RESOURCES IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE

A DIRECTORY OF AVAILABLE SERVICES IN CONNECTICUT
for criminal justice clients, their families, and victims of crime

1981
Fourth Edition

P R E F A C E

This 1981 4th edition of RESOURCES IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE follows the same basic format as the previous edition. As you know, all of the agencies described within our directory will assist criminal justice clients. However, this year, in order to better serve the needs of criminal justice clients, we have developed a separate section within our SERVICE INDEX which lists those agencies who have specialized programs for our target population. It appears as follows:

Criminal Justice Component: 1) Offender/Ex-Offender Assistance
2) Victim/Witness Assistance

Victim/Witness Assistance is also contained in a separate listing under that name. New listings appearing for the first time include, among others -

Battered Women, Assistance for Child Protection Teams and Parent-Aides
Rape Crisis Centers and Assistance

All agencies appearing in the 1980 edition have been accounted for and our new, revised edition contains over 200 new agencies and addresses. Forty-two agencies closed since the last edition.

Owing to the large number of requests made on the Evaluation Sheets returned to us by the Office of Adult Probation, an ALPHABETICAL INDEX has been included in this edition. This INDEX has been extensively cross-referenced in order to speed up location of services.

Last year, due to the generosity of the Aetna Life & Casualty Foundation, several thousand copies of RESOURCES IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE were made available for general distribution to workers in all areas of human services. The response to this distribution was far greater than anticipated and copies will again be made available this year. An order form is included in the Manual should extra copies be required.

The staff of the Criminal Justice Education Center, Inc. constantly strive to make this Human Services Manual as comprehensive as possible. We urge the cooperation of all those using it in alerting us to omissions, agency closings and the availability of new services.

A C K N O W L E D G M E N T S

This fourth edition has been funded by the Aetna Life & Casualty Foundation, Inc. and the Connecticut Justice Commission.

We once again acknowledge with gratitude the guidance in the development of this Manual given by Joseph Trotta, Director of Volunteer Services for the Department of Correction, and Henry Drude, Supervisor of Training for the Office of Adult Probation. Our deep appreciation to Commissioner John Manson of the Department of Correction and William Carbone of the Connecticut Justice Commission for their continuing enthusiastic support in this project.

Special tribute is paid to Doris Nowak on the staff of the Criminal Justice Education Center who was responsible this year for the collecting and compiling of all necessary information and for preparing this edition for publication. It is through her expertise and diligence that the fourth edition became a reality.

For their technical assistance and creative contributions, we thank Charles O'Malley and Frederica Jones of Aetna Life and Casualty.

We welcome your comments and suggestions. Thank you for your continuing interest.

Sherry Haller

Executive Director

GEOGRAPHICAL INDEX

Agencies are listed here under the town or city in which they are located. Many of these agencies will have branch offices, components and service programs in other geographical areas throughout the state, but the location of the parent organization is considered here.

Many agencies have an extensive number of branches or outlying locations, and for this reason we have compiled lists of those locations placing them on a separate page immediately preceding this Index.

Each branch or outlying location will not always appear here in the Geographical Index. Consult either the Index of Lists or the individual page describing the parent agency.

SERVICES: PRE-TRIAL DIVERSION PROJECT

Community Resources for Justice, Inc. was formed in June, 1973 as a private, non-profit organization to help deter young adults from becoming repeat offenders. This concept has proven successful for CRJ's Pre-Trial Diversion Project, which screens participants, ages 18 to 26, from Superior Court, G.A. #14, who have been arrested for the first time on misdemeanor charges. Once the participant agrees to enter the program, his/her case is continued at Court for a period of three and one half months. During that time the client works with an Advisor and Counselor to deal with any personal problem areas. A Career Developer assists in providing orientation to the employment world, followed by placement in a job or job training situation. If in school, the client receives any supplement education services that he/she needs. Group sessions take place weekly, to facilitate openness and attitudinal change. At the end of the three and one half months, if the client has been successful in all program areas, CRJ requests that the Court dismiss the charges against him/her.

week, group sessions and is provided with educational assessment and supplemental services when needed. Most of the youngster's time is spent at the drop-in center at the project site, utilized by participants and some of their peers.

At the end of the successful completion of the program CRJ requests that the youngster's responsibility to the Court be terminated.

The Youth Services Project II began operations in July, 1978 to deal with youngsters residing in the Southend, Charter Oak, Dutch Point and Asylum Hill areas of Hartford.

