two of every three had served in an institution prior to their current supervision.

Federal Probation System Persons under Supervision by Offense* as of December 31, 1980

*Classified by most serious offense.

¹Includes persons serving probation terms imposed by a U.S. district court judge or a U.S. magistrate and persons serving under conditions of pretrial diversion.

²Includes persons serving on parole, military parole, mandatory release and special parole.