The success of all projects is measured by a length (nine months to one year) follow-up process on clients who have completed the programs. All services of CRJ are available to clients who have completed the program and they are urged to maintain contact.

Staff is on duty 24-hours a day to aid residents with problems solving in four main areas: education, social services, employment and recreation. The staff also acts as liaison between parole and probation officers, in court, and with institutions. Doctors, dentists, psychologists and social workers are sought and provided as the need arises. Facilities for educational and vocational testing are also provided. Recreational facilities are available.

To clarify further, Community Youth House (Spike House) offers a supportive structure for the youngster who wants to stay here and on the street. This determination on the part of the resident who chooses to live at Spike House will help him to accept the rules and regulations of the house. These rules form the framework within which an individual can begin to develop trust, self-understanding and a pattern of responsible behavior which the program requires. Since Spike House is community based and operated, it can make allowances for individual growth experiences necessary for a full adjustment to community life. These rules, regulations and guidelines reflect constraints within which both the house and the residents must operate so as to jeopardize neither the progress of all the residents nor the house's own survival in the larger community. Special service for criminal justice clients: Family counseling provided.

CRISIS INTERVENTION SUPPORT UNIT (a joint project of Child & Family Services & Hartford Police Department)

193 Farmington Avenue, Hartford, CT 06105
Contact: Susan Knaut or Carrie Wailkes

Phone: 247-8062

Crisis Intervention Support Unit is operating in Asylum Hill, Clay Hill and South Arsenal for family violence and elderly crime victims. Crisis intervention Support Unit (C.I.S.U.) is a cooperative effort of both the Hartford Police Department and Child and Family Services, funded by the Hartford Foundation, the Aetna Foundation and the Police Department. The project stresses improved techniques for cooperation between law enforcement and social service agencies. This will be achieved through police training in crisis intervention skills, utilization of community resources, and the addition of two civilian crisis intervention specialists.

The goals of the project are to reduce the incidence of violence within families and that which is directed towards the responding police officers. Providing longer term solutions to family problems, thus reducing repeat calls to the police will be a primary objective, in addition to assisting and encouraging elderly crime victims to cooperate with the police investigation. The C.I.S.U. will work towards these objectives by providing the clients in need with a bridge between the criminal justice system and the Social Service agencies.

Two crisis intervention support specialists work with the Police District Five personnel. These are Susan Knaut and Carrie Wilkes. They Provide social service back-up to officers when other agencies are closed; and Provide follow-up for complainants and/or victims within the courts and with the social agencies.

The crisis intervention specialists can be called to the scene of a family disturbance or elderly crime victim also at the discretion of the responding officers. If the complainant/family and the police cannot come to a speedy agreement for the resolution of the crisis, or if the officers fear violence will reoccur after they have left, the C.I.S.U. can be called to the scene to assist the officers in emergency plans of action or more length negotiations.

The C.I. specialists will respond only:

1. After a police officer has responded to the scene.
2. After the officer has diffused the immediate threat of violence.

Social service referrals and intervention by the C.I.S.U. with police officers will be utilized when criminal justice alternatives are not appropriate and, in addition to the traditional law enforcement procedures.

HUMAN RIGHTS AND OPPORTUNITIES, CONNECTICUT COMMISSION ON - LOCAL COMMISSIONS

There are 24 local Human Rights Commissions created by town and city ordinances throughout the state. Members are generally appointed by the town's chief executive. Commissions vary in staff and powers: some are strictly volunteer with limited or no power while others have broad powers and staff.

Activities of local commissions have been varied. Notable among them are fair housing efforts, affirmative action reviews on a town level, publication of community access guides and mediation efforts in local matters.

The State Commission, in line with its legislative mandate, is supportive of local commission efforts, providing information and technical assistance when requested. A recent survey indicated a felt need for training and further technical support among local commissions. The State Commission plans to address these needs in the coming year through increased communications and sharing of resources.

Eight out of ten jobs in the United States are in the private sector. The Alliance asks business and industry to make a portion of these jobs available to the hard-to-employ; first to hire, then train, and ultimately retain them as productive workers.

We believe it is important that employers understand that hiring and training the structurally unemployed is not only in the public interest, but in their business interest also.

PRE-TRIAL DIVERSION PROGRAM of the Stamford and Norwalk Superior Courts in cooperation with the Voluntary Action Center of Southwestern Fairfield County*

62 Palmer's Hill Road, Stamford, CT 06902
Contact: Marilyn M. Murphy, Executive Director

Phone: 348-7714 (Stamford)
Hours: 9:00 - 4:00 p.m. weekdays

Norwalk Superior Court, Room 129
Barbara Capelle, Coordinator of Norwalk Program

Phone: 846-4164 (Norwalk)
Hours: 9:00 - 2:00 p.m. weekdays

ELIGIBILITY: Individuals charged with non-violent misdemeanors whose criminal conduct is judged by the Court to be uncharacteristic can participate. Defendants are screened for psychological and emotional fitness, as well as for attitudes and motivation. This screening process comes under the jurisdiction of the State's Attorney in the Norwalk Court and the presiding judge in the Stamford Court.

DESCRIPTION: The Pre-Trial Diversion Program for selected first offenders works with Stamford's Voluntary Action Center to replace fines, penalties, probation or jail sentence with specified hours of volunteer service to the community. When work has been satisfactorily completed, crime charges will generally be dismissed.

PURPOSE: The Program's aim is to keep certain first-time offenders charged with petty and non-violent crimes away from the criminal justice system. Informal disposition of the case offers the option of volunteer work with a non-profit organization in place of a fine, probation or jail. The Voluntary Action Center is the implementing agency for this unconventional sentencing procedure.

The program offers an opportunity for retribution by means of court-mandated hours of volunteer service in the community.

A practical objective of the Program is the reduction of cases on the Court calendar.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The Court screens defendants for eligibility, and agrees to accept the service agency's evaluation of volunteer performance as a condition of case dismissal and clearing the record.

The Voluntary Action Center promotes cooperation with the Pre-Trial Diversion Program among the non-profit agencies in the area. VAC interviews and places Court volunteers in appropriate agencies, including, if agreed upon with the Court, governmental institutions and religious organizations.

SOLDIERS', SAILORS' AND MARINES' FUND

Headquarters: State Office Building, Hartford, CT 06115 Phone: 566-2260

The purpose of the Fund is to provide temporary financial assistance to help meet the health and maintenance needs of eligible applicants. As stated in the governing statutes, money shall be expended for the purpose of furnishing food, wearing apparel, medical or hospital care or in bearing the funeral expenses of eligible veterans who demonstrate "need". Because the funds available for providing such assistance are limited to the income (earnings) of the Trust Fund, the Soldiers', Sailors' and Marines' Fund may not be able to grant all the aid an applicant may request; but it will share some of the responsibilities over such a temporary period of time as is reasonable necessary to permit the family to develop other sources required to meet the full extent of the need.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS FOR ASSISTANCE

- 1) The veteran must present evidence that he/she was a resident of Connecticut at the time of entry into the military service and this his/her service is credited to the state.
- 2) The regulations require further that the applicant have served a minimum of ninety (90) days unless discharged for a service-connected disability rated by the Veterans Administration.

Service in the military or naval forces of the United States or forces allied with the United States between the following dates is required:

- Spanish-American War - April 21, 1898 to July 4, 1902, to July 15, 1903 if in actual participation in hostilities in the Moro Province.
- World War I - April 6, 1917 to November 11, 1918
- World War II - December 7, 1941 to December 31, 1946
- Korean Conflict - June 22, 1950 - December 31, 1955
- Viet Nam Era - January 1, 1964 to July 1, 1975

- 3) The veteran must have been honorably separated from military service
- 4) The veteran must be domiciled in Connecticut (and the dependents residing with him) at the time of application and while in receipt of aid.
- 5) The veteran must demonstrate "need".

HOW AND WHERE TO FILE APPLICATION

The prescribed application form for assistance is initiated through the designated Fund Representative in the community where the veteran resides. The name and address of said representative may be procured from the Local American Legion Post. Application forms may also be obtained at the office of the Town or City Clerk, where the name and address of the local Fund Representative is registered.

WHO MAY INITIATE AND SIGN AN APPLICATION

The application should be initiated and signed by the veteran. In the event the veteran is ill or hospitalized, the application may be signed for him (or in behalf of his dependents) by his spouse, an adult child, a parent, a relative, guardian or other person representing the veteran.

DOCUMENTS REQUIRED AT THE TIME OF APPLICATION

- 1) Certificate of honorable termination of military service.
- 2) Social Security number.
- 3) Proof of residence at time of entry into military service.
- 4) Marriage Certificate
- 5) Birth Certificate of children under age eighteen.
- 6) Passbooks or other evidence confirming assets.

The veteran is the primary source of information essential to establishing "need". The responsibility for presentation of facts and circumstances causing need rests with him; however, the Fund Representative will provide guidance, counsel and assistance in the preparation of application form.
